P. CROWE LOCATED.

Famous Kidnaper in Omaha Again

When He Finds Police After Him He Starts Duel With Pursuers.

Half the Force of the City Turn Out to Hunt for the Noted Crook.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

OMAHA (Neb.) Sept. 6.—During a running fight between police officers and a man supposed to be Pat Crowe, the alleged kidnaper of Eddie Cudahy and a companion, just before midnight tonight, Patrolman Albert Jackson was shot through the leg and the two men made their escape. None of the other officers were injured. A large detail of officers was immediately sent to the spot to try to locate the fugitives.

The fight occurred in lower Sixteenth street where the men were discovered by Officer Jackson in a saloon.

Ever since Crowe returned to Omaha several weeks ago, Chief Donahue has had a force of officers, most of them in citizen's clothing seeking to capture him. This task was extremely difficult because none of the officers know Crowe, Jackson being an exception. It was learned by the police yesterday that Crowe was in Omaha and extra efforts were made to locate him. Jackson and Officer Leahy were sent to lower Sixteenth street, where Crowe was believed to be.

About 11 o'clock tonight Jackson was with a companion in a saloon at Sixteenth and Dorcas streets. He sent Leahy to a telephone to secure additional officers, meantime watching the man himself. The men left the saloon just as a car carrying additional officers came up, and Jackson started to follow them. Seeing that they were being followed, the two men opened fire on Jackson, emptying their revolvers, one bullet breaking Jackson's leg. The other officers started in pursuit, joining in the fusillade of shots being sent after the fugitives. The latter, however, made good a temporary escape.

Half the police force was sent to the district in which the shooting occurred and was put to work to locate and arrest the pair. This they had not been successful in doing up to midnight.

CABLE ROW IS ON.

French Company Lodges a Protest Against Action of Venezuelan Government.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CARACAS, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The management of the Compagnie Francise des Cables Telegraphiques has entered a protest against the action of the government in closing the offices of the company under the Presidential decree of Monday.

CABLES STILL WORKING.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Following the report from the French cable company's representative at Caracas, Venezuela, to the effect that President Castro intended to carry out the direction of the courts adverse to the company, a protest was lodged with the officials here and the latter asked the French legation at Caracas for a report on the status of the affairs. Pending the receipt of this report no action will be taken. The company says the Venezuelan cables continue working without interruption.

BARCELONA PANIC STRICKEN.

BARCELONA (Spain) Sept. 6.—A panic prevails here over the anarchist agitation. Tourists are leaving the city. The police have seized a Socialist paper for applauding the recent bomb explosion.

BIG BUGS SAIL IN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Among the passengers who have arrived on the Kaiser Wilhelm II from Bremen are Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, H. C. Frick, George Westinghouse, P. A. B. Widener, Heinrich Conried, director of the Metropolitan Opera House of New York, Charles R. Flint, who recently had an audience with the Russian Emperor, and Philippe Buanau-Varilla, the French engineer, whose scheme for making the Panama canal a sea level waterway, is to be considered by the advisory board of engineers of the Panama Canal.

NAMES STRICKEN FROM LISTS.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—The election assessors today continued the work of correcting the election lists. Although no authoritative figures are yet obtainable, it is reported that as a result of yesterday's work the police were successful in having about 50,000 names stricken from the lists.

NEW NEST OF CRIME.

Socialists are to Start a Free Love and Anarchist Joint Down in New Jersey Town.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

BURLINGTON (Iowa) Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following close on the death of Mrs. E. D. Rand in Italy and the subsequent powwow of socialistic leaders at Metuchen, N. J., comes the announcement today by George D. Herron, the dead woman's son-in-law, of the establishment of a colony, advocating free love at Metuchen, the hotbed of socialism.

Herron inherited practically the whole of Mrs. Rand's wealth, said to be near $1,000,000 with the alleged understanding that the sum be devoted to grove the theory and found and maintain an institution. The nucleus is already there and a number of sympathizers with Prof. Herron's belief live in different cottages at Elmwood Farm. The rumor of a legal contest to break the will by the son Horace Rand is denied, the latter declaring his mother was dead to him years ago.

DUTCH AGENCY KNOCKS TOWER.

ATTACK ON YANKEE MINISTER MERE SPITE WORK.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The attack of a German news agency on Mr. Charlemagne Tower, American Ambassador, appeas to have been a mere piece of wanton mischief making. The simple truth is that Mr. Tower, when approached by a committee of the Mason farewell banquet to take the chair, in accepting the same, suggested that as the occasion was intended as a compliment to Mr. Mason he preferred to see the toasts and speeches made as much as possible with that end in view.

In this the committee quite agreed. Mr. Tower made no mention whatever of reciprocity. There is the best reason for knowing that if any gentleman ...ty for a speech upon reciprocity by Mr. Tower would have made no objection.

The charges made was that Mr. Tower had objected to a toast on reciprocity being included among the sentiments at the banquet to Mr. Mason, Consul General in Berlin, and the inference was stated to be that the Ambassador is opposed to reciprocity with Germany.

ANGEL GIRL FAMOUS.

Young Los Angeles Singer Will Soon Make Her Professional Debut in Chicago.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Clara Butler Lumsden, a California singer who is to make her professional debut at the Garrick in a few days, is a former Chicago girl. She will be remembered by many South Side young folks who knew her as a pupil of the Carter School before her departure for Los Angeles five years ago. Little Miss Lumsden took vocal lessons at the Chicago Conservatory of Music and a brilliant future was predicted for her.

After going to Los Angeles she resumed her musical studies and made her debut as a singer in concert at the age of sixteen, her first triumph being the "Shadow Song" from the opera of "Dinorah." She at once sprang into public favor and for two years has been a popular singer on the Pacific Coast. She is possessed of a lyric dramatic soprano voice.

Miss Lumsden was born in Los Angeles in 1887 and is therefore only eighteen.

RECEIVES PEARY'S FINAL WORD.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—What is believed the final word from Commander Robert E. Peary before his return from his attempt to reach the North Pole was received today by Herbert E. Bridgeman of Brooklyn, secretary of the Peary Arctic Club. The message came from Etah, North Greenland, and in it Commander Peary stated that his ship, the Roosevelt, would leave that port August 16, the date of the message, with twenty-three Eskimo men and some two hundred dogs, to establish a base at Cape Sabine for the final dash into the frozen zones about the Pole. Comander Peary added that the machinery of the Roosevelt had been overhauled and that everything was in readiness for the ice fighting. All on board were well.

FIFTY NAILS IN HIS COFFIN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William C. Werner, thirty-nine years old, of New York, warned frequently that the excessive use of cigarettes would result in his death, dropped dead of heart failure today. Dr. McKenzie said his heart had been greatly weakened by nicotine. He averaged fifty cigarettes a day.

ANGRY JAPANESE RIOTING IN TOKIO.

Expression of Displeasure at the Peace Terms Takes a Fatal Turn.

Disappointment at Outcome of Negotiations Deep and Bitter Throughout the Empire, Although Conservative Counsels Show That Japan Has Gained All That She Took up Arms for—Envoys Arrive in New York.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

TOKIO, Sept. 6, 10 a.m.—Rioting broke out here last night (Tuesday,) in connection with the dissatisfaction over the result of the peace settlement. There were several clashes with the police and it is estimated that two were killed and 500 wounded. The rioting ceased at midnight. Police stations were the only property destroyed.

TOKIO, Sept. 2, 2 p.m.—(Delayed in Transmission.) Under a vigorous defense by the conservative journals supporting the government and a fuller and better appreciation of the situation confronting the country, public sentiment is showing some evidence of reaction.

The argument that it is impossible for Japan to continue the bloody war merely for the purpose of securing indemnity is proving effective in allaying dissatisfaction. It is believed that when the government is free to explain fully the conditions of the settlement and the logic appertaining to them the reaction of sentiment will largely increase.

The entire nation is keenly disappointed at the outcome. Nowhere throughout the empire has there been a step taken toward the celebration of ...ment, launching the ...ment of those responsible for the compromise.

The forthcoming Diet is certain to be turbulent, and it is predicted that the Katsura government will be forced from office.

FINANCIAL FEARS AROUSED.

Declines in the market and unsatisfactory crop conditions, coupled naturally with the heavy obligations of the government, have created a fear in some quarters that a financial depression and unsatisfactory business conditions are impending. A prominent banker said today to the Associated Press correspondent that the Tokio exchange was an inaccurate barometer of real conditions, as lately the exchange transactions have been largely speculative. The August settlement was the largest in the history of the exchange. The recent decline, he said, was the result of conditions within the exchange, and not a correct reflection of general conditions.

The banker said: "There is plenty of money in the country, and undoubtedly we will weather any difficulty which may occur.

RETURN OF THE ARMY.

"The repatriation of the army will occupy at least ten months, there being, in round figures, a million of all arms in every department. This will cost many million yen.

"The government may seek a domestic loan, but the disappointment and depression over the result may show that the people are unwilling to subscribe. However, the government possesses considerable money and probably will manage the matter without embarrassment.

"I believe that much of the present agitation will pass away when the people appreciate the conditions.

"We won more than we started in to fight for, and occupy a highly satisfactory position before the world.

"The Cabinet and the Elder Statesman acted wisely, although it is probable that public sentiment will blindly demand that somebody be sacrificed.

"Knowing the temper and expectations of the people, the government has shown wonderful and commendable courage by stopping the war."

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

TOKIO, Sept. 1.—(Delayed in Transmission.) The Kokumin is the only metropolitan daily paper that defends the terms of the peace settlement. The paper declares that the purpose of the war has been accomplished and says: "The war has not been fought to gain money. Russia has been stripped of the control of Manchuria and driven sufficiently north. More than this, the aim and the purpose of the war has been gained by our recognized ascendancy in Korea, and every reason exists to thank our delegates and feel especially grateful for the good offices of President Roosevelt."

The Nichi Nichi calls the result an insult to the nation.

The Jiji says that it already has expressed discontent, but now that the die has been cast, it hopes that the government will make adequate provision to care for the thousands of families bereft of their bread winners and also for the veterans who have been permanently crippled.

POWERS ARE SATISFIED.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Anglo-Japanese treaty, signed August 12, is not yet ready for promulgation, some formalities in printing having yet to be carried out. At the Foreign Office today it was said the treaty would be ready early next week, but before publication it would be communicated to the powers. Although the powers interested are not yet in possession of the terms of the treaty, their representatives in London express themselves as satisfied, as it is generally understood the treaty does not interfere in any way with existing rights.

BIG PROBLEMS SETTLED.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

TOKIO, Sept. 2.—(Delayed in transmission.) Baron Shibusawa, discussing the peace settlement, declares his dissatisfaction with the terms, but says the Korean and Manchurian problems have been settled and the purpose of the war realized.

"The terms are of inadequate value," he said, "and the extent of peace imperfect and unsatisfactory. Still, Japan secures paramountcy in Korea."

Baron Shibusawa does not believe the financial basis of Japan will be endangered by failure to secure indemnity; he has strong confidence in Japan's productive power and energies.

He said: "Let them be applied to the development of railways, mines and other industries of Korea.

"This is not the time to brood over the past and look for future gloom, but it is the time to seize the advantages the future holds. Commercial and industrial depression following in the wake on an unsatisfactory peace is a result that cannot be stopped but it is most unwise to give ourselves to despair over an issue which none can allay."

A news agency quotes a prominent general as expressing disgust over the outcry against the peace terms. He declares that the war was not fought for the purpose of securing indemnity. He

SLAVS IN SAKHALIN CRUSHED.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

TOKIO, Sept. 2, noon.—(Delayed in Transmission.) An official report announces the complete and crushing defeat of the remnant of the Russian forces, after five hours severe fighting at Naibutu, on the west coast of the Island of Sakhalin. The Russians killed numbered 130. The casualties of the Japanese were slight.

JAPANESE ADVANCES.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 6.—Telegraphing to Emperor Nicholas under date of September 5, Gen. Linevitch reported that the Japanese, September 4, started to advance along the Mandarin Road and commenced constructing entrenchments, but retired after meeting the Russian artillery fire.

The general also reported an offensive movement by several battalions of Japanese, accompanied by cavalry and artillery, in North Korea, September 3, but the result was not announced in time to be sent off in the dispatch to the Emperor.

MAY NOT BE LEGAL.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Owing to the fact that the celebration of the marriage of Marshall Field and Mrs. Delia Spencer Caton, in St. Margaret's, Westminster, was not open to the general public, and possibly to certain English newspaper correspondents, an attempt is being made to cast doubt on the validity of the ceremony. The Evening News tonight contains a statement that the question has arisen as to whether or not the ceremony was perfectly legal and in strict accordance with recognized observances of the Church of England.

"This is owing," says this journal, "to the fact that the wedding so far as the general public were concerned, was solemnized in secret behind locked doors, with a policeman preventing the entry of parishioners and others interested."

The special license granted by the Archbishop of Canterbury, to Mr. Field says, like all others that the wedding is to take place in the presence of "all Christian people willing to be present."

RUSSIANS DON'T LIKE NEW ANGLO-JAPANESE ALLIANCE.

Claim it Makes Contracting Powers Predominant in the Far East and That Convention is Not Conducive to Peace—Treaty to be Published Next Week.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 6.—There is much coment in the morning papers on the Anglo-Japanese treaty, which, it is claimed, is not conductive to peace because it upsets the balance of power in the Far East and makes Great Britain and Japan predominant. The Novoe Vremya expresses the opinion that it is directed against German designs in the Far East, while the Birjeff de...

Grecian Officers Uncover a Big Lot of Bombs and Guns—Suspects are Arrested.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

ATHENS (Greece) Sept. 6.—The recent discovery of a depot of arms, explosives, bombs and infernal machines in the vaults of the Armenian church here has led to the unearthing of what the police believe to be a widespread plot on the part of the Armenian revolutionary committee to compel the intervention of the Powers to stop Turkish oppression in Armenia, by starting a series of outrages. Incriminating documents were found pointing to the existence of other depots.

A number of Armenians have been arrested and the police are actively prosecuting an inquiry into the affair.

JORDANS COMING HOME.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of the Stanford University, and Mrs. Jordan registered at the Auditorium Hotel today on their way to San Francisco, after a three months' tour through Europe, Canada and America. Dr. Jordan went out for a short visit at the University of Chicago today. The Jordans came to Chicago from Montreal and Quebec. They will start for California tomorrow.

Street Fighting at Kishineff.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 6.—Private advices from Kishineff say that street fighting continues there. Roughs are sacking the Jewish shops, killing or wounding many of the inmates. It is said that more than a score of soldiers have been killed. The Jewish Self-defense Committee is active in organizing resistance to the troops.

According to details of the disorders at Kishineff September 4, received by the Ministry of the Interior, the affray, though originating in an attempt of the authorities to disperse the demonstrators at the funeral of a Jewess, developed into a combat between Jewish manifestants, Socialist workmen and a mob of rowdies and anti-semitics. The official report does not mention any persons being killed, and it is believed there were no fatalities.

According to the dispatch, the police did not interfere with the parade on ... who answered with revolver shots, which attracted a great crowd, when ...rracial fight began. Among the wounded were three policemen, who were stabbed. Order was quickly restored, and thereafter all was quiet. About seventy persons were wounded.

BAKU BURNING.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 6.—Private advices from Baku, Caucasia, today, say that the "black town" district of that city is still burning and also the works at Blakhan, Bibiebat, Nomani and Sabunto. The losses amount to millions of roubles. Baku is overhung with dense clouds of smoke and the flames of burning buildings illuminates the city all night long.

It is alleged that the disorders were started by Armenians, who, disguised as soldiers, fired on Russians and Tartars. The Persian consul was asked to act a a pacificator, but he replied that conciliation was impossible with the Armenians, who had killed 200 Persian subjects.

Bucharest and Warsaw give a melancholy picture of the excesses at Kishineff.

The disorders began at the funeral of two Jewish girls who had been killed, when fifty or more Jews, who were attending the funeral, were shot down. A Socialist sided with the Jews and went to the Governor to appeal for protection. They found his house surrounded by the police and roughs who had been recruited by the notorious Krushevan, formerly editor of a newspaper that was instrumental in starting the previous Jewish massacre, who prevented the complainants from seeing the Governor. The final result was a general massacre in front of the government house.

Warsaw merchants have been warned to cease their consignments, since trade is at a standstill, owing to lack of security to life and property.

OF GLOOMIEST CHARACTER.

NEWS FROM BAKU DEPRESSES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 7, 2:30 a.m.—The news from Baku received up to the time of the filing of this dispatch is of the gloomiest character. The Armenian and Tartar warring factions now appear to be entirely beyond control. The streets of Baku seem to be unsafe for the inhabitants and the force of troops to be inadequate to restrain the anarchical tendencies of the combatants in the surrounding region.

According to reliable reports, the troops have been forced to withdraw from the suburb, Balakhan, where Tuesday the rioters set fire to the oil works, and that place is now in the hands of the Tartars, who have completed the work of destruction, and who, it is said, massacred the inhabitants who did not accompany the troops in their retirement.

Telephonic and railroad communication between Baku and the suburban oil centers is cut, and late last night it was reported that the wires into Baku were down.

The Viceroy of the Caucasus dispatched reinforcements of troops from Tiflis, but owing to the conditions throughout the whole of the southern part of the Caucasus, even with these reinforcements, the troops will be inadequate to cope with the situation. In the suburban region, the plight is desperate and the soldiers are using artillery.

OIL MEN IN DESPAIR.

Representatives of the oil industry here are utterly despondent, and they declare that, on the basis of the telegrams so far received, more than half of the industry in the Baku region has been wiped out and that the fire is making rapid inroads into the remainder of the oil territory.

The Baku representative of a prominent company has telegraphed to his St. Petersburg headquarters as follows:

"It is no longer a question of saving our property, but one of getting out at night."

A press dispatch from Baku, approved by the censor, says:

"The rival factions are concentrating in their quarters here. The situation is exceedingly tense. Murders are frequent. Cannonading is heard from time to time. In the Moslem quarter, the patrols have been fired upon. Balkhan is on fire and the Armenians are surrounded by armed villagers, apparently Tartars, and the cannonading there is unceasing.

"The fire continues in the 'Black Town' quarter and in Bibiebat. Energetic measures and heavy reinforcements of troops are immediately necessary."

GREAT FIRES RAGING.

Other advices state that a hot fight is going on between Armenians and Tartars at Bibiebat and that great fires are still raging at Sabunto and Nomani, fed by immense tanks of naphtha, of which there are 1600 in that region, and the conflagration at Baku, where, up to last evening, the tanks of the Society of Baku were intact, is steadily increasing. Under these conditions—with fighting going on in the streets and with a hurricane blowing—the advices say it will be almost impossible to extinguish the fires.

Oil men who assembled at St. Petersburg yesterday formulated measures which they deemed imperative and which they presented to Finance Minister Kokovsoff. These measures, which probably will be laid before the Emperor, after detailing the causes leading to the present situation ask that the oil works be surrounded by troops and that the inflammatory elements, namely, the Armenians and Tartars, be entirely excluded from the oil region.

WORKMEN NOT TO BLAME.

The oil men declare that they do not hold the workmen responsible and that the regretable events were not caused by the workingmen's movement, which is economic and political, but that their causes are deep rooted in the long-continued general disorder which has reigned in the region owing solely to rivalry among the races.

A prominent oil man explained to the Associated Press that the loss would be more far-reaching than the mere financial value of the oil and naphtha consumed and of the tanks, buildings and machinery destroyed, because the supply of oil for purposes of fuel could not be replaced inside a year, and that the transportation of Russia, which makes a heavy use of oil for fuel, would suffer greatly. He said it was the custom to accumulate stocks of naphtha in winter for consumption in summer, and that there now is no recourse but to import oil at high prices or to have resort to the costly adaption of plants and locomotives which would consume other fuel.

It is expected that the Ministry of Finance will take immediate steps to remove or to reduce the tariff on oil, as suggested by the conference of experts and others interested in the use of oil for fuel recently held at the suggestion of the Minister of Finance.

FLASHES FROM THE WIRES

The discussion of the insurance problem was the main topic before the National Association of Letter Carriers at their session yesterday at Portland, Or.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryan and daughter will sail for the Orient from San Francisco, September 27. Mr. Bryan will attend the Democratic State Convention in Lincoln, Neb., September 20.

A $3,000,000 bond issue was authorized by stockholders of the American Steel Foundries Company at a special meeting of the stockholders in Jersey City yesterday. The purpose is said to be for the purchase of new properties for the company.

The criminal court at Stamboul has condemned to death the Armenian, Ghirkis Vartanian, a naturalized American citizen, for the murder of the Armenian merchant, Apik Undjian, August 24, who was shot by Vartanian in the Galata quarter of Constantinople.

The national postoffice clerks, in session at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, yesterday defeated the proposed organization of the Mutual Benefit Association. The negative vote was the result of inability to secure enough signatures to assure the success of the mutual insurance feature.

PORTSMOUTH SLIPS BACK.

Life in Peace Town Becomes Normal Again.

Boston Gives Hearty Cheers for Two Missions.

Plenipotentiaries to Dine at Oyster Bay Saturday.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORTSMOUTH (N. H.) Sept. 6.—Life in the picturesque city of Portsmouth, which for the past four weeks has centered about the doings of the peace conference, began slipping back into normal channels today with the departure of M. Witte and the Russian mission on a special train for New York and of the members of the Japanese entourage who did not go with Baron Komura last night.

M. Witte was up early this morning and before he had taken breakfast a crowd had assembled on the hotel veranda to see him off. He shook hands with each of the persons gathered about him and when he started he was given cheers and cries of "Adieu." Mr. Takahira, who headed the Japanese party, also was heartily cheered.

At the navy yard, the work has already begun of restoring the general store to its former condition. The furniture will be shipped back to Washington, including the table on which the treaty was signed. This piece of furniture may be preserved by the Department of State and also the chairs in which the plenipotentiaries sat. The building will, however, continue to be known as the "peace building." Mr. Peirce, Assistant United States Secretary of State, will remain here this week to wind up the government's business in connection with the conference.

Capt. McR. Winslow, commanding the Mayflower, was among the last to take leave of M. Witte. The Russian plenipotentiary thanked Capt. Winslow in his own and in the Czar's name for the hospitality which M. Witte's mission had enjoyed aboard the Mayflower and presented him an autograph photograph.

In perpetuation of the historic part which the navy yard has played in the last month, it has been suggested that a bronze tablet be placed on the walls of the peace building, commemorative of the "Peace of Portsmouth."

TO DINE WITH PRESIDENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 6.—Baron Komura and Minister Takahira, the Japanese peace plenipotentiaries, it was announced today by Secretary Loeb, will lunch with the President next Saturday. They will come down from New York on the naval yacht Sylph. The same evening, M. Witte and Baron De Rosen will dine at Sagamore Hill. They will come from Long Island City to Oyster Bay in a private car. The reason for the Russian envoys coming by train is because of M. Witte's preference for railroad travel.

The following are the copies of the telegrams received yesterday by the President from Baron Komura and from M. Witte and Baron Rosen, announcing the signing of the peace treaty between Russia and Japan.

"PORTSMOUTH (N. H.) Sept. 5, 1905.—To the President: I hasten to inform you that the treaty of peace has just been signed. Humanity is under a lasting debt of gratitude to you for the initiation and successful conclusion of the peace conference. I beg to be permitted to add my own thanks and sincere acknowledgement.

"KOMURA."

"HOTEL WENTWORTH, NEW CASTLE (N. H.) Sept. 5, 1905.—The President: We have the honor to inform you that we have this day signed the treaty of peace with Japan. It is not for us to thank you for what you have done in the cause of peace, as your noble and generous efforts have been fittingly acknowledged by our august sovereign. We can only express to you and to the people of the country our personal sentiment of profound gratitude for the cordial reception you have done us the honor to extend to us and which we have met with at the hands of the people in this country.

"WITTE.
"ROSEN."

BOSTON WARMS UP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—Both the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries, together with the members of their respective missions, left Boston today in special trains, bound for New York. Crowds of people had assembled at the South Station, and as the trains passed out, that bearing the Russians about 1 o'clock, and that of the Japanese two hours later, enthusiastic demonstrations occurred.

At the railroad station the Japanese departed amid cheers from the Americans present and a chorus of "banzais" from a large body of their fellow-countrymen. The train drew out at 2:55. As it started Baron Komura stood on the platform of the observation car in the rear of the train, and the cheering of the crowd was enthusiastic. Baron Komura waved his hat and bowed in response. The train is due to arrive in New York at 3:05 p.m.

Baron Komura and those of his party who came here last night were the guests at breakfast today of the Naniwa Dining Club, an association of leading Japanese merchants of this city. After breakfast, which was an informal affair, Baron Komura and his suite went to Harvard University, of which he is an alumnus. The party was driven in a tallyho directly to Harvard Law School, where Prof. John C. Gray of the law school, and J. D. Greene, secretary to President Eliot, met the visitors. The baron and his party were entertained at luncheon at the Colonial Club, Prof. Gray presiding. This was an informal affair, the baron and others making brief speeches.

LENA TO LEAVE SOON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VALLEJO, Sept. 6.—The Russian cruiser Lena will leave here Saturday for San Francisco to be docked, painted, and scraped. She then will return for three days to the navy yard to take on her guns and ammunition. About September 20, she will sail for Vladivostok. The wives of her officers now here have been granted permission to return on the ship with their husbands to Russia.

TO NAME STREET FOR TEDDY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VIENNA, Sept. 6.—The Municipal Council propose to perpetuate the memory of President Roosevelt's success in restoring peace by renaming a street "Theodore Roosevelt Strasse," and by cabling the thanks of the city of Vienna. The proposal has been formally introduced, and has been set down for early consideration.

PEACE.

says Japan has the power to fully recompense herself for the cost of the war by industrial and commercial development.

POPULAR ANGER RISES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 5.—(Delayed in Transmission.) The first turbulence incident to the popular anger over the terms of peace arranged with Russia, took place today. A mass meeting to protest against the action of the government was called to take place at Hibiya Park, but the metropolitan police closed the gates and attempted to prevent assemblage of the people. The municipal council protested against the action.

Finally, the gates were thrown open, when a large crowd gathered and voted in favor of resolutions declaring the nation humiliated and denouncing the terms upon which the treaty of peace was arranged. The crowd was serious in its conduct, rather than angry, and the police handled it discreetly. The gathering eventually dispersed in an orderly manner.

Later on, however, a crowd attempted to hold a meeting in the Shintomi theater. The police dispersed it.

ATTACK PAPER.

A portion of the crowd then proceeded to the office of the Kokumin Shinbun, the government organ, and began hooting. Three employés of the paper, armed with swords, appeared at the door of the building and checked the attack. The police again dispersed the crowd. It was thought that the trouble had passed, when suddenly a portion of the crowd made a rush at the building, hurled stones and damaged some of the machines. Several persons were injured during the attack, but the police eventually cleared the streets of the crowd and arrested a number of the rioters.

The disorder is not general and the situation is not serious.

Similar meetings have been held at Osaka and Nagoya, which in round terms denounced the government and asked it to resign.

The general feeling throughout the country seems to favor reactionary measures, but it appears clear that a majority of the people will eventually accept the result of the peace conference, however disappointing it may be.

INFLAMING SENTIMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 1, Friday, 8 p.m.—(Delayed in Transmission.) The press telegrams outlining the peace terms are further inflaming the sentiment against the settlement. The radicals and hot-heads continue to urge various expedients to express the popular disapproval.

There has been no violence and no scenes of turbulence, although, as a precautionary measure, the police reserves have been increased. The police are carefully watching the developments of the situation, and the force will be doubled should any violence occur. If it does, its speedy suppression is assured.

The government continues silent. The conservative element predicts that the country will approve the settlement when its conditions are thoroughly understood, and declares that the present agitation does not represent either the ultimate sentiment of the people or a sufficiently strong minority to merit serious consideration.

Possibly public opinion will become more definite when the government informs the people of the actual results of the Portsmouth conference. There has yet been no information given out regarding the final adjustment of the most serious issues.

CITIES DEJECTED.

Telegrams from Kobe, Nagoya, Osaka, Sasebo, Kanazawa, Himeji, Kioto and Tokoma express popular dissatisfaction and dejection over the result.

The minor radical newspapers have thrown off all restraint and pronounce the peace settlement the greatest humiliation the country has ever suffered. They even advise a refusal to ratify the treaty, through various expedients.

Few flags are appearing in the capital. In some instances, where enthusiastic citizens have displayed flags, their neighbors have advised their removal.

The higher middle classes, including commercial and financial men, remain strangely silent, but their disappointment is evident.

The general market, reflecting the attitude of depression, declined sharply at the opening today and trading was sluggish.

The bulk of the people continue apathetic, while the hostility of the radicals grows.

HARRIMAN IN TOKIO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 2.—(Delayed in Transmission.) The Harriman party from the United States, including E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific Company, and family; R. P. Schwerin, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goelet and others, has arrived at Tokio.

The visitors, who are on a pleasure tour, are the guests of Minister and Mrs. Griscom at the American Legation. The entertainments which have been planned in their behalf include dinners by Premier Katsura, Minister of Finance Arasuke, Baron Mitsui and Minister Griscom and a garden party by Baron Swasaki.

DIPLOMATIC FAILURE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NAGASAKI, Aug. 31.—(Delayed in Transmission.) The peace news was received without enthusiasm in the chief centers of Kinushu province. There is a general feeling that Japan has been deprived of the rightful fruits of victory and there is disappointment especially at the fact that permanent security from Russian aggression has not been secured. The diplomatic failure is considered due to the negotiations commencing prematurely.

NO DEMONSTRATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

YOKOHAMA, Aug. 30.—(Delayed in Transmission.) The peace terms are not known exactly, but it is rumored that the abandonment of the indemnity will cause general and profound disappointment. There have been no demonstrations. The people are quietly awaiting the official announcement of the treaty.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 2.—(Delayed in Transmission.) An official report says: "The Japanese army attacked the Russians at Chyongtuyang September 1. The Russian forces consisted of four battalions, six guns and several hundred cavalry. The district was mountainous and difficult, but finally the Japanese artillery successfully attacked the Russian left and occupied their position, at 9 o'clock in the morning. The Russians strongly resisted west of Chyongtuyang but were forced to retire at 11 o'clock. Another Japanese detachment defeated the Russians at Heanienkosai and pursued them.

"Japanese casualties were one officer killed and five officers and sixty men wounded. The Russians left forty dead on the field.

NEWS IN PETERSBURG.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 6.—The news of the signing of the peace treaty resulted immediately in an unwonted outburst of active work at the Foreign Office. All the articles of the treaty are being copied today. Each ministerial department will be supplied with an official copy, to the end that every provision of the treaty shall be understood thoroughly by each minister, particularly in its bearing on the changes provided for in the treaty, which must be carried out by the different ministries and departments. The carrying of the provisions will be proceeded with at once. Even today some orders to this effect were given.

A sensation has been caused at Moscow by the suicide of Mme. Witte's nephew, M. Khotinsky, who shot a girl through the heart and then turned the revolver on himself, inflicting a wound from which he died after he had been taken to the hospital. Khotinsky was a volunteer in a dragoon regiment. Four of his brothers died under somewhat tragic circumstances.

LIKES LOS ANGELES.

Adolph Berger, manager of a wholesale cigar house began divorce proceedings in the Circuit Court today against his wife Minnie A. Berger. The charge is that of desertion, Mr. Berger declaring that his wife went to Los Angeles three years ago and has refused to return. Berger explained his wife's refusal to return to him by saying that she prefers the climate in California to that in Chicago. It is said that Mrs. Berger, who lives at 1021 Lincoln street Los Angeles, will not contest the suit.

NEW DIVERTISEMENTS.

Model dairies, Rose bookbinderies and other pursuits claiming the attention of social leaders have been outranked in the way of divertisements by Mrs. Marguerite Warren Springer, widely known as a leader in the Daughters of the American Revolution, who has turned her efforts to the serious study of medicine. Mrs. Springer is a "freshman" at Dearborn Medical College where she has enrolled for the four years' course

PRISON REFORMS HIM.

Berlin Officially Reports Infected Area Sensibly Widened, and a Total of Twenty-six Fatal Cases in Twenty-four Hours—New Case Discovered in Heart of Hamburg.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, Sept. 6, 4:55 p.m.—An official bulletin just issued says that thirteen new cases of cholera and two deaths were reported during the twenty-four hours ending at noon today, making the total ninety cases and twenty-six deaths. The infected area was sensibly widened today.

The River Oder has become tainted. Three cases have been reported from the administrative district of Frankfort-on-the-Oder, in three small places along the streams, among the river men. Thirty boatmen have been quarantined at Kustrin, a railway town near the juncture of the Oder and the Warthe. Sharp sanitary precautions have been taken throughout the district.

NEW CASE AT HAMBURG.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HAMBURG, Sept. 6.—A new case of cholera, the third up to date, was found today in the heart of the business and hotel district here.

The new case is that of a Polish woman living in a thickly-populated alley. The health authorities expect to discover several more cases as the result of this one.

Past Assistant Surgeon McLaughlin of the United States Marine Hospital Corps, who arrived here yesterday from Naples, under orders to make a thorough investigation of the situation, and who has been instructed to enforce the United States Treasury regulations relative to ships leaving for American ports, began work today. He visited the quarantine station, and will go to Havre and examine the 1000 emigrants there bound for New York when they will be transferred from the Bulgaria to the Graf Waldersee, on which they will sail for America.

FROM SAME SOURCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HAMBURG, Sept. 6.—The authorities trace the latest case of cholera to the same source as the other two. When the Russian emigrants came to Hamburg they were permitted to enter the town, where they visited a dance hall. Here the woman eventually came into contact with them. She now lies in the Eppenndorfer hospital, but may recover.

Dr. McLaughlin, in an interview with the Associated Press today said: "I am very much pleased with the frankness and openness both of the authorities and the steamship companies. Today, I was informed of the discovery of the latest case before it was officially published and this information enabled me to promptly visit the infected house and neighborhood in which it was situated. I found that the precautions taken were most effective.

"The methods of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company are very thorough. The American regulations require the detention of emigrants from an infected country for five days, which is the period of incubation for cholera.

"I shall have no hesitancy in giving a clean bill of health to the Graf Waldersee for the thousand emigrants now detained on the Bulgaria in midstream below Hamburg."

RENO (Nev.) Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The famous mine of Mrs. Vermilia Sarras, in Esmeralda county, Nev., as sold in Reno today to a Boston syndicate represented by Edward Meiss and H. F. Quint, for $300,000. Of this large amount $40,000 in cash was paid over to this old Mexican-Indian woman and the remaining $260,000 is to be paid within a short time or the property is to revert to her. Immediately after completing the deal the Boston parties left to report to their company.

For years Mrs. Sarras has made her home in Esmeralda county, dressing in male attire and personally working her claims. To secure funds she took in washing from prospectors. There are forty claims in all and though they are not developed, experts state they are the most promising in the bonanza country.

MOON IS OURS.

THROWN OFF BY EARTH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Prof. W. H. Pickering of Harvard, the astronomer, is here en route home from a visit to the Hawaiian Islands. He makes the interesting statement that although he had never seen the volcanoes of the Hawaiian Islands previous to his recent trip there, he recognized in them old familiar friends. He says he met their ancestors from the moon, as it were, through a telescope, and that they are similar to those of the moon—that is, those of the primitive variety.

While in Honolulu, Prof. Pickering delivered a lecture, in which he advanced the theory that the moon was originally a part of the earth and was thrown off and that the Hawaiian Islands were about in the center of the lunar Genesis. The spaces that are left when the moon material was thrown off was the Pacific Ocean. The huge volcanoes of Mauna Loa and others on the island of Hawaii, and Haleakala on Maui were, Prof. Pickering stated, in many ways exactly like those he had observed through the telescope on the moon.

BRAILLE LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The Supreme Court has declared as unconstitutional the law which provided that [illegible] packages of shipped [illegible] must bear in inch-high letters the name of the company and immediate vicinity where the contents were grown. The provision was ostensibly aimed at stopping the shipment of bad products, but was really in the interest of certain sections that have good reputations without necessarily having surpassed other parts of the State in producing ripe fruit. The court holds that the law is unreasonable and in rendering its decision against the State, says:

"It has come to be well recognized that the liberty and pursuit of happiness which the individual is protected by the Constitution of the United States and of the State applies to his right of contract, his right to follow a legitimate vocation, unhampered by unnecessary regulations, if it does, to the freedom of arrest or restraint of his person."

RENO (Nev.) Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The famous mine of Mrs. Perdita Sarras, in Esmeralda county, was sold to Reno today to a Boston syndicate represented by Edward Melvord. H. F. Quint, for $90,000. Of this large amount $40,000 in cash was paid over to this old Mexican-Indian woman and the remaining $50,000 is to be paid within a short time or the property is to revert to her. Immediately after completing the deal the Boston parties left to report to their syndicate.

For years Mrs. Sarras has made her home in Esmeralda county, dressing in male attire and personally working her claims. To secure funds she took in washing from prospectors. There are forty claims in all and though they are not developed, experts state they are the most promising in the bonanza country.

MOON IS OURS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Prof. W. Pickering of Harvard, the astronomer, is here en route home from a visit to the Hawaiian Islands. He makes the interesting statement that although he had never seen the volcanoes of the Hawaiian Islands previous to his recent trip there, he recognized in them old familiar friends. They may be met their ancestors from time to time, or it were, through a telescope, but they are similar to those of the moon—that is, those of the engulfing variety.

While in Honolulu, Prof. Pickering delivered a lecture, in which he advanced the theory that the moon was originally a part of the earth and was thrown off and that the Hawaiian Islands were about in the center of the hole Genesis. The space that was left when the moon material was thrown off was the Pacific Ocean. The two volcanoes of Mauna Loa and Kilauea on the island of Hawaii, and Haleakala on Maui were, Prof. Pickering said, in many ways exactly what would be had observed through a telescope on the moon.

RAISED LETTERS KNOCKED OUT.

POST LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The Supreme Court has declared as unconstitutional a law which provided that all boxes and packages of shipped fruit must bear in inch-high letters the name of the county and immediate locality where the contents were grown. The provision was ostensibly aimed at checking the shipment of bad products from localities famous for excellent products, but was really in the interest of certain sections that have built good reputations without necessarily having surpassed other parts of the State in producing ripe fruit. The court holds that the law is unreasonable and in rendering its decision against the State, says:

"It has come to be well recognized that the liberty and pursuit of happiness which the individual is promised by the Constitution of the United States and of the State applies to his right of contract, his right to follow a legitimate vocation, unhampered by unnecessary regulations, save as to the freedom of arrest or restraint of his person."

SENATOR WRIGHT ARRESTED.

CAUSED BY BUNKER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, Sept. 6.—Ex-Senator Ell Wright was arrested here at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Reese of Sacramento. His attorneys are now seeking frantically for bail.

BONDSMEN NERVOUS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6.—Since the indictment of the stories of a conspiracy alleged to have been made by Senator Harry Bunkers, under sentence of five years for bribery, and the Chinese, the negro who has been accused of having been a go-between in the matter of handling money, the actions of Wright have grown somewhat nervous, and doubtless because fearful that he might leave the State. The bondsmen notified District Attorney Seymour that they desired to see Wright, and this morning Deputy Sheriff Edward Reese left for San Jose, the home of Wright, to take him into custody. He is expected to arrive here tonight with his prisoner.

SECURES BONDSMEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, Sept. 6.—Ex-Senator Ell Wright, expelled from the State Legislature for bondling, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Reese at the office of his attorneys, Partridge & Jacobs, and was taken to Sacramento on the 4:40 train. Before leaving here, however, two new bondsmen, a local grocer, William M. Beggs, and a groom, R. V. Hunt, a neighbor, Judge Lorigan indorsed the bonds to the satisfaction of Judge Hart of Sacramento, before whom the latter will have to determine their validity.

ADMITTED TO BAIL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6.—Ex-Senator Wright was admitted to bail by Judge Hart soon after his arrival in this city at 6 o'clock tonight. Upon arriving Wright was met by his attorney, W. L. Johnson, and upon arriving at the Courthouse the party went directly before Superior Judge Hart, who fixed the bonds Wright had secured. Wright was released.

CREW REFUSED DUTY.

WILL NOT CARE TO GO POACHING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Sept. 6.—Collector of Customs Newberry of Victoria has telegraphed to Captain McLean of the sealing schooner Carmencita that the crew of the vessel refuse to go sealing, and asked McLean to come to Victoria. Failing this the Canadian steamer Kestrel may be sent to enforce the order.

Upon his arrival this morning W. [illegible], one of the owners, said: "J. [illegible], one of San Francisco, one of the indicted because of alleged complicity in the illegal seizure, went on board when the schooner was at Drake's Bay, in March last, and made final arrangements for the cruise. Woods has since denied that he has any share in the enterprise."

The hunter also stated that Thomas, the deceased hunter, was not the captain. McLean was in charge, but just before the death of Thomas, Capt. McLean had told all hands that Thomas was in charge of the expedition. McLean had been advised from San Francisco of the action taken by the United States government against the vessel and of the indictment against him, and sought to shift the responsibility. McLean kept the news from the crew, but their suspicions were aroused because of his fear and flight whenever a steamer's smoke was seen.

When any vessel was spoken McLean took possession of any papers sent on the Carmencita and cut out any reference to his vessel. In August, the crew demanded to see what had been cut from the papers secured from a whaler. Then the story of the government's action became known and the crew refused further duty. McLean was in consequence obliged to return. The schooner is out of provisions.

TO ALASKA, YOUNG MAN.

SAYS MILLIONAIRE LUMBERMAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] B. F. McMillan, a millionaire lumberman of McMillan, Wis., has become enthusiastic over the possibilities of Alaska during a summer trip to Dawson, just completed. He carried home half a bushel of seed potatoes grown at Dawson, and will plant them in Wisconsin next year. He believes Alaska holds wonderful opportunities for young men of the class which has heretofore become pioneers of the Western States.

McMillan says: "Everywhere in Alaska there are opportunities for young men to make money and do things worth doing. The climate is good. The people of Alaska have more sunshine than the people living thousands of miles farther south, more than we have in Wisconsin, though the season in Alaska is about sixty days shorter. I believe Alaska's soil will produce as big crops as that of eastern farms. Alaska's mining industry has scarcely been touched."

FATAL WAS LAMP.

THREE PEOPLE BURNED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] News has just been received here of a terrible accident at Gila Bend, a day or two ago, resulting in the death of Mrs. D. E. Wintermute, the probable fatal burning of her babe and the slight injury of her 7-year-old son, who proved a hero.

A lamp exploded while Mrs. Wintermute was lighting it, and she was burned so badly she died in a few hours. The baby was on fire when the brother dragged her to the arms of rescuers, though supposedly fatally burned. The boy placed a small hose in action and was so interested in his efforts to save the property that he narrowly escaped death himself.

The woman might have been saved only for a vicious house dog, which kept the rescuers away until too late.

MUST SHOW DIPLOMA.

NEW STANFORD REGULATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 6.—A new regulation that will affect the graduates of a number of high schools and private preparatory schools in the State of California and other States from which Stanford University draws its students, was announced today from the office of the registrar of the university. Hereafter no students will be admitted to the university with examination unless they can show a diploma from a preparatory school which gives a four-year course.

In California there are not many of these, but in Oregon and Nevada there are a large number from which many students come to Stanford every year. Many of Stanford's most prominent men have in the past come from Portland, Or., and as the new rule will interfere with every preparatory school in Portland, it is feared that many good men will now turn from Stanford to other universities, where entrance is easier. The reason for putting this new regulation into practice is to maintain the policy of the university toward the smaller student body.

ADDRESS TO FRESHMEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 6.—Dr. John Casper Branner, acting president of Stanford University, today delivered the annual address to the incoming freshman class, and gave the new students a most serious talk in regard to their future condition in the university. He spoke at some length on the extravagance which some college men and women indulge and in this connection he handled the college fraternity and Sorority situation without gloves. He denounced the practice of rushing men from the train to the clubhouse and the pledging them before they knew what they were getting into. At Stanford the competition has become so keen the only way by which the weaker and less desirable fraternities can maintain themselves is by carrying the freshmen off their feet and forcing them to join before they have had an opportunity to look over the field and see which is the best suited to them.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Banks Notified of Ruling.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The directors of State banks have been notified that ample time will be allowed them to comply with the new ruling made in accordance with the recent opinion of the Attorney-General, to the effect that banks may not buy or hold shares in other corporations. This is to avert a crash in securities.

CALIFORNIA FIGURE SHARKS.

WILLIAMSTOWN (Mass.) Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prof. W. A. Manning and Prof. G. A. Miller of Stanford University, Cal., are to make addresses at the twelfth convention of the American Mathematical Society, which opens here tomorrow at Williams College. Morning and afternoon sessions will be held daily until Saturday, which will be devoted to excursions among the Berkshire Hills. Dr. Saul Epsteen of the University of Colorado will also read a paper during the convention.

SHIP IN SUEZ CANAL IN FLAME.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—A dispatch from Port Said states that the British steamer Chatham from London for Yokohama, is afire in the Suez Canal, and is holding up all canal traffic. The Chatham has seventy tons of dynamite on board. The fire was later extinguished, and canal traffic was reopened.

TEACHER FOR LOS ANGELES.

RICHMOND (Ind.) Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prof. Lambert M. Baker of Bloomfield, Ind., has resigned as teacher of English in the Sullivan High School, and left today for Los Angeles to accept a similar position there at a higher salary. He graduated from Indiana University.

The Fort Worth, Tex., Bank of Commerce, doing a small business, voluntarily closed its doors yesterday pending the action of creditors. The bank claim a paid-up capital of $150,000.

GREAT PARADE OF SOLDIERS.

Grand Army Men Make Very Fine Showing.

Kansas Has Greatest Number in the Line.

Ex-Rebel Fighter Creates Much Enthusiasm.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER, Sept. 6.—The main event of the Grand Army Encampment, speaking from the viewpoint of the rank and file, was the grand parade which occurred today. To the veterans the privilege of again treading in steps with comrades of the bivouac of '61 is one for which no hardship seems too great to undergo, no ordeal too severe to undertake. Many who marched the two miles today were exhausted when the end was reached, and many others, weakened by age, fell out of the line long before the journey was completed. These tottering old veterans, regretting their inability to remain in the parade and giving every evidence of their feelings, would be cared for by persons nearest at hand, led to a place where they could rest and recover from their exhaustion. It was a common sight to see a gray-haired old soldier, sitting on the curbing gazing wistfully at his more sturdy comrades as they passed him by.

UNSTINTED OVATION.

The ovation given the marchers was unstinted. The streets were packed with people, and the windows and roofs of the buildings along the line of march swarmed with humanity. The cheering was continuous and the grizzled old warriors were kept busy bowing acknowledgements and raising their hats in courteous salute.

Platoon of mounted police.
George W. Cook Band and Drum Corps.
Grand Marshal Col. George E. Randolph and staff.
Commander-in-Chief John R. King.
Chief of Staff J. J. McCurdy.
Senior Vice-Commander G. W. Patten.
Surgeon-General W. R. King.
Adjt.-Gen. J. E. Gilman.
Junior Vice-Commander E. B. Stillings.
Judge-Advocate-General O. L. Moore.
Chaplain-in-Chief J. H. Bradford.
Color bearers.
Assistant Quartermaster-General J. H. Holcombe.
Executive Committee council of administration: Col. S. C. James, Col. T. W. Collins, Gen. J. W. Hersey, Gen. W. H. Armstrong, Col. J. C. Winans.
Gen. George W. Cook, chairman of the Denver Executive Committee.
Disabled national officers in carriages.
The various State departments.

Light showers had fallen during the night, but the weather cleared this morning and the annual Grand Army parade has never taken place under more favorable auspices.

LONG PROCESSION.

Three hours were consumed by the procession in passing the grand stand. Col. Harper Moorhead, chairman of the Parade Committee, stated that 15,000 members of the Grand Army participated in the parade. Kansas carried off the honors for the larest representation, having nearly 2500 men in line.

The most perfect arrangements possible for communication and emergency service were provided. Telephone stations were placed along the route of march and physicians were in attendance every block or so. A horseman was unseated by his frightened mount and in failing broke a finger. A surgeon stationed near by had seen the accident and the man was astride his animal and in line again before the procession had progressed two blocks from where the accident occurred.

Gen. Donaldson of St. Louis was stricken with heart failure and was carried to a hospital in an ambulance. His recovery is doubtful. There were many interesting features connected with the parade, but one of the most impressive was the appearance of an ex-Confederate soldier in the gray uniform of his fighting days. A great cheer rent the air as he stood alone in a carriage waving the Stars and Stripes and bowing to the multitude.

Both the national encampment of the G.A.R. and the annual meeting of the Women's Relief Corps will open tomorrow morning.

ARIZONA MAN SLAYS WOMAN.

DOUBLES HIS COWARDLY DEED BY SUICIDE.

Victim a Saloon Employee Who Would Not Give up Her Money. Shooting is Second Murder in Kingman in Past Week and Town is Much Excited Over the Event.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 6.—It is reported from Kingman that Jennie Bauter, employed in a saloon, was shot four times by a man named Lee, who then turned the weapon on himself, firing with an effect that will probably prove fatal. The bullet penetrated his lungs. Any one of the four shots might have killed the woman. The shooting followed a quarrel over money matters. The woman previous to two years ago was a resident of Jerome and it is said now owns considerable property there. The first report was that Lee attempted to hold up and rob the woman, but the latest story is that he was living with her as his wife and demanded money which she refused to advance.

The tragedy rather startles the little town of Kingman, following closely on the heels of the murder a few days ago of James Stevens, foreman of the famous Gold Road mine, by a discharged miner, named John Fitzpatrick.

BAD BOY PARDONED.

DOUBT OF HIS GUILT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 6.—Eridia, better known as Chappo, under sentence to be hanged in Tombstone September 11, today received a new lease of life when Gov. Kibbey commuted his sentence to life imprisonment.

Chappo is a youth in his teens and was one of three men forming a party which killed Deputy Sheriff Arthur Wright of Cochise county a year or so ago. He denies that he fired a shot, though he was convicted after the two older men had been sent to the penitentiary for ten years and life, respectively. Mrs. Wright testifies that there is doubt of Chappo firing the fatal shot, hence the showing of clemency.

NO WORD OF MISSING STEAMER.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 6.—Up to late this afternoon the owners had received no word to account for the fate of the steamer Iosco, and her tow, the four-masted schooner, Olive Jeannette, which it is now certain foundered in the Lake Superior gale, adding the twenty-six lives of their crew to the storm's death list, and bringing the total to thirty-nine.

TAFT KILLS THE BOYCOTT.

Man on the Lid Acting for the President.

China Doesn't Want Trouble With Uncle Sam.

Dr. Salmon Gives up His Job With the Animals.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Steady improvement in the boycott situation is the note of every dispatch received by the State Department from Mr. Rockhill at Peking and every American consulate in China. This change of sentiment is attributed by the department to a variety of causes, chief among which perhaps is the fact that the boycotters find that the movement is hurting themselves far more than it is those against whom it was initiated and directed.

Another factor in the subsidence of the boycott is the work which Mr. Taft is doing. At the State Department today it was admitted that he is visiting the various ports of China by the special direction and instruction of the President. It is not said at the department just what these instructions consist of, but their general character is one of direction to investigate trade conditions and the feeling of the Chinese toward the United States by reason of immigration restrictions and the humiliating conditions by which any class of their countrymen are admitted to this country.

A third element, which has and is still working to destroy the boycott is the attitude of opposition on the part of the government officials, who have repeatedly issued proclamations warning against the employment of force and of any acts against the United States, which might bring China into conflict with the United States.

AT END OF ITS ROPE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HONGKONG, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mr. Rennie, a leading merchant here, competent to pass judgment on the situation, says: "Mr. Taft's assurances during his visit here have greatly improved the conditions prevailing. In my opinion, the Chinese boycott is very near the end."

DR. SALMON RESIGNS.

WHITEWASH WAS TOO THIN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Dr. David E. Salmon, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, Department of Agriculture, has tendered his resignation, to take effect October 1.

The resignation was announced by Secretary Wilson at noon, but he declined to state whether the severance is due to the charge recently filed against Dr. Salmon, of which the doctor was exonerated.

While the announcement was made that the resignation was purely voluntary, there is a well-authenticated rumor that President Roosevelt was not satisfied with the condition shown by the investigation.

CAPT. TAGGART'S CASE.

WAR DEPARTMENT WAITING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The War Department is awaiting the determination of the Taggart divorce suit, now in progress at Wooster, O., before proceeding to take military action in the case. Gen. Miner, whose name has been drawn into the case by the captain's attorneys, has preferred formal charges against Capt. Taggart, and a recommendation has been made to the General Staff by the proper authorities that an inspector be detailed to make a thorough examination of the testimony so far taken.

The General Staff has simply suspended action upon this recommendation until the determination of the suit, but it will undoubtedly be approved; and, upon the report to be submitted by the inspector will hinge the department's decision as to whether there shall be court-martial proceedings and whether, in such case, not only Capt. Taggart but other officers whose names have been drawn into the case shall be placed on trial.

TO DISCONTINUE COAST GUARD.

PHILIPPINE WATER TRAFFIC.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The Philippine government has decided to discontinue the operation of the seventeen coast-guard ships and turn the interisland water traffic of the government over to commercial lines of steamers. Within a few days, proposals will be invited both in the Philippines and this country for carrying the mails and government passengers and supplies over twenty-one routes in the islands. This plan is a return to the methods of transportation in vogue under Spanish rule in the islands.

Some time ago complaint was made to the Philippine government by the owners of merchant steamers that their business had been ruined through the use of government ships.

BRAVE GIRL KILLED.

ON HER WAY TO CALIFORNIA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss F. A. Weeks, who is reported to have been killed by the eruption of a geyser in Yellowstone Park, was a clerk in the Treasury Department. She was a native of Florida and from 1885 to 1892, was a teacher in Indian schools among the Utes and Uncomphragres, in Utah. She gained great influence among the Indians and saved the life of the agent of the White River reservation on one occasion by herself standing off a band of hostiles.

She had left Washington to give her personal attention to certain mining interests she owned near Redding, Cal., and to visit the Portland exposition.

ON MYSTERIOUS TRIP.

PRESIDENT SENDS PENFIELD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William L. Penfield, solicitor for the State Department, will soon sail for Europe on a special confidential mission, and for the present the department refuses any information as to the character of his errand.

Mr. Penfield enjoys the confidence of the President in a high degree. He was selected by Mr. Roosevelt to argue the case of the United States against Mexico at The Hague in the matter of the mission grants in Southern California, and has been consulted often by the President in matters of the highest national importance.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Armour Granted Extension.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The Armour Car Lines Company has been granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission an extension until September 10, in which to file its answer to the inquiry concerning rates between refrigerator lines and railroads.

Taft Homeward Bound.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The Bureau of Insular Affairs today received a cablegram from Col. Edwards, dated Hongkong, as follsw: "All well; sail today at noon for Amoy, China. Cable is broken." This is taken to mean that Secretary Taft has started on his homeward journey, on the steamer Korea.

Wade Can't Stand Trial.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—In a telegram to the Navy Department, Admiral McCalla, commandant of the Mare Island Navy Yard, announced that, having just undergone an operation for apuendicitis, Ensign Wade, engineer officer of the Bennington, would not be in condition to stand trial for some time. The court was to convene September 15.

Clemency for Jackson.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Following the recommendation of the Navy Department, the President has commuted the sentence in the case of Midshipman Robert Allen Jackson, who was tried by court-martial and sentenced to dismissal for absenting himself from the battleship Missouri without leave, to reduction to a lower class. Every member of the court signed a recommendation for clemency. Jackson was appointed from Virginia.

MINE HOUSES BURNED.

WALLACE (Idaho) Sept. 6.—Flames catching from forest fires three miles from Mullan completely destroyed the boarding-house, bunks and tents at the Snowstorm mine yesterday afternoon and is threatening the ore bins. The entire force of the mine is out fighting flames to protect the timbering in the tunnel. Every bucket in Mullan has been brought into use and an army of men are poring water on the flames. The forest fires east of here are raging with undue fury and are destroying hundreds of acres of timber.

TYPOTHETAE CONVENTION.

NIAGARA FALLS (N. Y.) Sept. 6.—The United Typothetae of America continued its convention here today. The one absorbing topic of discussion and conversation was the demand of the printers for the eight-hour day. The convention is solidly opposed to the demand. There seems to be no sign of weakening from the position of the Executive Committee taken yesterday, namely, not to grant the eight-hour day under present conditions.

QUAKERS' NAMES DROPPED.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—The Assessors of the 1104 election divisions of the city, whose duty it is to place on the voting lists the names of all qualified electors, completed their revision of the lists today. The number of names stricken off by the assessors will not be known for several days. The secretary of the City Party tonight estimated that at least 45,000 names had been dropped.

MEAT FAMINE HITS GERMANY.

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—A convention of 2000 butchers from all parts of Germany met here today and adopted resolutions declaring that a great and increasing scarcity of live animals exists in the German Empire and petitioning the imperial government to speedily abolish the meat famine by opening the frontiers for the admission of animals from other countries.

SULTAN PLAYING FOR TIME WITH FRANCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, Sept. 6.—The Temps this evening printed a dispatch from Tangier saying that couriers from Fez report that the Sultan is seeking to reconcile the French Minister by granting partial satisfaction of the demands of France so as to prevent the departure of the legation.

The government still awaits word from Fez regarding the Sultan's answer to the French ultimatum to Morocco, the time limit of which expired yesterday. It is the firm intention of the ministers to enforce redress without reference to outside influences.

Unofficial intimations have been received that Germany does not sympathize with the French military demonstration against Morocco, as likely to complicate the general Moroccan question on the eve of the conference. Nevertheless, there is a positive determination here to keep the redress of the outrage of the arrest of the Algerian citizen, Bouzian, entirely separate from the general question of Morocco and to pursue the question of redress to the end.

Whether both military and naval demonstrations will be made awaits the final word from Fez. Both branches of the service are preparing for eventualities. The ineffectual result of the demonstration of the American squadron at Tangier to secure the release of Ian Perdicaris when held a prisoner by Raisuli inclines the authorities here to favor a military movement, striking into the interior instead of at the coast.

ANOTHER NEST OF YELLOW FEVER FOUND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—Report to 6 p.m.: New cases, 31; total to date, 2142; deaths, 4; total, 248; new foci, 6; under treatment, 317; cases discharged, 1577.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—The worst news from the country districts is now coming from Lake Providence and Tallulah, in the northwestern part of the State. The State Board physician, Dr. Tichenor, arrived at Tallulah Friday morning and found twenty cases and several suspicious ones. Lake Providence also reports twenty new cases.

With the exception of Lake Providence and Tallulah, yellow fever reports from that city and country appear favorable in character. Locally, there are many evidences of the success of the mosquito theory, most conspicuous of which is the fact that in the list of new cases for the preceding twenty-four hours there is not a single one from the original area of infection, the forty-four squares in which the fever first appeared, though there are hundreds of non-immunes in the district.

Dr. Tichenor has wired that the infection is general over Tallulah and that nurses are needed. The death of Secretary A. L. Lane of the Fifth District Levee Board, at Tallulah, of yellow fever, has added to the alarm there.

YELLOW JACK AT PANAMA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—According to the summary of yellow fever conditions in Panama as compiled by the Isthmian Canal Commission, there were sixteen cases and two deaths from the disease on the canal zone during the month of August. There were fourteen cases and five deaths during this time in the republic of Panama, making the total on the isthmus for the month thirty cases and seven deaths.

FIRST VICKSBURG FATALITY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VICKSBURG (Miss.) Sept. 6.—One new case of yellow fever was reported today, making a total of fifteen, ten of which are still under treatment. An autopsy performed today on the body of a quarantine guard who died south of the city last night, shows that death was due to yellow fever, the first fatality to occur in this vicinity.

NEW PENSACOLA CASES.

PENSACOLA (Fla.) Sept. 6.—Two new cases of yellow fever in one house were officially reported today.

RAILROAD RATE WAR IN SIGHT IN CANADA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A decision was handed down today at Ottawa, Ont., by Judge Killian, chairman of the Canadian Railroad Commission, overruling a protest filed by the Canadian Pacific against the route chosen by the Grand Trunk Pacific for its new transcontinental line west of Portage la Prairie. This is a stunning blow for the Canadian Pacific in the fight it has been making to escape the fierce competition which the Grand Trunk Pacific seems determined to force upon it for transcontinental traffic.

A big rate war is predicted as certain to result from the location chosen for the Grand Trunk Pacific's new road. Both the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern declare it is an invasion of their territory and they have been joined by a large party of settlers in the Northwest who hoped the construction of the road would mean the furnishing of an entirely new territory with railroad transportation facilities. The inauguration of a transcontinental rate war in Canada will endanger transcontinental rates in the United States. The opening of the first section of the Grand Trunk Pacific for traffic will be the signal for the fight to begin.

LOW RATE FOR LABORERS.

RAILROADS HELP IRRIGATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Western railroads have agreed to make a very low rate for laborers on irrigation projects in the West and Southwest for government and private interests. The low rates agreed upon today will go into effect September 15.

The railroads are confident of an enormous increase in their traffic through the reclamation by irrigation of thousands of acres of land now practically worthless along their lines.

DRIVERS OF MAIL WAGONS ON STRIKE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Three hundred drivers of United States mail wagons quit their jobs at 10 o'clock tonight. More than a score of them deserted their wagons at the main street entrance of the general postoffice after they had received word that the strike had been decided upon. It is an echo of the trouble over wages some weeks ago. The leaders of the men say that the agreement made with them has not been lived up to. They also demand an increase of wages.

Acting Superintendent of Mails Fox said at the postoffice after the men had left the wagons that, although there were 150 mail routes to be delivered to railroad stations and branch offices up to 2 o'clock Thursday morning, he thought there would be no difficulty in keeping the service running. All the men are employed by the New York Mail Company.

"The understanding was," said President Tandy, "that all of the men were to get $2.10 per day. The men driving the one-horse wagons are content with this agreement, but the drivers of the two-horse wagons want $2.50 a day.

MONEY CHESTS IN THE DESERT.

Queer Find Near "Scotty's" Supposed Home.

Former Princeton Football Player's Story.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John T. Overbury of Rhyolite, a well-known and highly-respected mining man of the Southern Nevada districts, has started a great excitement in Rhyolite, Goldfield and Bullfrog by "springing" a tale of unearthed money chests in the desert, which he says he has from the lips of one of the discoverers, none other than John P. Poe, one-time famous football player with Princeton.

Overbury states that the chests—ponderous Wells-Fargo boxes once filled with treasure—were found by Poe and a prospector named Zeifle close by a cabin, which they declare to be the "mysterious" home of Walter Scott, the "Death Valley Croesus."

According to Poe's story, as repeated by Overbury, he was prospecting in the vicinity of Death Valley when he ran across Zeifle, who confided to him with much enthusiasm that he had discovered the home of "Scotty" and begged Poe to go back with him to it and aid in a thorough search for the source of Scott's spectacular riches. Poe consented.

FIND STRANGE EVIDENCE.

They reached the cabin in the desert, and with it for a base of operations began prospecting in an ever-widening circle. Throughout the immediate neighborhood pieces of broken boxes led them to suspect hidden workings, and with increasing excitement they continued the search.

The climax was reached when, at the bottom of an immense pile of boulders, sage brush and rubbish, was exposed to view three large Wells-Fargo boxes, one of which appeared to have been recently opened. A fact which caused the men to glance significantly at each other was that the boxes gave evidence of having come from the Santa Fé Railroad—recalling the Wells-Fargo Santa Fé robbery of some years ago. Broken bits of these boxes were found collected in a pile and hidden.

WANT HISTORY OF INSURANCE.

NEW YORK LEGISLATORS DESIRE THE WHOLE TRUTH.

Officers of Various Concerns Appear and Declare They are Ready to Tell All Anyone Cares to Know—Bylaws of the Big Mutual Life Made Part of Committee Records.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Former Gov. Frank Black of this State appeared as counsel for the Equitable Life Assurance Society before the joint Legislative committee today, when the committee commenced its investigation of life insurance conditions in this State. Before the hearing opened Mr. Black said:

"We have nothing to conceal and no one to protect. We seek no legal technicalities to avoid answering any questions. We will aid in every way the progress of the inquiry."

Senator Armstrong in outlining the purpose of the investigation said:

"Our object will not be to punish anybody for wrongdoing in the past, but to get at all of the salient features of the modern insurance business so as to suggest to the next Legislature an adequate law that will not only protect the policy holders in all life insurance companies, but will likewise protect the insurance companies' management from abuse at the hands of designing persons. As most insurance companies are mutual in theory, we shall endeavor to pass a law that will compel them to be mutual in fact. Then the officers of the company will always be working for the interest of the policy holders, instead of working for the interests of themselves by the formation of subsidiary companies to divide the profits of the main companies."

Several of the members of the New York Life Insurance Company, who had been subpoenaed appeared before the committee, as did several officers who were not summoned.

POLICY HOLDERS' POSITION.

At the opening of the hearing, counsel for the committee stated that the first subject taken up would be the position of the policy holders in the administration of the companies. He quoted the evidence once given by Henry B. Hyde, founder of the Equitable Society to show the position of the Equitable stockholders.

Robert A. Granniss, first vice-president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, was called as the first witness. He testified that he was a director of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company and of the Lawyers' Trust Company.

Mr. Hughes, counsel for the committee, quoted from the charter of the Mutual the clauses giving rights to the policy holders in the election of officers and other administrative rights, and had the bylaws of the company identified and placed on the record.

VOTES BY PROXIES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Vice-President Granniss testified that there had been only one case in the last five or six years of votes cast by proxy in the Mutual Life Insurance Company's elections. He estimated that President Richard A. McCurdy of the Mutual and himself held about 20,000 proxies. Mr. Hughes asked who was general manager of the Mutual and received the reply that this position was filled by Robert R. McCurdy, son of the president of the company. Walter G. Oakman, himself a trustee of the Mutual, who testified that he had served as an inspector of the elections question, was asked how he knew that the electors were taken from the policy holders. In reply he said that there was no examination of credentials, no presentation of policies or any other way of certifying the right of a prospective voter to cast a ballot. Mr. Oakman stated that he relied on officers of the company, who, he said, were always present during the two hours election period, to tell him whether the electors presenting themselves were entitled to vote.

George M. Cummings, president of the United States Mortgage Trust Company, who had acted as a Mutual election inspector, said that in all cases the inspectors accepted the statements of voters as to their eligibility.

NEW YORK'S SALARIES.

The amounts of salaries paid to officers of the New York Life Insurance Company were given by John C. McCall, secretary of that company. He said that he was a son of President John A. McCall of the New York Life; that the day after he graduated from Harvard in 1899, he went to work for the New York Life Insurance Company at a salary of $2500 a year as assistant secretary and that he now received $14,000. The president's salary he said, was $100,000. The salaries of the first vice-presidents were $25,000, $35,000 and $40,000, and for the three second vice-presidents $20,000, $21,000 and $18,000, respectively. There were Mr. McCall said, about 25,000 proxies in the office of his company, made out in the names of the president and vice-presidents.

Edward Rhoades appeared for the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of New Jersey, which does business in New York. He said that the salaries paid to the officers of the New Jersey company were very low, but the figures were not given. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company was represented in the witness box by Vice-President Haley Fisk and by Frederick H. Ecker, controller. The latter said that in an election in 1904, out of 28,939 votes cast all except three or four were voted by proxy. Mr. Fisk said that the president's salary was $100,000, his own $75,000 and the lesser officers from $25,000 down.

Charles W. Camp of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company was the last witness examined at today's session.

Swiss Strikers Wreck Foundry.

BERNE (Switzerland) Sept. 6.—The strikers in the iron district of Rerschach made a violent demonstration today, partially destroying the foundry and sacking a hotel where Alsatian workers, who were replacing strikers, were housed. The government of the Canton of St. Gall has called out a battalion of landwehr, which has adopted severe repressive measures.

ANOTHER TUNA.

TOURIST LANDS ONE.

Catalina sportsmen, who have sought the tuna in vain will be glad to learn that there is a place not far away where at least one has been caught.

The ice was broken in the Santa Barbara Channel yesterday, when A. W. Gregory of Providence, R. I., a guest of the Potter, hooked and, after a hard tussle, finally landed a fine specimen of adult proportions and seemingly the power of a gasoline launch. Other tuna were seen leaping, and had the proper bait, flying fish, been in good supply, quite a catch would doubtless have been made.

Trolling in the channel has become quite a fad among guests of the Potter lately. The supply of bonita, white sea bass, albicore and barracuda is seemingly inexhaustible. Yesterday S. C. Knotts and partner, also guests of the hotel, caught a ton of fish of various kinds with rod and reel, according to a telephone message received last night from the scene of piscatorial action.

walls and great American Beauty roses in huge clusters gave a stunning tout ensemble. The dining-room, where a bridal supper was served and where the sixteen members of the party sat about a round table glowing with beauty, was hung with large white clematis and the buffet was banked with white phlox and pale blue daisies. In the center of the table was an oval centerpiece of bride roses and Lilies of the Valley, from whose midst peeped forth pale blue larkspur, and across the table bands of iridescent ribbon were stretched, ending in huge bows. Each place was marked with bride roses in whose centers were painted heads of ideal girls.

The music for the service was particularly beautiful, being given by Lowinsky's orchestra, assisted by an octette of voices led by Miss Katherine Ebbert. Members of the octette were: Sopranos, Mrs. Katherine Colette, Miss Bazata; altos, Miss Katherine Ebbert and Miss Juliette Hogan; tenors, Joseph Dupuy and Leroy Jepson, and basses, E. S. Shank and Harry Williams. Archie Sessions was at the piano and Mr. Earl at the organ. Before the ceremony the orchestra played Schubert's Serenade and "Traumerei" (Schumann,) and "Twelfth Nocturne" (Chopin.) As the bridal party approached the altar the voices burst forth triumphant in the strains of the "Bridal Chorus," from "Lohengrin." As the troth was plighted, Stainer's "Amen" sounded softly through the air, and just after followed the "Nuptial Hymn" (Vincenzes,) while following the benediction the voices softly chanted Tearne's "Amen," the whole service ending with Mendelssohn's march.

The bridal procession was beautiful in the extreme. Leading the way came three little girls clad in fluffy frocks of tucks and lace, and as they reached the bottom of the stairs they were given the aster chains which they held as the bridal party approached, thus forming an aisle. Next in order by twos came the six groomsmen: Roland Huston of Louisville, Ky.; Arthur Dodworth of Pasadena; Howard Wayne of San Francisco; Vernon Robertson of Galveston, Tex.; George Noble and Hansen Moore of this city. The groomsmen walked as far as the first of the white pillars, which formed the colonnade leading to the altar, and there stood, three on either side, awaiting the bride and her attendants. Following the groomsmen marched the six bridesmaids, led by the two first bridesmaids, Miss Virginia Johnson, younger sister of the bride, and Miss Lucie London of St. Louis. Then, the other four, Miss Mabel Dinsmore of New York City, Miss Clara McDowell of Pittsburgh, Pa., Miss Louis Belle Johnson of Louisiana and Phila Milbank of Los Angeles. The six bridesmaids were pictures of beauty, gowned in evening dresses of white chiffon cloth and lace, the only touch of color being the girdles of the pastel shade of blue and green ribbon, and whose ends fell in great loops down the soft folds of the gowns. They carried great shower bouquets of maiden hair ferns, through which irridescent ribbons were tied.

Next came alone Miss Ray Lucile Johnson, sister of the bride, as maid of honor. She wore an exquisite gown of white chiffon cloth over pale blue, with hand-painted panels of blue flowers, delicately shading off into the daintiest of green leaves. The dress was trimmed with billowy ruffles of hand-painted valenciennes lace, carrying out the color scheme of the wedding, softest shades of blue and green.

Dressed in a fluffy gown, a childish minature of the maid of honor, followed little Miss Evelyn Johnson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Milbank Johnson. Her childish beauty was well set off by the costume, and over her arms she carried a basket of baby white roses. She immediately preceded the bride, who came down the stairway on the arm of her father. She was a radiant and lovely picture in an imported Mechlin lace robe over cream white chiffon satin and trimmed with pearls and tiny bands of the satin. Over this elegant costume a veil of tulle fell, caught with a light wreath of orange blooms. Her shower bouquet was of lilies of the valley, tied with fluffs of tulle ribbon.

At the altar she was met by the groom with his best man, Frederic Langbehn of Galveston, who had entered by a side door and awaited her there.

After the wedding, the bride and groom received for three quarters of an hour, Mr. and Mrs. Gail B. Johnson and Mrs. E. L. Burck standing with the bridal couple. Mrs. Johnson was attired in a handsome gown of Brussels lace over blue silk, with diamond ornaments, and Mrs. Burck wore gray crepe de chine and lace. Assisting in receiving were: Mrs. Milbank Johnson, Mrs. E. J. Marshall, Mrs. John B. Miller of Pasadena, Mrs. L. J. Selby and Mrs. C. B. Loomis. All through the evening Lowinsky's orchestra discoursed music and later the sixteen members of the bridal party sat down to a bridal dinner, while the guests were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Burck have gone for a short wedding tour and on their return will be at home at No. 645 Westshire Place. In the beautiful house which the groom has erected for his fair bride. Mr. and Mrs. Burck were the recipients of many beautiful gifts from their numerous friends, and the wedding was one of the most elaborate which this city has seen in many a day.

A Chapter in Dickens.

A Dickens evening will be given at Venice tomorrow. Thirty-five of the old-time girls of "The Misses Monflathers' School," with their quaint scoop bonnets and wide skirts, will step out of the pages of "The Old Curiosity Shop" and give the school scene. Mr. Scovel's schoolmaster will be there, too, and the jolly fat boy from "Pickwick Papers," and David Copperfield. The Dickens girls will go down to the beach from the Dobinson School of Expression, for the evening.

Camp at Malibu Ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Banning have gone into camp at Malibu ranch. In company with a party of friends they drove the twenty miles along the heavy-grade road, which stretches from Santa Monica along the coast to the ranch. The party expects to remain three weeks, and driving, riding and fishing are only a few of the many pleasures now being enjoyed. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Banning, those in the party are: Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mellus of West Adams street, with their two daughters, Misses Grace and Katherine; Miss May Banning, Joe Banning, Jr., and William Banning.

Visit Till Christmas.

Mrs. W. H. Anderson of No. 1438 Alvarado Terrace, left recently for Stanford University, where she will visit her daughter, Miss Bonnye Anderson, at the Kappa Kemma House. Mrs. Anderson expects to remain with her daughter until Christmas, when Miss Bonnye will return home for the holidays. Miss Ruby Kimball also returned to the university a few days ago. Miss Beatrice Gavagan and Miss Lucy Howell are two other popular girls in this year's freshman class. All these girls are members of the Delta Iota Chi Sorority here in Los Angeles, and they are being cordially entertained in college circles.

Returns from Island.

Miss Adelaide Brown and her mother, Mrs. Eleanor T. Brown of Portland street, have returned from Catalina Island after six weeks' spent at that delightful resort. Miss Brown, whose engagement was announced some time ago, has not yet set the date for her wedding, but has decided that it shall take place some time in the spring.

Pretty Home Wedding.

The home of Mrs. Ross B. Boyd, No. 1707 Roosevelt avenue, was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening, her sister, Miss Jennie de Vinne Woodruff, a charming Indianapolis maid, becoming the bride of Alfred Angelo Dove of this city, the Rev. H. C. Schumacher of Santa Ana, uncle of the bride, officiating.

The ceremony took place in the dainty drawing-room in front of a large fireplace banked with palms, with overhead a canopy of delicate greenery. White roses and tulle bows added to the effect. In the parlor ferns and palms and red geraniums were combined pleasingly with red-shaded lights. In the hall and den pepper boughs and red berries were gracefully arranged. In the dining-room, where a wedding supper was served, a canopy of asparagus ferns was over the table, and white roses and ferns graced the board.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mrs. Margaret A. Woodruff, was daintily gowned in white chiffon over silk, with trimmings of lace. She wore orange blossoms in her hair and carried a bouquet of bride roses.

Mrs. Ross B. Boyd, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor. She was attired in white organdie with lace trimmings and carried a shower of pink roses. So much are the two sisters alike that it was almost difficult to distinguish bride from matron. Both are tall and blonde and blue-eyed, and their ways are much alike. The bride was given away by J. C. Galloway of Santa Ana, an old friend of the family. Music for the ceremony was rendered by Miss Gertrude Williams.

After the ceremony, which was witnessed only by near relatives and intimate friends, a supper was served. After their honeymoon of two weeks the young people will make their home in a pretty little bungalow near the Church of the Angels, Garvanza.

At Home of Bride's Sister.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Turnbull of No. 1237 South Flower street was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening at 8:30 o'clock, Miss Rosaline Carr, sister of Mrs. Turnbull, becoming the bride of Irving Hansford Salnot, the Rev. Baker P. Lee reading the service.

The home was made attractive with many flowers, and in the parlors asparagus ferns and carnations were effectively used, a canopy and altar-rail having been erected of ferns. The dining-room was graced with garlands of ferns and bowls of red carnations, and in the hall jars of yellow coreopsis glowed from every nook and corner. The bride wore a bridal gown of white crepe de chine trimmed with lace, and her long tulle veil was fastened with orange blooms. She carried in her arms a great cluster of asters.

Miss Nina Barwell, as maid of honor wore white chiffon and carried a cluster of maidenhair ferns. Lester Robinson was best man. After a few weeks spent at a near-by beach, the couple will be at home at No. 357 South Flower street.

For Mrs. Barry.

A delightful entertainment was given Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Josephine Smith, No. 729 Coronado street, by Mrs. Catherine P. Northrop in honor of Mrs. Charles Barry, who returns to her home in Phoenix, Ariz., Saturday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Pardon Earl Brown of St. Paul, Mrs. Laura Alderman of Detroit, Mrs. Emma Northrop of Milwaukee, Mrs. Spencer Ogden Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. William Chester Warner of Atlanta, Paul T. Moses and Miss Phyllis Warner Moses.

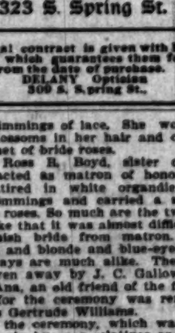
Quietly Wed.

Miss Florence Barnett of Los Angeles and Philip Reyes of Victorville, Cal., were married quietly yesterday afternoon. The bride wore a dainty gown of white with a picture hat of lace and plumes. She is an especially pretty girl. After a short wedding tour the couple will make their home in Victorville, where the groom has mining interests.



SIDE TALKS BY THE OFFICE BOY

The hard work a fellow does on the golf links always gives him a good appetite for sausage links. Speaking about sausages, I saw a funny thing in a swell New York butcher shop. They had on display a great big cluster of sausages with a big placard which read "Comrades." We're showing a new line of goods that that sign would be appropriate on, a line of neckwear in a new weave they call "Amri." It's a pure silk, very serviceable, and comes in twenty-four colors. We had them made up in four-in-hands and those wide end string ties to be tied in a bow. We have them on display at both stores. We want you to take a rubber in our windows and see how pretty they really are. There is something about them that makes them doubly attractive. That's the price, 50c. Honest, I saw them displayed in several windows in New York and marked "a dollar each" in plain figures. Now, take it from me, you want one, they're right.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

WITH THE TAFT PARTY AT KIOTO (Japan) July 29.—The Taft party left Tokio last night in a blaze of glory. Seemingly the entire population was at the station, each carrying a paper lantern and shouting "bansai," meaning good-by, etc. The crowd easily and gracefully made way for the Americans and the police were excellent. Secretary Taft and Miss Roosevelt are treated as if they were of royal blood. They were in a fine carriage; the rest were in "rickshaws"—the man-horse conveyances, good for one person at a time. I never have seen any such demonstration before anywhere. A parade the last night before a Presidential election would be nothing as compared with it. Lanterns of large size were on ropes or wires from high buildings; also in front of all buildings; there every person had a lantern. Glorious fireworks painted the upper sky in all colors. Every man and boy screamed "bansai." All were natives. Women and girls were there by the thousands. I rode to the place in a "rickshaw" led by William Dinwiddie and wife with whom I had taken dinner at 7 p.m. I lost them in the crowd without saying "bansai." The crowd stood in open order for the Americans to reach the cars—led by Secretary Taft and Miss Roosevelt. The crowds lined the entire way out of the city and the fireworks were widespread. Remember Tokio is nearly as large as Chicago and is the largest city in Japan. Our train left at about 10 p.m. for Kioto, the old capital of the empire, where the Mikado resided when he was a figurehead, the shogun being the real ruler. Since 1868 the shoguns have been out of it and the Emperor is the real ruler. Since that time the empire has made great progress.

After a night's ride in sleeping cars too narrow for fat men and women, we reached this place at about noon, warm and in intense desire to know about our baggage. The preliminary troubles being over, we are ready to see this historic city, with its temples and parks. This city is one of the most beautiful in the Far East. Secretary Taft and Miss Roosevelt have just started on a drive to points of interest, while others go as they please. It is all so interesting that it is not necessary to dine out to kill time. We are at a beautiful hotel where many servants speak a little English. Tourists come to this place numerously from Kobe or the sea, where we take our steamer tomorrow for the inland sea and Nagasaki. We shall always remember our week in Japan, where the sun shines and all the people work cheerfully. I shall always be provoked if these people shall hear about Chicago and its idleness and shiftlessness and its intensity. They ought to remain in the simple life of Japan. But mammon is reaching for the peace of the stoic and in another century the limbs of the men in this empire will need padding and their stomachs will demand "digesters" as they do in "enlightened" countries now. They have been made strong by contentment for 2000 years—but are ultimately doomed to join the nervous throng. Along our 300 miles of railway ride to this place were in view the most wonderful fields on the globe. Such farming and such cultivation! Not an inch of ground goes to waste. There are no fences, therefore no fence corners in the fields.

Rice predominated, but other crops abounded. The stand of rice is even, and not a weed is to be seen. There are no roads in Japan, seemingly. The irrigating ditches distribute water and the rice ground is covered evenly. The rice is laid out in small patches, with a raised hill forming the dividing lines. On the raised hill or row a profitable bean is grown. The rice plants are first sown, then dug up and planted a proper distance apart, each plant being set in the ground by hand. Think of setting out a field of rice as you set out patches of cabbage or set strawberries! But they do that in Japan and have been doing it 2000 years! The same careful cultivation applies to everything. When they want a patch of corn in a rice field they raise the ground a foot or more above the rice level and the water in the rice field lets the corn alone. As we rode on the cars, the fields were filled with men taking the weeds out of the rice by hand; there were a few women in the fields. At proper distances there are paths through the fields, smooth patches where barefooted men go about from patch to patch. Colonel Hepburn said to me as he looked from the car window: "You have not seen a landowner today; the men on these little patches do not own the soil; it belongs to the nobility and kindred classes. They are not a half century away from the feudal system," and I have no doubt the statement is true. But the people do the work they have done for ages, and they are happy. Some of the homes on the little farms are princely in appearance. Some of the men in the fields wear but little clothing, while others wear shirts and short pants. All are barefooted. The rice paddle has a blade as long as an ordinary shovel. Not a house was to be seen in any field in the ride of 300 miles, nor an ox; no unhitching to do and no "chores" for the hired man after his day's work is ended. Japan is well watered by rivers and lakes, hence irrigating is easy. Our line of railroad was in a valley in sight of the mountains, green and beautiful. Some of the small hills are terraced in steps with vegetation on different levels, enough to put one into ecstacies.

Japan is one vast "system." Lincoln Steffens ought to come to the sunrise empire to learn what "system" means. The streams are walled by hand-laid stones, no mortar being used, but good taste being displayed as to the arrangement of them. Nothing is neglected. "Patience and perseverance accomplish all things" think the Japanese. They belittle self and exalt the purpose to be accomplished. They cheer others, but bluka when their own deeds are referred to. How much their religious belief has had to do with these traits the student must tell. They know there is no excellence without great labor. Everything they manufacture is perfect and has no rough edges to discover after you get home. Today we passed many tea farms with growing tea. The tea bush is about as high as an ordinary hedge fence, and is closely knit or bunched.

The Japanese do not keep dogs or cats, for it does not pay to feed them.

Today school children lined the way both in country and city. No race suicide—and there are soldiers growing to take the place of the dead. The Japanese law requires a tree to be planted whenever one is cut down. Somebody some time has taught these people a great many wise things, and they never forget anything in Japan. In the cities there are a great many excellent buildings, nearly all comfortable. As a rule the shop and the home are together. The Japanese have schools and colleges and technical schools where better methods in work are taught. On our way there were whole schools in uniform led by their teachers on the depot platforms. They sang "Hail Columbia" in Japanese at one place, and at another the band played "Marching Through Georgia," and "John Brown's Body." In this city the reception has been great, and the little brown hands of children have gone up over their heads in salutation. The babies, young women and half grown boys in Japan are beautiful. All classes are obliging and delightful to strangers. The old men and women take care of the babies—and little brothers and sisters carry still smaller brothers and sisters on their backs. Europeans and Americans love the Orient. My friend of Cuban days, William Dinwiddie, says he does not want to live anywhere except in the Far East.

Derivation of the Name "Owens River."

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] At the last meeting of the City Library Board, Charles F. Lummis, Librarian, stated that "the resources of this library were taxed in vain the other day for the derivation of the now famous placename, Owens River."

Had Mr. Lummis taken down from the library shelf, where a copy can be found, Volume IV of Bancroft's History of California, and turned to page 763, he could there have found the derivation of "the now famous placename, Owens River." He would have found, also, that Richard Owens, after whom the lake and river were named, was at one time a prominent personage in Los Angeles. Richard Owens, a native of Ohio, was a member of Fremont's exploration expedition of 1845. The expedition, on the 27th of October, 1845, was encamped at Walker Lake. Here it divided into two parties. The smaller party, under Fremont, crossed the Sierras to Sutter's Fort, while the main body, guided by Walker and numbering among its members such famous hunters and explorers as E. M. Kern (after whom Kern River was names,) Kit Carson, Alexis Godey, Richard Owens, Theodore Talbot and some thirty or forty others, moving southward, on the 16th of December, 1845, reached the head of a river, which they named for a member of the party (Owens.)

They followed the stream down to the lake, then continued their march southward past Little Owens Lake, around Owens Peak, through Walker Pass and down the south branch to the forks of Kern River, where, by previous agreement, the two parties of the expedition were to meet. Owens was one of the Bear Flag revolutionists, and during the war for the conquest of California he was captain of Company A, of Fremont's battalion. When Col. Fremont was made Governor of California, Owens was placed in command of the battalion, which for some time was stationed at Los Angeles, and later on at San Gabriel, where it was mustered out. Owens was a devoted friend of Fremont; he went East with him in 1847, and was an important witness for the colonel at his court-martial in Washington.

Fremont's explorers were not the first discoverers of Owens River and lake. Joe Walker, one of the most famous guides, mountaineers, Indian fighters and trappers of the Far West, traversed the valley in 1834 and discovered the lake and river. In 1843, he led the stranded exiles immigrants from Fort Hall through the Owens Valley country, and by way of Walker's Pass into the San Joaquin Valley. As Walker had already given his name to a lake, a river a valley and a pass, he generously allowed the Fremont explorers to christen the unnamed rivers, mountains and lakes of that region when, in 1845, they passed through it under his guidance.

J. M. GUINN.

Education in America.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have read with great interest your article on "High School Education" in your edition of last Sunday. Having taught for the past thirty years in various schools and colleges of this country, I may, perhaps, be pardoned if I offer a few remarks. The insufficiency of results accomplished in the schoolroom has become painfully apparent to me at various times. As to the reason of this failure I am inclined to ascribe it to two causes, viz, a faulty curriculum and faulty methods. The curriculum is generally overcrowded. Let me illustrate in my own special department of languages. A student often takes Latin and Greek, French and German, and, perhaps, even an additional modern language. It would require all his time to learn one language properly. I say properly, not a mere smattering as is so often the case. Then, if he cannot take properly all of them, which shall he choose, the ancient or the modern? The curriculum generally offers him no guide, no helping hand. He may choose either of the various roads even if it leads him to the inferior regions.

While it is true, as you intimate in your editorial, that the study of Latin facilitates the acquirement of modern tongues, yet it will consume a very large part of his time to learn it properly—out of all proportion to results achieved. I say properly, for I have seen in my time even teachers of Latin flying to their grammars and dictionaries when a text was put in their hands that they had never seen before.

In the European university which it was my good fortune to attend we had to speak Latin and our professor of mental and moral philosophy lectured only in Latin, and classical Latin at that. But few here have such advantages. What we need is a more practical education. Latin and Greek have been handed down to us as an inheritance from the Middle Ages at a time when there was no literature in our own or other modern languages. But of what practical use is Latin to the modern man? Ask the lawyers, doctors, and even preachers, and a great many will answer, as they have to me, that they have forgotten all they ever knew about it. Had they studied a modern language they might have put it to some use.

But I would by no means eliminate Latin from the curriculum, but only greatly restrict its use. But even German and French and other modern tongues will not fulfil their purpose if improperly taught. In too many schools these languages are taught in the old ways, like the classics, where grammar is paramount. Grammar is necessary, but should not be made the fetich before which men bow; it should be only the handmaid of the language. The language, the living, spoken language first, and then just as much grammar as to support the rules derived from it. We ought to learn to speak from the very first and use the language to be taught in the classroom from the very beginning from the first lesson to the last in the whole course. Reading and writing will then follow easy enough, and the student will be able to speak the language, whether in the countingroom, the store, or in his travels, and not be dependent on pantomimes and gestures worthy of a vaudeville theater. This is no theory of mine, but I have seen it practically demonstrated in my life as a teacher. Mere grammar teaching even under the most favorable circumstances as to teacher and pupils yields but very meager results. Now what I have said of languages holds good for the greater part for all other studies. It is then by a proper selection of studies and right methods only that we can hope to achieve better results in high-school education.

I might have added another cause for the many failures, viz, the overburdening of the mind at the expense of the body, but this has been improved greatly of late years by means of physical culture exercise until it bids fair to equal the celebrated Turnuebungen of the German, nay, I am not sure but that the pendulum will soon swing too much to the other side.

The Schoolmaster Abroad.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4, 1905.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Twice lately, in your editorial columns, you have commented on the public school system in a manner indicating that there was something wrong about the present conduct of State education. To show you that others have a similar feeling, and in the hope that it may lead you to further investigation, I enclose three comments, from widely different sources, on this subject.

Respectfully yours,

A. W. REDMAN.

[From Barton's "Life and Times of Aaron Burr."]

In the present condition of the schoolmaster's craft, degraded and paralyzed as it is by its connection with the State, drawing its support from the people in the odious form of a tax, reducing a teacher to the level of a common officeholder, and making him the hireling of ignorant or narrow or dissolute trustees, it seems ridiculous to say of any man that he might have been a great and brilliant instructor of youth.

It seems to me, and when I speak of myself I would point out that I am presenting the opinions of a large number of educated men, and that it will be better for me to avoid an egotistical attitude—it seems to us, I prefer to say—that the University of Oxford by its present action in regard to the choice and direction of subjects of studies is exercising an injurious influence upon the education of the country, and especially upon the education of those who will hereafter occupy positions of influence, and will largely determine both the action of the State and the education and opinion of those who will in turn succeed them.

The third and great extraneous cause of crime is the inadequate training and instruction of children. This applies not only to the orphaned, neglected, delinquent social waifs in and outside of public institutions, but to all the young of society, both rich and poor, the mass of people who depend entirely upon the public schools for instruction. Intellectual education is crowded upon these who attend school almost beyond their ability to absorb it; but physical, industrial and moral training are comparatively neglected. The consequence is an abnormal and excessive mental development, often at the expense of the physical and moral nature; an unnatural condition of the system is produced which predisposes to erroneous and abnormal, possible criminal, action. The physical and moral powers are not only correspondingly atrophied by neglect, but the desires and wants are stimulated and exalted above their natural social standards. The field of temptation is broadened, its potency intensified, while the conservative powers of resistance are weakened so that imperfect education defeats the very purpose for which public instruction is provided by the State, and becomes an active deleterious social factor, an actual instigator of crime. The statistics concerning the illiteracy of convicts very clearly indicate that mental instruction alone has no restrictive effect upon crime; as there will be a smaller percentage of [illegible] among convicts than among [illegible] communities in which they are [illegible]

NECKWEAR

Every lady in Los Angeles knows of the quality and careful finish of the Machin neckwear; also that the original prices are always reasonable; now that these prices have been cut [illegible] quarters and even eighths of the original, it is to be wondered that the store is crowded with anxious buyers.

The assortment at three for a dollar includes hundreds of beautiful conceptions that retail regularly at $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00. Another line at two for 25c is made up of neckwear that need be ashamed to wear, for Machin never sells any trash at any price. Come early today for choicest pickings.

THE BEST WAIST VALUES

Ever offered in Los Angeles at $1.50 are now on sale, former prices ranged up to $5.00 each. Beautiful lines of colored waists, imported Madras, cheviots and mercerized grenadines; also a lot of white madras, former selling price of which was $3.50. We also offer [illegible] of new style leather belts, all colors and white, at 50c or three for a dollar.

The NEW Delineator for October Out To-day

More than ever the Fashion Magazine of the world, The Delineator's October number marks the beginning of a decided change—or series of changes—in its Fashion News, in its illustrations, in its "make-up" and in its printing.

It contains more pages devoted to Fashions and Dress Topics than any two other magazines.

Its Special Reports of New York and Paris Fashion News are the exclusive contributions of Helen Berkeley-Loyd and M. Edouard La Fontaine, the two recognized world-authorities on Styles.

Its fashion plates, beginning with this number, show no less than five distinctly different forms of illustration—the work of artists who have no equal anywhere in their respective methods of delineation.

One of the most noteworthy of innovations is the printing of sixteen of the fashion plates in two colors—in addition to the regular full-color plates.

Next month this color feature will be even more in evidence.

The Delineator has always given the most in quality and in quantity for its subscription price—it is now giving more—much more—than ever.

For example, 20 pages of Juvenile Fashions in this number with illustrations by Carl Kleinschmidt, Anna Burnham Westermann and others.

Besides the Fashions—and the Household Departments which have made The Delineator famous—some features among the many deserve special mention:

"Safe Foods and How to Get Them" is the series title under which The Delineator begins its campaign in the interest of Pure Food. This question is more widely agitated at present than ever before, and much that is sensational and untrue has been printed about adulterations in prepared foods, etc. The Delineator for more than a year has been conducting a far-reaching investigation of its own, at a very considerable expense, with the aid of the foremost authorities—and the result is this series of articles which every housewife and every parent will read and value for its practical help in the home. The present chapter treats of Milk—how to detect and guard against impurities, etc.

To every one who cares for a child's mental training, the article on "Education for Life Through Living" by Dr. William H. Maxwell, LL.D., Superintendent of Schools New York City, will be worth many times the price of the magazine. It is profusely illustrated from life. Supt. Maxwell's great victory for modern methods in child-education is so recent and so widely known that anything on this subject from his pen is noteworthy. He has been so widely quoted and so generally misquoted, that these special articles, written for The Delineator, the first he has ever written on the subject for publication over his own signature, will attract the interest of every educator in the land—whether she be the mother in the home or the teacher in the school.

There are a dozen other reasons why you should buy the October Delineator—its own pages tell them best.

Classified Liners.

[All classified advertisements [illegible] "L.A.D.B." which appear under several "Liner" headings are [illegible] members of the Los Angeles [illegible] Board, which is responsible for [illegible] own statements.]

Telephone your want advertisement. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night, and secure prompt and careful attention. Rates one cent a word each insertion; minimum charge, 25c.

"Liner" (classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 9 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading of "Too Late to Classify."

Sunday real estate advertisements to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10 o'clock Saturday nights.

The Times cannot guarantee to correct or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

Times' "Liner" Advertisers—Important. Note change in rate for Sunday classified advertisements. Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion; minimum charge, 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the present 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1893, The Times Sunday circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

For advertisements of large business colleges and other educational institutions see column headed "Schools and Colleges."

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Board of Education.

The Board of Education will meet on Friday night in special session, in lieu of the regular meeting, which falls on Sunday, which is Admission Day.

League Smoker.

A smoker, with musical and monologue attachments, will be given by the Union League Saturday night at its rooms on West Second street. The event will be the club's celebration of Admission Day.

Jewish Services.

Temperance Temple has been secured for the services of the Jewish Holy Days, beginning September 29, and it is announced that a good lecturer will speak in English at all the services and an able cantor will chant the prayers in Hebrew.

Epworth League Officers.

At the business meeting of the Epworth League of the First Methodist Episcopal Church held last night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Oscar Schurmer; vice-presidents, Mrs. J. D. Burch, Walter Fisher, Mrs. O. J. Gaines, Mrs. Ralph Hamlin; secretary, William Hunter; treasurer, Ezra Knopf.

Drunk and Held up.

W. G. Hamm, living at No. 702 East Seventh street, while in a drunken state was held up, beaten and robbed of $12 Tuesday night at the corner of Ninth and Santee streets. Firemen from a near-by engine-house, answered his terrific howls for help, and took him in and cared for him. His assailants escaped.

Wrong Side of Street.

George O'Donnell, a Missouri youth, wanted to be "showed" about Los Angeles, so he started out on a wheel ride on North Main street yesterday afternoon, a few minutes after he had stepped off a Santa Fé train. Unfortunately, he took the wrong side of the street and collided with a wheelman going in the opposite direction. O'Donnell sustained a severe scalp wound.

Cook Still Missing.

T. B. Cook is still missing from his home in East Los Angeles and thus far all efforts of the police to locate the man have been in vain. The spiritualists have undertaken to find Cook and yesterday afternoon John Slater, the chief spook, sent a message to the wife saying that her husband is alive and well and is now somewhere between Los Angeles and San Francisco traveling northward.

Rindge Memorial.

The committee of the Young Men's Christian Association met last night and decided to hold a Rindge memorial service at the First Congregational Church on Sunday afternoon, September 17, at 3:30. It is desired that this shall be a largely-attended meeting of the people of the city. The Y.M.C.A., many of the churches, and the business men will be represented on the programme of exercises, and the committee appointed by the board of directors of the Y.M.C.A. will report resolutions.

Brown's in Jail.

Booked for disturbing the peace, J. C. Brown, who claims to be a stenographer and "confidential man" in the offices of a well-known attorney, was jailed last night on complaint of residents of South Hill street near Sixth. At No. 635 South Hill street, where, with his wife he boards, Brown broke up a card game, smashed a window, made a rough house, and was responsible for the spilling of a few drops of blood. He had been drinking and became jealous of attentions shown his young and pretty wife.

BREVITIES.

Times' "Liner" Advertisers—Important change in rate for Sunday classified advertisements. Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1¼ cents per word for each insertion; minimum charge, 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent per-word rate was established in 1893, The Times Sunday circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

CATALINA ISLAND.

BIGGER CRAFT IN DEMAND.

AVALON, Sept. 6.—The tendency at Avalon now is to larger boats. Robert Cope sold his small launch recently and is building a bigger one, which is expected to arrive here soon. J. C. Cline sold his a few days ago to C. H. Howland, and will immediately set about building a larger one. Dr. D. K. Dickinson is also in line for a craft of greater size.

C. H. Howland, president of the San Clemente Wool Company gave a barbecue and excursion Labor Day. He had over forty invited guests, whom he conveyed to San Clemente Saturday night on the schooner Edith. Sunday and Monday were spent at the island, a barbecue taking place Monday.

J. L. Matthews of Covina, who is here with his family for an outing, will go home a proud and happy man. He went to the Isthmus yesterday, and sixty-eight fish was their tally, about ecually divided between yellowtail and rock bass.

The band boys went over to Descanso Cañon last night, after they were through with their duties, and serenaded Mrs. Hancock Banning and her guests.

Mrs. Zoe Ballard Fuller, who has spent a part of the summer here, has gone to Los Angeles.

J. P. Storrs and family of Pomona arrived here yesterday for a week's stay.

E. L. Conklin and wife, from the Sac and Fox Agency, Oklahoma Territory, are registered at the Metropole.

LORDSBURG.

FINDS PETRIFIED WOOD.

LORDSBURG, Sept. 6.—David Moyer has returned from Lytle Creek Cañon, where he has been prospecting for several weeks. He brought home with him a specimen of petrified wood which he found up there. He says the old settlers there say this is the first petrified wood found in that cañon. The piece is about eight inches long and five inches in diameter, and shows distinctly where it has been cut originally by the ax or some sharp tool and then broken off. Geologists who have examined it say it is an excellent specimen.

Former students of Mt. Morris College, Illinois, who are now residing in Southern California, will hold a reunion in Eastlake Park, Los Angeles, next Friday. The Mt. Morris College is the educational center for the German Baptist Brethren, more commonly known as "Dunkards."

NAPOLEON

said, "Come, I want to talk to you." Let's have a little "face to face" talk about framing that picture. It isn't so much the cost of materials, but how they are combined that "makes or mars the effect." Quality, style and price so evenly blended that choosing will be a pleasure—and our experience is free.

A Little Binding

a piece of glass—a picture—a small amount of time and the combination will form a clever conceit in wall decoration—a Passe-Partout. We have all the "fixin's." All colors of bindings and directions for doing it—free.

A Sartorial Suggestion

Careful dressers order their fall suits early so that they may promenade around in their new, impressive attire before the inevitable overcoat comes to cover up the beauties of that new suit. Tailor-wise men place their orders in the early part of this season, knowing that if at any time the garment worker can do better work than at another time, it is when he is not busy, as he is in the heart of the busy season.

If you think this suggestion is you'd think that the special line worth while, we are sure that of suits that we've marked at $20 this fall to increase our following of $20 suit customers are also worth while.

Light and Oxford grays, tans and brown mixtures; plaited from the knee down, finished with straps and cloth buttons. Special at $5.75.

The Cecilian Piano Player

The most perfect piano player in the world. Easily attached to any piano of any make. The Cecilian, in the hands of one possessing merely an ordinary fondness for music, will, in a very short time, cultivate the individual as only years of study, reading, attendance and practice could in the ordinary way. The Cecilian finds welcome in the home, the bachelor's den, the hotel, the summer cottage, on the private yacht, the steamer or the private car. Price $250. Easy terms.

The Cecilian Player Piano

A piano similar in size, shape and general appearance to any first-class upright piano. It is a perfect piano in every way and designed to be played by the hands in the ordinary manner, just as any piano, but in addition to this it is also a self-playing piano, and can be used as such by pulling out the foot pedals, pushing back the slide and inserting a sheet of perforated music. This instrument is simply the mechanism of the Cecilian Piano Player installed in the lower part iof a first-class piano. Price $650. Easy terms.

The Sohmer-Cecilian Piano

Is the highest triumph in the evolution of automatic instruments, being the irresistibly attractive combination of the Cecilian Piano Player and the world-renowned Sohmer Piano. Now in course of construction.

THE GREAT PRIZE IN REACH OF OUR CITY.

Voters to Decide Today Whether to Clinch Hold on Owens River.

The Glorious Watersheds of the Sierras Form Stake at Issue—What Engineers and Experts Say of the Supply of Precious Fluid That Los Angeles May Gain. The Main Facts of the Proposition.

TODAY the citizens of Los Angeles will determine by their votes whether the city shall grasp the opportunity to secure a supply of water adequate to its present and prospective needs, or shall fail to take at its flood that tide in the affairs of communities which carries them on to prosperity and greatness. There appears no reason to doubt that the people of Los Angeles realize the urgency of the city's need, and will settle the question right by adopting the Owens River project and issuing their mandate to their municipal servants to go ahead and bring the water of the southeastern Sierra watershed down to San Fernando basin. The whole matter has been so thoroughly discussed during the last six weeks that every citizen who is intelligently interested in public affairs may be presumed to be familiar with the project in all its phases and details, but for the information and guidance of voters who, for any reason, may have failed to follow the discussion or missed important points, The Times gives herewith a review of the situation and summary of the chief facts.

THE CITY'S NEED.

It has been know for a long time to the Water Commissioners and to all others who have investigated the subject that the present water supply of Los Angeles is no more than sufficient for the present population under the most favorable conditions, and cannot be increased by local development without destroying the industries dependent upon irrigation, which are important factors in the growth of the city.

In a detailed report on the present and prospective water supply of Los Angeles, based upon official records and data obtained by the hydrographic branch of the United States Geological Survey during the last ten years, Engineer J. B. Lippincott says:

"It has become fully recognized by those who have studied the water problem of Los Angeles and vicinity that the limit of the present available supply for this community is practically at hand. It is believed that it is absolutely necessary, if we are to maintain our prosperity and provide for our future growth, that a large new water supply adequate in quantity and quality must be obtained; that it is a positive necessity and that the real question is more where can it be obtained than what would it cost. There is no question but that we are living under conditions that closely approach that of desert aridity, and a water supply is necessary to sustain and develop both human and vegetable life. The present supply, some of it from temporary sources, is 3000 miner's inches or 29,600,000 gallons a day, and the consumption is 190 gallons per capita. Water is obtained for irrigating less than one-fourth of the reclaimable land in the Coastal Plain, in which Los Angeles is situated, by pumping from the artesian basin, but the draught from that source is already greater than the amount restored. No permanent addition to the city water supply can be obtained by pumping.

W. C. Mendenhall, geologist of the United States survey, says in an official report:

"It is evident that the city cannot permanently enter this field (the Coastal Plain) and subject the basin to further extensive draughts, which must continually increase as our city expands, without seriously interfering with the growth of one of our most promising agricultural regions."

Engineer Lippincott's conclusion is "that the water supply for the city of Los Angeles and suburban towns is now entirely used," and that it is impracticable to endeavor to obtain additional water from the gravel beds in this vicinity, because the records indicate that "the underground waters are already over-appropriated."

THE CITY'S SALVATION.

The Owens River project was presented to the people of Los Angeles on July 29, last by publication in The Times of the facts relating to acquisition by the city of property and riparian rights in Owens Valley secured by former Mayor Fred Eaton. Mr. Eaton discerned the availability of Owens River years ago, and confirmed his judgment by surveys at his own expense. He suggested the project to the Water Board as a solution of the city's problem and after a thorough examination by members of the board, Superintendent Mulholland, the Mayor, the City Attorney and engineers of the highest standing, the suggestion was approved and Mr. Eaton was authorized to obtain the necessary options in Owens Valley.

Mr. Eaton bought a ranch at the head of Owens River, comprising the site of a reservoir to store surplus water and control the flow. He secured options on land and water rights in the southern end of the valley controlling from 18,000 to 20,000 inches mean flow. The Water Board approved his purchases and paid a part of the purchase price out of its own revenues, and the people of Los Angeles are now asked to approve a bond issue to complete the purchases and provide for initial expenses of the enterprise of bringing Owens River to the city.

THE PROJECT IN BRIEF.

Before the project was presented to the city, engineers made a thorough, careful examination of the sources, measured the flow of the streams at all seasons, surveyed the route of the proposed conduit with sufficient accuracy to determine the feasibility of the scheme, made general plans of the work and estimated the cost. They found that there were no unsual obstacles to be overcome, no difficulties requiring untried engineering devices to surmount them, no new engineering problems to be solved. Bringing the water of Owens Valley to Los Angeles is a simple proposition of constructing so many miles of conduit, and deciding where piercing mountains with tunnels will be cheaper than running around them.

Presuming that the bond issue of $1,500,000 is authorized by the voters of Los Angeles, a corps of engineers will be put in the field at once to make minute surveys of the line, checking the levels accurately and providing precise data from which final location can be made on the ground and specifications prepared for the work of construction.

Actual construction work can be begun in Owens Valley on the first of next January. The first section of the conduit line, from Charlie's Butte, seventeen miles above Independence, to Little Lake, in the lower end of the valley, may be located and built without reference to the level of the line farther down. Water will be taken into the conduit at the initial point directly from the river. During the six months in the year the flow at that point is about 15,000 inches. With the "make" of the river below, where the city owns rights, and with the waters of creeks owned by the city, the continuous flow in the conduit from Charlie's Butte to Little Lake is estimated by the engineers at 20,000 inches.

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The proposed plan, subject to revision and modification by engineers of the highest standing, who will be employed to investigate and report on the whole project before the Water Board expends any more money than is required to secure the city's rights to property and the water of Owens River, contemplates the construction of a covered concrete conduit of 20,000 inches (260,000,000 gallons) capacity from Charlie's Butte in Owens Valley to the San Fernando basin, a distance of 209 miles, including tunnels through mountain ridges.

The estimated cost of construction, declared by all competent authorities to be ample, is $21,500,000, to be provided for by future issues of bonds with the approval of the citizens of Los Angeles.

MATERIAL AND WAGES.

The expenditures for other accounts than labor may be calculated approximately as follows:

Cement (if not made here)	$2,800,000
Steel, 9000 tons at $40	360,000
Electric equipment	125,000
Machinery	75,000
Explosives	50,000
Totsl	$3,410,000

That leaves more than $17,500,000 to be expended for labor employed directly on the line. For freighting, an allowance of $3,000,000 is made, and deducting that from the skilled-labor bill, we still have $14,500,000 to be distributed to the workmen of Los Angeles in four years. At $2.50 a day, 5000 men would earn $3,750,000 in a year, or $14,000,000 in four years.

The seven miles of steel siphons, which may be increased to avoid cutting in unfavorable rock, will give to the boiler makers of Los Angeles from $450,000 to $500,000 in wages, and a part of the $75,000 to be expended for machinery will go to machinists in this city.

INDORSEMENTS OF THE PROJECT.

Approval of the project to obtain an abundant supply of water from Owens River comes from all competent, informed authorities, from all citizens who have the welfare of Los Angeles at heart, from all who place public interests above selfish schemes of private profit.

The quantity and quality of water have been determined by government experts, and by engineers employed by the city. Independent investigation by a special commissioner of The Times, who went to Owens Valley and followed the streams to their sources, confirmed the statements made by the projectors.

Inyo county's delegate to the Irrigation Congress of 1893 reported that the waste water of Owens River in the month of July amounts to 500,000 inches. As officially reported, the delegate, editor of the Inyo Independent, said:

"There is an abundance of water all over the valley; we have too much of it; we could flood all the country about Los Angeles with our spare water."

Water Commissioner M. H. Sherman said on August 27:

"It is absolutely necessary to go outside of our own watershed to get more water, and Owens Valley has the only adequate and available supply. The board investigated the proposition thoroughly some time ago, and we know that in Owens Valley there is water enough for all—enough to furnish Los Angeles with all she needs and to irrigate the adjacent lands. We did not go into the enterprise blindly or hastily."

The Chamber of Commerce, Municipal League and Merchants and Manufacturers' Association sent a joint committee to Owens Valley to investigate the project, and upon the findings of fact, as reported by the committee, those bodies decided unreservedly in favor of the plan and the issue of bonds.

The Chamber of Commerce committee's official conclusion, signed by W. J. Washburn, Willis H. Booth, A. B. Cass, William D. Stephens, Jacob Baruch and Fred A. Hines, on September 2, was:

"We heartily approve the entire project and recommend that the bonds be voted."

The Executive Committee of the Municipal League adopted and promulgated on September 2 an exhaustive report, signed by H. C. Witmer, J. O. Koepfli, Stoddard Jess, M. Lissner, Arthur Letts and Joseph H. Call, the summing up of which was:

"Your committee unhesitatingyl expresses its conviction that the acquisition of the property and rights now contracted for by this city in Owens Valley will make it possible for the municipality to supply itself with as much and as good water as it will at any time require; and that this project can be carried out at an expenditure of money which may even be termed small in proportion to benefit derived and in comparison with similar expenditures in other communities which are more fortunately situated by nature; and your committee expresses unqualified approval of the conduct of the city authorities in their handling of this

EMBARRASSING FOR THE GROOM.

BRIDE COMES TO JAIL TO BAIL HER HUBBY OUT.

His Mother Also Adds Agony to the Situation—Unlucky Fellow is Accused by Conductor of Doing the "Mash" Act on a Temple-street Trolley Car.

A fascinating bride, in tears, came to the Police Station last night to bail out her husband accused of trying to "mash" two girls on a street car.

His mother came with the bride and the prisoner had to square accounts with both. It was a most embarrassing situation for a bridegroom.

He gave the name of Felix Rich of No. 328 Fanning street, and is charged with one George Smith of having created a disturbance on a Temple street car Tuesday night.

William Gover, a blacksmith living at First and Lake Shore avenue, was escorting his sister and another girl home on the car and left them alone while he went out on the back platform.

Smith and Rich are said to have taken seats, one on either side of the girls, making lurid jests, personal remarks and even passing bottles across the girls' laps. Finally Gover's sister slapped one of them in the face, and five minutes "rough house" followed.

Glover rushed in from the platform to annihilate them on the spot; the car was stopped; women rushed in and out of the doors. Finally Smith and Rich were locked in the car until a policeman arrived on the scene.

Both men tried to run away, it is claimed. Smith was pursued and caught by Officer Dales. Rich escaped, but was arrested last night on complaint of L. P. Warren, conductor.

He had hardly been taken into custody before his mother and his young wife, to whom he has just been married, arrived in a wild flutter. The mother had her check book, but was frantic to learn that checks are not taken at the Police Station. She finally managed to get a check cashed and Rich was brought forth in triumph.

He denied that he insulted the two girls in the car. He said he was paying no attention to them; admitted, however, having had a fight with Glover, the brother.

The case of the two men will come up in the Police Court.

ELKS WILL ASSEMBLE.

Third Annual Reunion to be Held in Los Angeles and Santa Monica Friday and Saturday.

Southern California Elks will celebrate their third annual reunion in Los Angeles and Santa Monica from 9 o'clock tomorrow (Friday) morning until "00:00" o'clock Saturday night, with one sleep in between for such as desire or need it. Following is the programme in outline:

Friday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.: Reception of visiting Elks at depots, whence they will be escorted to hotels. Special reduced rates have been arranged for at the Angelus, Hollenbeck, Lankershim and Nadeau. From 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., "open house" at Elks' social quarters. At 8 p.m., theater party to see "If I Were King," at the Burbank; entire lower floor reserved. At 11 o'clock, "toast, with response by Brother Tracy of Pasadena."

Saturday: At 9 o'clock, business meeting at Elks' Hall to arrange for next reunion. At 10 o'clock, march from Elks' Hall to Arcade Depot, where train will be taken for Santa Monica Cañon. At 11 o'clock, flag raising in the cañon, with remarks by C. Fred Henking of San Diego, an address of welcome by W. T. Gillis of Santa Monica, and response by Gesner Williams of Los Angeles. The remainder of the forenoon will be given over to sports, and at 1 o'clock a barbecued dinner will be served under the cañon trees. "Jim" Fleming of San Bernardino will distribute prizes won in the sport contests. Races—two-legged ones—are on the card for 2:30, with more prizes to follow. At 5 o'clock the train will be taken for Los Angeles, and at 8:30 a high jinks, vaudeville show and social session will be held at Elks' Hall, to be followed by an 11 o'clock toast, with response by James Griffes. The official programme winds up as follows:

"00:00 p.m.: That would be telling. But we'll all be home for breakfast."

OFFERING FOR DEAD CHIEF.

HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF GOODS BURNED.

Piutes from All Over Nevada and Arizona Assemble at Pahrump to Honor Old Tecopah Who Died a Year Ago—May be Once-great Tribe's Last Gathering.

What is likely to be the last gathering of the Piute Indians is now in progress at the Pahrump ranch on the Ivanpah-Bullfrog road, where at least 200 members of the tribe are gathered from all parts of Nevada, Arizona and wherever the noble redmen of this once great tribe make their homes. The occasion is the first anniversary of the death of the famous old chief, Tecopah, whose last resting-place on earth is about a mile from the ranch at Pahrump.

Tecopah was a noted character in his day, and was known and liked by all the settlers in Southern Nevada. He was a ruler popular with his own people, and for one or two weeks they will be busy with their services in his honor.

The first event of the gathering was the gambling games, that lasted two days, and left some of the lucky bucks in possession of the spare coin of the less fortunate. Then there was a big dance, participated in by all the tribe, something of the kind that books tell of but which are to be seen only in a few parts of the West, where the red man still lingers. This may be the last given by the Piutes, as the tribe is dying out. Besides the Piutes, there are Indians of two other tribes present to pay their respects to the memory of the dead chief.

A large number of white men are summering at Pahrump, waiting for cooler weather for prospecting, and they are interested spectators. Beatty, the old pioneer who has given his name to the mining town in the Bullfrog district, is present. His wife is a full-blooded Piute, and he speaks their language fluently and is on intimate terms with the Indians. He has brought his family to the gathering.

The closing ceremony will be what is known as the "great offering," or sacrifice, which is expected to take place some day this week. To avoid as much as possible the presence of curious white strangers, the Indians refuse to tell the exact time or place, although it is said that they never drive anyone away who may come.

At this ceremony each Indian will bring a quantity of goods, some of them of much value, to be gathered together and burned as an offering in behalf of their deceased leader, who in some way is supposed to get benefits from this in the "happy hunting grounds." One Indian is said to have brought a number of elegant Navajo blankets, worth several hundred dollars, which will go up in smoke instead of delighting the heart of some wealthy, curio-seeking tourist. Many of them have been to the stores at Johnnie, Ash Meadows and Sandy, buying goods with the savings of months, to be sacrificed in honor of their dead leader.

SANTA BARBARA ISLAND.

Proclamation of the President Declaring It a Reserve for Lighthouse Purposes.

A. W. Kinney, Receiver and acting Registrar of the United States Land Office in this city, yesterday received from the Commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington a letter transmitting the proclamation of President Roosevelt, dated August 24, 1905, affecting the future of Santa Barbara Island, off the coast of Santa Barbara county, and declaring it reserved by the government for light-house purposes.

The proclamation is as follows: "It is hereby ordered that an unsurveyed island, known as Santa Barbara Island, situated in the Pacific Ocean in approximate sections 1, 2, 12 and 13, township 8 south, range 21 west, San Bernardino meridian, containing approximately 638.72 acres, be and it is hereby reserved for light-house purposes."

OCCIDENTAL'S NEW PRESIDENT.

PASTOR OF KNOX CHURCH TEMPORARILY CHOSEN.

Rev. Dr. W. S. Young Will Guide Destinies of Presbyterian College Until a Successor to Dr. Wadsworth is Secured—Several Strong Teachers Added to the Faculty.

Dr. W. S. Young, pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church, was chosen temporary president of Occidental College yesterday afternoon at a meeting held by the board of trustees.

As secretary of the board, Dr. Young has worked faithfully to advance the interests of the school, and the present appointment is by way of recognition and honor.

Provision was made for the choice of a successor to former President Wadsworth, who has gone to Bellevue College, Nebraska, and already Dr. Young has opened a correspondence with a prominent educator in the East, who will be tendered the presidency of the local Presbyterian school.

By the addition of several strong men yesterday, the faculty of Occidental was stiffened, the board ratifying the following appointments:

Prof. S. W. Peterson, to be assistant in mathematics; Prof. A. F. Shaw of Yale, to the chair of science; Miss Clara Edith Bailey of the University of Michigan, to the chair of Latin. An art department was formed, with Miss A. W. Fulkerson as dean.

From a friend of the school who wishes his name kept a secret, a yearly donation of $3000 for the establishment of a chair of Bible study was received. Another friend, who made the same stipulation, donated $1500 yearly to be applied to the general salary fund.

Special provision was made by the board for athletics, and every encouragement will be given legitimate sport in its several branches. The football field is being inclosed with a high board fence, money is in sight for a training table for at least twenty men, and practice will begin with the opening of school this month.

RESOLUTION OF ESTEEM.

The following resolutions with regard to former President Wadsworth were unanimously adopted:

"Your committee to whom was assigned the duty of formulating the feelings of the board with reference to President Wadsworth, most respectfully reports as follows:

"Rev. Guy W. Wadsworth, D.D., to the regret of the board of trustees, alumni and friends of the institution, has resigned the presidency of Occidental College.

"During his eight years as president and his thirteen years' service in connection with the college, he has manifested a degree of consecration, devotion and loyalty that has won for him the admiration of all.

"He has followed the vicissitudes of the college through darkness, as well as sunshine, sacrificing his financial and personal interests, until he was unquestionably one of the most potent factors in bringing Occidental College from its humble beginning to its present commanding position.

"Dr. Wadsworth has proved himself to be a scholarly college president, a good citizen, when occasion demanded a 'good fellow,' and at all times a Christian gentleman.

"His removal to another field will be a distinct loss to Occidental College and this community. We congratulate the institution which has called him to its head, and we shall follow him with our good wishes and our prayers for his future success, happiness and prosperity."

POISONED BY MEAT.

The family of F. W. Stover of No. 219 South Thomas street had a serious experience with preserved meat. On Tuesday Mrs. Stover purchased a steak at a market on Downey avenue in the absence of her husband, and she and the four children ate it for their dinner. They all became violently ill and called Dr. Merrill, who at once said that the cause of their illness was preservative used on the meat. A boy aged 14 and a girl aged 3 were still seriously ill last night, and the case will be reported to the Health Office. Usually the preservative has been discovered in Hamburger steak, but in this instance it was a cut steak that caused the trouble.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

A conference was yesterday held between the Council and the Street Superintendent to discuss ways and means for reducing the expenses of the street department without crippling the service.

"Starvation of prisoners" was declared by the Sheriffs' friends to be threatened through the reduction in allowance for meals of County Jail prisoners; Supervisor Alexander drew a deadly parallel.

A. B. Lindsay, implicated in the labor-union murder, wants to get out of jail.

Ernest Royce, arrested on a charge of annoying cannery girls, wants vengeance against Foreman Smith, who caused his arrest.

AT THE CITY HALL.

STREET CREWS IN JEOPARDY.

CARPENTERS AND GUTTER MEN MAY BE DISMISSED.

Expenses of Street Department Still Five Thousand Dollars a Month Greater Than Appropriation—"In Order to Retrench I Must Lay Off Some Men," Says Hanley.

Consternation reigns in municipal circles over the heroic measures that Street Superintendent Hanley is adopting to bring the expenses of his department within the Budget allowance.

A number of legislators are now of the opinion that they should have allowed the Street Superintendent a little more and shaved the difference from some other departments. A week ago Mr. Hanley discharged sixty laborers and laid off twenty teams. Yesterday the Councilmen learned that he was about to further retrench by dismissing the carpenter crews and the gutter layers.

Shortly before noon an emergency call was sounded for a conference in the Council committee rooms. There the legislators asked the Street Superintendent to stay the ax for a few days, while they sought to find whether there is not some other way.

But the Street Superintendent's ultimatum has gone forth. "I must reduce my expenses $5000 a month to bring them within my appropriation. I cannot do that without laying off some men."

It is this laying off men that is causing acute agony to the city legislators. The patronage of the street department is always divided with the Council, the superintendent taking one-third and two-thirds going to the legislators. This is very fine while forces are increasing, but when a reduction occurs the Councilmen are compelled to bear the brunt of the attack. Every man laid off fattens retaliation and promptly whets his knife in anticipation of the next political campaign.

At yesterday morning's conference the Councilmen were unable to offer any suggestions for saving money along other lines than those suggested by Mr. Hanley; but they secured a respite until Monday. At that date the Street Superintendent says that something definite must be accomplished."

"In laying off the carpenter crew," said Mr. Hanley yesterday afternoon, "I shall be able to secure a decrease both in pay roll and in the bills for lumber. If we have no carpenters we cannot be expected to do much wood work. Street crossings can be laid by the regular street crews in the different wards.

"I have figured that we can get along without the gutter layers, at least until after the winter rains. These reductions of force will not save the entire $5000 a month, but they will go a long ways towards it."

MUST USE GRAVEL.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

An unwritten rule, now generally observed by the Board of Public Works and the Street Superintendent, taboos the use of natural soil for improving all streets south of Ninth street. During the last three years at least fifty streets in the Southeast and Southwest have been dressed with a coating of oil and "natural soil" and delivered to the city as improved. These streets are now costing the city several thousands of dollars yearly for repair work. The Street Superintendent and the Board of Public Works agree that natural soil streets of sand or loam are a very expensive luxury. Dressed with oil, they look well for a time, but they will not bear up under heavy travel.

A number of applications are now on file for improving streets in the Fifth and Sixth wards with natural soil only. The Street Superintendent and the members of the board have decided to recommend that all the applications be denied.

There are a few districts in the hill section of the city where the natural soil is a decomposed granite. On streets in those localities an extra coat of gravel is not needed; but in all other sections the soil must be reinforced by at least four inches of gravel.

A TRIO OF BANKRUPTS.

Ocean Park Man Forced Into United States Court by His Heavy Creditors.

Three petitions in bankruptcy were filed in the United States District Court yesterday, two were voluntary and the third was on petition of the creditors.

W. F. Hewitt, an Ocean Park grocer, was forced into bankruptcy by the United Wholesale Grocery Company, the Globe Grain and Milling Company, and the firm of Crombie & Co., whose claims aggregate over $1500. W. C. Mushet, secretary of the Wholesalers' Board of Trade, was appointed receiver by Judge Wellborn, on petition of the creditors.

Isaac Mann, ladies' shirt waist manufacturer, of this city, asks to be given a new start, having made a poor one at San Francisco. From that city he brings an indebtedness of $900, owing to sundry dealers in waist materials, the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Company being the only creditor in Los Angeles, in the sum of $99. He claims to have $439 in machinery and $250 in personal property.

J. T. Simpson, a Del Rey vineyardist, files his petition showing an indebtedness of $4914, with assets of only $250.

"Bob" Burdette's Weekly Letters.

The Times is publishing each Sunday a letter written by the famous "Bob" while he is on his European tour. Judging by the installments already printed, they promise to be more than interesting, loaded with his old-time humor, and well worth reading.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

"STARVATION" CRY IS IN THE AIR.

HOWL OVER CUT IN RATE FOR FEEDING PRISONERS.

Sheriff's Friends Say He Can't Supply Meals at New Figure—Supervisor Alexander Denies Animosity and Shows Lower Cost at County Farm as Compared With Jail.

Political backers of Sheriff White have raised the cry of "starvation of county prisoners," to follow the Supervisors' reduction of 3 cents in that official's allowance for each meal furnished. Some supporters of the Sheriff, who is away on vacation, already have declared that meals cannot be supplied at 8 cents each. An attempt to cloud the issue is seen in the report that the reduction is due to animosity toward White on the part of Supervisor Alexander.

"There is no personal feeling in this matter," declared Mr. Alexander yesterday. "I simply have done what I considered my duty as a public servant. The radical increase which the county has been called upon to pay the Sheriff for feeding prisoners called for an inquiry as to what it was costing him to supply the food. With this cost as a basis, there would be no difficulty in fixing the amount the county should allow the Sheriff, but the inquiry was not made.

"That a fair investigation was justified is shown by the fact that the county paid $5463.27 for feeding prisoners in 1901, and $5330.10 in 1902, while for the year 1903, the amount was $9091.84, and for last year $16,814.54, or more than 300 per cent. increase in two years."

(Sheriff White's term began on January 1, 1903.)

"There will be no occasion for starving the prisoners. The resolution adopted yesterday, while fixing the amount per meal at 8 instead of 11 cents, also requires an itemized statement of all expenses in connection with the furnishing of food. Thus the Supervisors will see clearly what it costs the Sheriff, and, if 8 cents be too little, the amount may be raised.

"As a matter of fact, though, it should not cost more to feed prisoners at the County Jail than to feed inmates at the County Farm. At the latter place, the cost per meal to the county is 6 1-3 cents, which includes meals served to officers. Excluding the latter, the cost was 5 8-10 cents. It must be remembered that, while the County Farm table is supplied from the products of the farm, including milk, butter, eggs and vegetables, these all are charged in at market rates.

"The cost for sustaining inmates at the County Farm, including food, clothing and everything else, is 22 cents a day. Three meals a day to prisoners at the jail cost the county 23 cents, or about $10 a month. And in this connection it must be remembered that the county furnishes the fuel and everything necessary except the food.

"If it be shown, however, that the actual cost to the Sheriff of feeding prisoners is 11 cents, or even 15 cents, I shall be willing to pay that amount, but we must have full knowledge of the cost.

"Good and inviting food must be furnished the prisoners, and in satisfying quantity. There is no intent to reduce the quantity or to lower the quality. It will be seen to that the prisoners have what is necessary, but the county must know to what purpose its money is applied, and this is the intent of yesterday's resolution."

MORE MILE POSTS.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION'S WORK.

The County Highway Commission, at its meeting yesterday, determined upon official names for two heavily-traveled roads out of Los Angeles, which are to be known henceforth as the Santa Barbara road and the San Diego road. The following officers of the commission were elected: President, A. P. Griffith, succeeding C. C. Davis; vice-president, M. F. Quinn, succeeding Mr. Griffith; secretary, C. L. Lowman, re-elected.

The Santa Barbara road, which is to be marked with cement mileposts as far as the Ventura county line, a distance of thirty-nine miles, proceeds northerly from the Courthouse on Broadway to Sunset boulevard, west to Hollywood, through Cahuenga Pass over the road known now as the Ventura road, to Encino, Calabasas and the Conejo Valley. "S.B.R." are the initials that will appear on the mileposts, each of which will bear in addition thereto, the mile number from the Courthouse, and the block number.

The San Diego road proceeds south on Broadway from the Courthouse to Ninth street, east to Soto, south to Alosta street, thence into the Downey road, and later the Bell road, to the Orange county line.

Surveys have been made for the foothill boulevard, which is to start on Buena Vista street and to follow Pasadena avenue to Garvanza, thence across the Arroyo to Orange Grove avenue, Pasadena; out Colorado street to Lamanda Park, Monrovia, Duarte, Azusa, Glendora, La Verne and Claremont to the county line. There will be a branch of this boulevard through San Dimas to Lordsburg and Pomona. Stones marking the miles on this road will be up in two months.

RINDGE WILL.

PETITION TO PROBATE.

Mrs. May K. Rindge filed a petition with the County Clerk yesterday for probate of the will of her late husband, Frederick Hastings Rindge. His property in Los Angeles county is described as including an undivided three-quarters interest in the northeast corner of Third street and Broadway, of a value exceeding $300,000, and having a monthly rental value of $1400 or thereabouts. Other real property in the State of California is noted, together with a large amount of personal property, stocks, bonds, mortgages and money in bank, the descriptions and amounts of which the petitioner avers she is unable at present to state.

The estate and effects for which the probate of the will is applied are, according to the petition, in excess of the value of $1,000,000. The petitioner, named in the will to act as executrix without bonds, consents thus to act and prays for letters testamentary.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

COMMERCIAL INDUSTRY. The Commercial Industrial Manufacturing Company, to manufacture fertilizer, filed incorporation papers yesterday with the County Clerk. Its principal place of business is to be Los Angeles, capitalization $100,000, of which $26,000 has been subscribed, and the directors are E. U. Meyer, San Francisco, and J. C. Marquardt, W. H. Pierce, E. K. Alexander and R. D. Lilet, Los Angeles.

JOURNAL BOXES. The International Railway Journal Box Company has filed incorporation papers, its directors being J. E. Wilson, John Rogers, O. B. Lowentrout, W. A. Alderson, George S. Rogers, Z. F. Vaughn and T. A. Pettit. Its principal place of business is to be Los Angeles, and its capital stock $500,000, of which $1000 is subscribed.

STAYS OUT OF JAIL. F. S. Stewart, who was committed to the County Jail in contempt by Justice Pierce, and who secured his release Saturday by habeas corpus proceedings, was discharged yesterday by Judge Gibbs.

LUMBER COMPANY. The Claremont Lumber Company, which is to do business at Claremont, has filed incorporation papers. Its capitalization is $25,000, of which $500 is subscribed, and the directors are Percy R. Wilson and F. U. Nofsiger, Los Angeles; W. T. Wheatley, Ocean Park; and C. C. Johnson and William Ferguson, Claremont.

SENT TO PATTON. George Welch, a young Hungarian ironworker, was committed to the Patton Asylum yesterday by Judge Gibbs.

BEGGAR'S ESTATE. Attorney C. B. Ladd has filed a petition for letters of administration of the estate of Henry Howard, a crippled alms seeker, who, for many years, was a familiar figure on the downtown streets, and who died two weeks ago at Santa Barbara. Two lots at Hyde Park and one on Ruth avenue, together with a small sum of money in bank, comprise the estate. Howard left a widow and four children.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

NEW BRIDE'S BITTER TEARS.

EXCITEMENT OVER SMILEY'S WEDDING WAS DISASTROUS.

They All Told Justice Austin What Happened, but It Was All Different. Great Mortification of the Unhappy Bridegroom at His Family's Conduct.

Being the heroes of the swellest colored wedding got the Smiley family of Hunter street all stirred up.

According to testimony offered in the Police Court yesterday, the Smileys got so nervous over the event that the mother tried to choke her daughter to death, one brother kicked the bridegroom in the face and went off for a four days' drunk, and the bride cried at the dinner table.

Mister Tom Smiley was arrested for it. The police had to go to his house four times in three days to subdue his exuberance. The last time a colored officer was sent, and he locked Tom up.

The old colored woman who is mother of the two boys rushed to the rescue of the recreant one in court yesterday.

She said he wasn't drunk. She said the bridegroom "done got so excited" about being married that he just took to "seeing things."

The bridegroom took the stand himself and with looks of dark reproach at his wayward brother, hold how mortification had been heaped upon him when he brought his bride home. He said his brother got so excited because a pretty niece arrived from the North to witness the wedding that he couldn't manage to keep himself sober.

"They was perfectly seand'lous goings-on," he said, severely.

"When I firs' brought m' wife to the table, mother wanted me to bring some wine on.

"I says to her, 'Act like you was somebody and drink what the Lord done give you, coffee or water.'"

He said his mother insisted on having wine, and slapped his sister in the face when water was put in the claret. Then the niece and the bride cried.

When Tom was put on the witness stand, he basely gave his mother, who testified in his favor, the "double cross." He said he wasn't drunk, but that he found his mother choking his sister and only tried to pull her away.

He was fined $25. His mother followed him downstairs, adoringly shaking off the mollifying hand of the bridegroom when he tried to make peace.

Wanted to Escape.

B. Rodrigues was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday on a charge of attempting to escape from prison. Policeman Roy Allen found him in the basement of the jail preparing to saw his way out with a rough set of improvised tools.

LINDSAY'S ALARM.

WANTS TO BE FREE.

A. B. Lindsay, the union electrician who was one of the men in the fatal Labor Day fight, which ended in the murder of E. G. Godfrey, has an unreasonable desire to get out of jail, where he has been held without charge since the death of Godfrey.

Yesterday he engaged an attorney to bring habeas corpus proceeding in his behalf. His disturbing-the-peace case was set for trial yesterday in the Police Court. Owing to the fact that the third man in the fight has not yet been found, his case was merely marked "passed," on the calendar.

Wrathful Boy.

Ernest Royce, who was arrested by the foreman of the Macy street cannery on a charge of annoying the damsels there employed, is after the scalp of that foreman, whose name is W. Smith.

It could not be proved that the boy had been concerned in the annoyances; it was shown, in fact, that he was on friendly terms with the women employed there. Wherefore, the case against him was dismissed. Royce immediately turned around and demanded a complaint against Smith for false arrest.

COWAN DRAWS THE BIG CUP.

Santa Barbara Mug Title is at Last Quieted.

L. T. Shettler Walks Away With "Times" Trophy.

Articles Signed by Rambler and Reo Men for Run.

It is better to be born lucky than to be born great.

'Tis an old saw, but it had a new application last night when at a meeting of the local automobile dealers' association in Café Bristol, drawings for the Santa Barbara endurance run cups were declared in order. First place honors in that contest; it will be remembered, were divided between several cars. Some time had elapsed, and in view of the coming contest between Messrs. Cowan and Shettler to settle their differences of mind relative to the economy and endurance of the Rambler and Reo cars, the dealers decided to quiet title to the mugs at once in the manner originally settled—by lot.

Mr. Cowan was born lucky, and he drew the mig cup for touring cars. John F. McLain, representing Willis Hock, whose big Winton Quad made such a good showing in the run, drawing the other. The Rambler man always claimed the big cup was his by right on account of his having consumed less fuel than the rest, but this argument was not accepted at face value by the committee. It will be demonstrated next week whether Cowan is right or not. He and L. T. Shettler have now arranged all the details of their economy and endurance competition run to Santa Barbara and back; the articles are signed, and nothing is left but to pick the eleven, load 'em in, crank 'er up, and 'er go.

L. T. Shettler won The Times trophy with one of his baby runabouts. It was all he got out of the run, except the glory, but there was plenty of that for the Reo.

Last night's drawing followed an banquet, which was served at the Bristol by Billy Schneider, and quite a jollification resulted, after which those present, A. P. Worthington, D. F. Robertson, N. W. Myrick, Bob Atkinson, W. K. Cowan, Earle Anthony, John McLain, Fred Stamm and L. T. Shettler piled into Atkinson's big 1906 White steamer, which was backed down to the guards like a 'Prince Regent boat at supper time. The wagon made quite a hit by climbing Broadway hill at a twenty-five mile an hour gait.

Following is a copy of the articles which Messrs. Shettler and Cowan signed for their coming competition of the next week:

This agreement made this sixth day of September, 1905, between W. K. Cowan, city of Los Angeles, State of California, party of the first part, and L. T. Shettler, city of Los Angeles, State of California, party of the second part.

Both parties mutually agree as follows:

To compete in an endurance run from Los Angeles to Santa Barbara and return, leaving Central Park, in Los Angeles, one-half hour apart; the first car to start out at exactly 7 o'clock in the morning; a coin being flipped for the privilege of starting first. The run to be started September 15, 1905, to finish to be at the Hotel Potter, Santa Barbara, not later than 5:30 for the last car leaving Los Angeles, and a half hour earlier for the first car leaving Los Angeles. On the return trip, cars are to start from the Hotel Potter, the same conditions to be in force as in the up trip, except-ing that the order of starting from Santa Barbara will be reversed, i. e. the car starting from Los Angeles at 7 o'clock on the 15th inst., will leave Santa Barbara at 7:30 on the 16th inst., and the car leaving Los Angeles at 7:30 on the 15th inst., will leave Santa Barbara at 7 o'clock on the 16th inst.

To draw their check for $100 payable to the order of Phil Lyon, who is hereby appointed stakeholder; the same to be expended as follows: $50 for the purchase of a silver cup, which is to go to the contestant making the best record for reliability; $50 to be spent for the purchase of a silver cup to be given to the contestant making the best record for economy; $100 to be given to the public charity agreed upon by the city editors of the Los Angeles Times, Examiner, Herald, Express and Record.

That Frank A. Garbutt and E. R. Pearborn are to be the judges of this contest, together with a third judge whom they are to agree upon between them; their decision being based entirely on the written reports handed in to them by the four observers who will accompany the contesting cars.

That the following rules will be given to the observers of this contest:

Each observer is to be furnished with a score card which will show a credit of 900 points for the contesting car.

For each minute or fraction of minute spent in adjusting the car or for each minute or fraction of minute that the car is stopped or the motor is stopped (except on down grade where the car will coast) between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara, one credit is to be taken away from the offending car; the only exception being that the car may be stopped (but not the motor) for the filling of gasoline tanks and cylinder oilers at Ventura, and in case the way is obstructed so as to be dangerous to lives or property and in order to comply with the State law, no penalty against the cars being made for any of these exceptions. Tire troubles shall enter in no way into the decision of the judges and shall not be noted on the observers' cards. These same rules shall apply to the return trip. On arrival of the cars at Santa Barbara on the up trip, the cars will be run to the Potter Hotel where the observers' reports (which shall contain no marks to show whose car the report refers to) will be delivered (after the reporters have had an opportunity to get such data as they require) in a sealed envelope to the hotel clerk at Santa Barbara with instructions to mail to Frank A. Garbutt. On the arrival of the cars at Central Park, this city, the same rules in regard to the score cards will apply. After the observers' reports are delivered to the hotel clerk in Santa Barbara and to Mr. Garbutt, to this end, the gasoline tanks and the cylinder oilers are to be filled up and a careful note of the amount of gasoline and cylinder oil used is to be kept. This record shall be sent separately to the judges of the contest. All gasoline and cylinder oil taken on at Ventura shall be kept track of and disposed of in the same manner. No adjusting or oiling of the cars will be allowed from the time the contestants leave Los Angeles until they return, except to fill the cylinder oilers at places heretofore designated.

Santa Barbara Mug Title is at Last Quieted.

L. T. Shettler Walks Away With "Times" Trophy.

It is better to be born lucky than to be born great.

'Tis an old saw, but it had a new application last night when at a meeting of the local automobile dealers' association in Café Bristol, drawings for the Santa Barbara endurance run cups were declared in order. First place winners in that contest, it will be remembered, were divided between several cars. Some time had elapsed, and in view of the coming contest between Messrs. Cowan and Shettler to settle their differences of mind relative to the economy and endurance of the Rambler and Reo cars, the dealers decided to quiet title to the mugs at once in the manner originally settled—by lot.

Shettler have now arranged all the details of their economy and endurance competition run to Santa Barbara and back; the articles are signed, and nothing is left but to pick the observers, load 'em in, crank 'er up, and let 'er go.

L. T. Shettler won The Times trophy with one of his baby runabouts. It will all be got out of the run, except the glory, but there was plenty of that for the Reo.

The wagon made quite a hit by climbing Broadway hill at a twenty-five mile an hour clip.

SHIPS OF AIR TO RACE HERE.

THREE BEING PREPARED FOR BIG EVENT SUNDAY.

More of the Aerial Machines in Los Angeles Now Than Ever Before, and Unique Contest Looked for. Smallest Weight Only One Hundred Pounds.

There are more airships in Los Angeles today than ever before.

Preparing for a race, three of them are being rigged this week, and Sunday afternoon the great white birds will start from the Chutes Park for a thirty-mile fly to windward and return.

At the Chutes two machines are being rigged, one by Ward Trombly, who has had success as a navigator of the air, and the other by a French aeronaut, C. LaBrue.

Trombly's machine, "The Bullet," weighs 650 pounds, has a seven-horse-power engine, and a propeller with two blades. The gas bag is 75 feet long by 25 feet in diameter, and has a capacity of 23,000 cubic feet. The machine has been made, under favorable conditions, fifteen miles an hour. The car is of Oregon pine.

The "City of Paris," owned and operated by LaBrue, is larger, and weighs over all about 1200 pounds, has a fourteen-horse-power engine and a propeller with three blades. The gas bag is 157 feet long and 24 feet in diameter, and has a capacity of 45,000 cubic feet. Under favorable conditions a speed of eighteen miles an hour has been attained. This machine has a bamboo car.

Interest centers around the smallest, which is stored at Fiesta Park, and which has made nightly ascensions, sometimes being operated successfully only a few feet from the ground. This machine is owned by C. L. Reynolds and weighs only 100 pounds. There will be no engine in the car, and Herbert Burke, the operator, will propel the little beauty with a pair of oars set in rowlocks.

The gas bag of the little toy is only 35 feet long and 12 feet in diameter, and has a total capacity of 3000 cubic feet. A speed of eight miles an hour can be made against the wind. The car is of iron.

By far the most important part of the three air racers is the big bag that will hold each up. While much depends upon the engine, the most care is being taken of the big silk cones, which are kept inflated with air during the day, while an attendant watches for leaks. The bags are smeared with a preparation of oil resembling melted rubber.

The inside of one of the large bags is like the interior of a dance hall, and might easily accommodate fifty couples, with room for the orchestra. On the day of the start each will be filled with hydrogen gas of high explosive power. Sixteen pounds of gas is required to raise one pound of weight.

By arrangement at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon the guy ropes will be loosened, and unless the plans, carefully laid, fail, the three ships of the air will float majestically over the Chutes, and at a signal will begin their thrilling race.

Such a spectacle as that promised has never before been billed in this city.

Those who claim to be posted declare the race will be "on the square;" they tell about keen rivalry between the three men, who are working overtime to perfect their respective pets.

The hopes of LaBrue, the Frenchman, are high. He is an experienced aeronaut, and with his immense machine, would appear to have a distinct advantage. He will prove a formidable antagonist if his engine behaves well, and his supporters expect him to put up a fine race, as well as a splendid exhibition.

Perhaps the most interesting man of the three is Ward Trombly, inventor of "The Bullet," who recently made the longest trip ever compassed by an airship in Southern California. Trombly sailed from Playa del Rey to Compton, going thirty miles. During the voyage he drifted far out over the ocean, where his engine stopped, and left him at the mercy of the winds. Trombly is a machinist, as well as an aeronaut, and after working some time the defect was remedied, and he sailed to his journey's end.

The owner of "The Bullet" declares he will "make them fellows hump to beat him." He is in the race to win, and is sparing nothing that will tend to force his handsome ship into first place.

The friends of Burke, with his tiny "Man Angel," are confident he will win, and they declare there is no better operator than Burke in the State.

A strange sight has been witnessed nightly in the vicinity of Fiesta Park for the past month. A trim little airship attached to a slender cord has floated over the confines of the high board fence, only a few feet above the top of the bleachers, and Burke, seated confidently in the car, has guided the little flyer all around the air strata just above the park.

Coffroth Says Jeffries Will be the Man.

Sports are Badly Dumped at State Fair Races.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The latest development of the referee tangle is the offer by Nolan that he will accept Jeffries as referee if Coffroth will put up a bond of $15,000, guaranteeing that nothing crooked will occur, this bond to be forfeited to Nolan should any fake be attempted. Nolan says Coffroth agreed to put up such a bond before when Britt kicked about the appointment of Graney as referee.

JEFF DECIDES TO GO NORTH.

STILL WRANGLING OVER JUDGE OF SATURDAY'S BOUT.

Public Getting Suspicious of Attempt to Shelve Square Men and Easterners are Jumping on It Roughshod—Good House Tuesday Night The Next Local Show.

Private Citizen James J. Jeffries, whom the public steadfastly refuses to let retire, has finally yielded to the pressure, and this morning is to depart for San Francisco on the Coast Line Limited.

Whether he will referee the Britt-Nelson fight, the big fellow cannot say definitely, but he listened to the advice of Billy Delaney, his former business manager, and decided to withdraw his $2000 proposition, coming down to Coffroth's offer.

On the face of it, this would seem to settle all differences; but Nolan, Nelson's manager, has come forward with a series of objections to Jeff, none of which seem in the least well founded. Nolan has threatened to call the fight off and throw up his end of that prospective $70,000 gate if Britt insists on the ex-champion's judging the mill.

This and a number of other things are injuring the contest greatly, and more than the usual share of rumors were flying about town yesterday, though there was little more than hearsay or suspicion to back them up.

The Hanlon-Fitzgerald fight drew quite well, the big crowd that piled into Tom McCarey's new pavilion Tuesday night, footing up something like $2500.

Local ringsters will support good attractions, and such the Hanlon-Fitzgerald mill surely seemed to be in advance. After all the unfortunate ending was the only serious drawback, and it is hard to see how Referee Eyton could have done otherwise.

Two women supposed to be Americans, fell over a precipice near Turin yesterday, and were killed.

JEFFRIES MUTUALLY AGREE as follows:

That they shall enter in an endurance run from Los Angeles to Santa Barbara and return, starting Central Park, in Los Angeles, one-half hour apart; the first car to start out at exactly 7 o'clock in the morning; a coin being flipped for the privilege of starting first. That Frank A. Garbutt and E. R. Thorburn are to be the judges of this contest, together with a third judge whom they are to agree upon between them; their decision being based entirely on the written reports handed in to them by the four observers who will accompany the contesting cars.

That the following rules will be given to the observers of this contest:

NOLAN SAYS NO.

Nolan has refused to accept Jeffries as referee, and has declared that what my manager, Nolan, has done meets with my approval. If he has objected to Jeffries, he has good reason. I will take any man for referee, barring Billy Roache. He can't act, but any of the others will do. This is my position in the matter."

Jimmy Britt appeared to be not the slightest disturbed by the referee matter. He said today:

"I am not bothering myself a particle about the referee. That is out of my hands entirely. I am out here training to fight, and I will be ready to enter the ring Saturday. Mr. Jeffries will referee the fight, and there will be no purse split. Jeffries is suitable to me, and he was to Nolan up to now. One thing about Jeff, he has the confidence of the public, and that is worth something."

COFFROTH KNOWS WHO.

Manager Coffroth said: "The referee has been chosen and the fight will take place at 1:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon."

Jeffries has telegraphed from Los Angeles that he will leave for this city tomorrow morning to referee the contest. He says that Nelson is all right, but Nolan has a grudge against him. "It does not make any difference to me whether or not I referee the fight. They seemed to want me, so I accepted."

Every voter who has at heart the welfare of Los Angeles will go to the polls today and register his vote in favor of the water bonds.

Lillian Russell's divorced daughter says she intends to marry again, as soon as she finds the right man. She and her mamma are such poor finders, though.

The Hearst Horror's opposition to the Owens River water project is little less than criminal. But it has one redeeming feature: it has helped rather than hurt the project.

That $2000 that Miss Frances Hale dug up so coolly for her bail was doubtless the same money which she so piously asked the merchants to give to the cause of the Door of Hope.

If Los Angeles is to remain a city of beautiful homes, we must secure that bountiful supply of melted snow from Owens River Valley. Otherwise, our lawns and shrubbery and flowers must gradually dry up and wither away.

A scientist has invented a machine to make a man's leg longer. At Catalina there are five hundred charming summer girls, with no claims to science, who can do the same feat with no other machinery than an ice-cream parlor.

Some of the young girls claimed by J. Wiley Phillips to be denizens of the cafés would never have heard of the Palace had it not been attracted to their attention by his constant din before the Police Commission. Mr. Phillips should find some other and less harmful way of advertising his newspaper.

That John D. Rockefeller should have opened his guarded private grounds for the first time to the American Press Humorists should really occasion no surprise. In the first place, he has been their principal support for years. In the next place, he probably believes that if he can stand their jokes he would have nothing to fear from their bombs.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune." There is also a tide in the affairs of cities, which must be taken at its flood if the highest development and progress are to be realized. The affairs of Los Angeles have reached this flood-tide. The future progress and prosperity of the city depend upon the choice which is to be made today by voters at the water-bond election.

These foreign correspondents and war writers have a lexicon all their own, probably due to the lucky fact that none but they would use it. We learn from London that as a result of the secret treaty between Russia and Germany "an explosive development of German activity in the Yang-tse region may be expected." "Explosive development of activity," eh? Wouldn't that paralyze your Fifth Reader? And it had to be cabled, too.

Happily, the disgraceful scenes featuring the celebration of Labor Day by "organized" labor—an almost ludicrous term in the face of Monday's riotous doings—were not characteristic of the American toiler, but of un-American unionism. It was a Hay-Fennessy-Hearst exhibition, rather than a national-holiday observance; a wild jamboree of lawsmiths, rather than an American jubilee. Employers may be trusted to take notice.

Voters: This is the day! You can make it the greatest day in the history of what then may become the greatest city of the West, or you can make it a "Blunder Day" in the annals of lost opportunity. At the polls today you can boost, or you can knock; you can assure to Los Angeles the commencement of a mighty future, or you can commit this city to a hampered and faltering progression. Will you write yourself on your ballot a timid hang-back, or a bold champion of destiny?

That was good, straightforward talk which Secretary Taft gave to the representative of the Viceroy of Canton, and it will doubtless have great influence in putting a stop to the Chinese boycott against American products. In the meantime, if we desire to stop the boycott entirely, we can do so by treating with decent consideration the Chinese who are entitled to visit this country. Not to put too fine a point upon it, this would seem to be the simplest, the most honorable and the best way to put a stop to the Chinese boycott.

WHY WE VOTE YES.

Today there will be submitted to the voters of Los Angeles one of the most important issues ever brought before this, or, indeed, before any community. The question is so supremely important that every voter in the city should register his will in the matter. The bonds to be voted today have been fixed at the sum of $1,500,000, but the voting of this amount means the voting first and last of over $20,000,000. For this reason it is the duty of every voter to register his will and judgment. And the vote should be cast thoughtfully and conscientiously on the merits of the question involved and with all other considerations eliminated from the mind of each voter.

The Times has given careful attention to the consideration of the matter to be submitted to the people, and, after learning fully all the facts, is firmly convinced that it is for the highest possible good to all the people of the city and of the country around that all who vote should vote yes. The reasons for these conclusions are herewith respectfully submitted to all who read this paper for their careful and unprejudiced consideration. These reasons are as follows:

(1.) Los Angeles city must have an increased supply of water from some source or stop development and growth at no remote period. There is no mistake, no doubt about this. The water supply of the city as it is today barely suffices during the late summer months for the population now here. Therefore, vote yes.

(2.) There appears to be no other abundant source of good water in sight to be had for the same expenditure of money as the Owens River water will cost. Some water might be developed in the sources from which our present supply is obtained, but not sufficient to furnish a city much larger than the present. There are other sources which might be available, but the same argument of insufficiency applies to each of them. Were they all secured the cost of condemning or buying them and bringing in the water by many conduits would be vastly more expensive than this one great scheme will be, and then the combined supply would be utterly inadequate for a city of the size we all expect to see Los Angeles attain. Besides, there is no certainty that the city could by any means or at any cost secure all these sources which are all urgently needed where they rise and flow. There is the subterranean supply lying between the city and the sea. No one knows its volume. It is needed, or will be needed, along the beaches. And it would be a perpetual cost of large magnitude to pump it where it would be available for use in the city. Were the city left dependent on this supply the owners of it would ask not less than $2000 an inch for it. So it would cost twice as much as the Owens River water. Therefore, vote yes.

(3.) The city has the title to the Owens River water now within reach, if we wish to take it. It is uncertain in the extreme if water from any other source could be had now, or ever will be attainable at any cost. It is wise to secure so great a source of wealth and growth at once while it is within reach. It would be extremely foolish to allow so great an opportunity to slip out of our grasp when it is ours for taking it. Therefore, vote yes.

(4.) The Owens River water supply is ample for all the needs of this city and its suburbs for all time to come. There is no doubt of this. The ablest engineers say it is. The most conservative men in the community, men whose judgment is usually taken in business affairs, men whose integrity is above all question, say it is. All who have investigated the water supply in Owens River Valley unite in declaring that this is so. There is not a man who knows anything about the matter who hesitates to say so. Testimony that this is so has unexpectedly come from all sorts of unbiased sources. Therefore, vote yes.

(5.) The water is as pure as it is abundant. The amount available is not set at less than 20,000 inches by any competent authority. It can be doubled as needed. That it is as pure as water can reasonably be expected to be, is proven by as unquestionable authority. The sources of these streams are all in the high Sierras, most of them on the lofty head of Mt. Whitney, the highest mountain peak in the United States. There perpetual snows forbid the presence of a germ of life of any kind. From these snows the sun distills these living streams of crystal water, and sends them coursing down the rocky beds of granite as clean as the vessels on your breakfast table. When this liquid life is distributed to the homes of Los Angeles, the citizens will have one of the purest as well as most abundant supplies of water of any city on the globe. Therefore, vote yes.

(6.) The possession of this abundant stream of crystal purity will create an era of greater prosperity for all sorts and conditions of men than has ever been known in Los Angeles yet. It will give a stability to the present and an impetus to the future which no other influence can give. With this stream of water ours forever there will be no question as to the continued growth of the city and of the continued development of all the industries of the city. With it we may confidently look to see a city of 1,000,000 in good time. Therefore, vote yes.

(7.) With the growth of population even to so great proportions there will be water to sprinkle all the streets, water all the lawns, shrubs and trees in the city and abundantly flush all the sewers. This means charm for the eye, comfort forever, sense, and health to all who dwell here, in addition to the health coming from the use of pure water in domestic service. Every child in the city will have a better chance to grow to enjoyable and useful manhood, and even grown-up persons will have a better chance to live longer and be freer from disease. Therefore, vote yes.

(8.) This supply of good water in abundant measure means prosperity to all the suburbs of Los Angeles and all the other blessings enumerated as well as to those in the city. It means unspeakable good to every dweller in the city and to everyone within twenty miles of the city. It means this—untold, unspeakable good to your neighbors as well as to yourself. Therefore, vote yes.

(9.) Water is not all this great river of life will bring to the city. It will bring power as well. A great stream of electric power can be generated from this stream of water and used for city purposes or sold to run street cars and factories. This means revenue to the city and increased employment for labor in factories. Therefore, vote yes.

(10.) If the city had no need of the water the supply to be had for the money would be a wise investment for the city to make. Did we not need it so pressingly for our own use, it could be sold so as to pay enormous dividends on the investment and made to pay the expenses of the city. Business men see how great a bargain this water is and stand greedily ready to buy it if the city should not take it. Therefore, vote yes.

(11.) Besides all the other benefits to the city it will furnish abundance of water for the farmers all around the city on both sides, insuring forever a supply of fruit, vegetables, eggs, butter and milk, poultry and meat produced at the city gates, thus keeping low the cost of these necessities to the end of time. Therefore, vote yes.

(12.) To sum up: The city needs this water, needs it badly. There is no other source to turn to. It is abundant. It is pure. It is cheap. It will bring prosperity to every person dwelling in the city. It will bring health as well as prosperity. It will lessen the cost of living to our citizens forever. You have an opportunity to vote these blessings to yourself, to your family, to your neighbors. Your vote will be productive of blessing to millions for all time when you are gone. You have an opportunity to do this great act of beneficence today. Therefore, vote yes. You may never have an opportunity to vote on this question again. Therefore, vote yes. Should you vote no, your vote will be in the nature of a malediction to your fellow-men now and for all coming ages. Therefore, do not vote no. Should you vote yes your vote will be a perpetual benediction to all who shall ever dwell in Southern California. Therefore, vote yes.

TEN YEARS HENCE.

The city and county of Los Angeles have made steady progress in wealth and development since they were organized. This progress has been substantial. During the past decade, especially, the progress has been rapid beyond all expectation. The city of our pride and hope has gone forward by leaps and bounds. It stands, today, among the foremost cities of the land in the proportionate increase in population, of postal receipts, of bank clearings, of home-building, and of other things which make for civic greatness and strength. Los Angeles is known throughout the world as a city of marvelous development, of unsurpassed enterprise, of beautiful homes, of unequaled possibilities. The momentum which it has gained, in conjunction with its many natural advantages, will carry it steadily forward in the path of progression, if no untoward influences should intervene to turn backward the wheels of progress.

Without exaggeration it may truthfully be said that the greatest misfortune that could befall Los Angeles at the present time would be a failure to embrace the opportunity now presented for bringing the waters of Owens River to the city. If this opportunity be ignored or cast aside at this time, it will be lost to us forever. The vast water supply which we may now obtain without material difficulty, if we but say the word, will be taken by private purchase if we do not now secure it. In such an eventuality it would be diverted, nobody can say where. If we should hereafter be able to secure some portion of it, in obedience to our imperative need, it would cost us dearly; whereas, if we decide now to take advantage of the opportunity that is before us, the Owens River water will eventually become a source of revenue to the city, instead of being a source of expense.

Let us look this matter squarely in the face. We must face the issue sooner or later, and now is the time to face it.

Today's election will decide whether the city of Los Angeles shall bring hither the mountain water from Owens River Valley. If the vote be in the affirmative (as in all probability it will be,) the future of Los Angeles city and county will be bright with promise. The removal of this one serious obstacle to the progress of this city and section will inspire confidence on every hand, replacing the doubts that are already well defined in the minds of those who know the situation. With an exhaustless supply of pure water, brought to our doors, who can set a limit to the advancement of this wonderful city and this unparalleled section? Ten years hence the city will have increased in population to at least half a million, and more likely to three-quarters of a million.

Does this sound too optimistic? Will some say the deduction is unwarranted? Let us see. In 1900, five years ago, the city of Los Angeles had a population of 102,400, as shown by the government census. Its population is now above 200,000, as shown by the directory census of 1905. This is a doubling in five years. If the population should keep up this ratio of increase, it would number over 400,000 in 1910, and 800,000 in 1915. Is there any good reason why the ratio should not be maintained during the next ten years, if the Owens River water be brought here?

The mere fact of a favorable vote upon the proposition at today's election will inspire confidence in the future, will give stability to values, and will serve to allay all fears that Los Angeles has reached "the end of the rope"—the maximum of its development. Give us the Owens River water, and the wealth of this city and county will increase proportionately with the increase of population. The arid places will burgeon with flower and fruit. The imperial city of Los Angeles will stretch in verdure and fragrance and beauty from mountains to sea, and will in all respects fulfill its magnificent and manifest destiny.

"Look here, upon this picture, and on this:" If the voters today defeat the Owens River project, the progress of Los Angeles will at once receive a serious check. The buoyant confidence which its people have felt in the future of this city and section will be in large part destroyed, for it is a well-known fact that if we do not obtain, in the very near future, a greatly increased supply of water, the growth of the city must cease. It is equally well known that if we do not obtain water from Owens River we cannot obtain it from anywhere, for it does not exist at any available source of supply other than Owens River in quantities adequate for the needs of Greater Los Angeles.

The present source of supply is utterly inadequate, even for the Los Angeles of today. We are steadily reducing the supply stored in nature's vast reservoirs. Two or three seasons of deficient rainfall would bring a water famine, even if the city's increase of population should cease at once. We shall be fortunate if we do not experience a water famine before it will be possible to bring here the abundant supply from Owens River.

It is true there is at present much waste of water which might in part be saved by the use of meters. But it would cost nearly or quite a million of dollars to meter the entire city, and this expedient would only serve to put off the inevitable a little longer. The next step would be to forbid the use of water for irrigating lawns and flowers. This plan would save a considerable amount of water, but it would change Los Angeles from the City Beautiful to an arid waste, destitute of flowers, of lawns, of trees and of shrubbery. Such a change would make the city almost uninhabitable, although there might be plenty of water for strictly domestic uses—washing dishes, flushing closets, etc.

But Los Angeles would not be Los Angeles without its flowers, its lawns, its trees and its beautiful shrubbery. Its progress would be checked from the day of the defeat of the Owens River project. In ten years the retrogression of the city and of the surrounding territory would be pitiably in evidence.

In brief, as Superintendent Mulholland has so epigrammatically declared, "If we don't get the Owens River water now, we won't need it." This is all We are ready for the question.

AN INYO NOVELETTE.

A literary lady residing in Independence contributes to the columns of a San Francisco contempory a novelette on the Owens River project, which it is difficult to classify. The production has some characteristics of the historical novel—a detailed account of what never happened, ornamented by vivid imaginings of the writer—and in spots it runs into romantic fiction. It winds up, however, as a problem novel of the psychological school, dealing with the question of the civic morals of the wicked Angelenos, who have conspired with a nefarious Federal government to rob the people of Owens Valley and prevent them from building up a bigger and better community than Los Angeles in the Inyo desert.

The lady novelist intimates that there is blood on the moon; that the Indian fighters of Inyo are making war medicine and putting on paint for a scalp dance; that "incalculable forces, intangible and immeasurable by any standard known" to effete dwellers in the immoral city, are being aroused to terrible reprisal; and she demands in a final burst of fine writing: "Shall the question of domestic water in California be determined by craft and graft and bitterness and long-drawn, wasteful struggles, or conducted with righteness and dignity to an equable conclusion?"

We fear the lady has a grievance, and a literary lady with a grievance is a dour proposition to encounter.

But it is a nice little novelette in its way, even if the author does say some things which Fred Eaton will regret.

WHAT WE ARE GETTING.

Government measurements of the streams now owned by the city in Owens Valley, or controlled on options, place their mean flow for the year 1904 at 17,522 miner's inches; but the average mean flow reckoned for a number of years is considerably greater. In addition to the options now held, the water commissioners have received offers of water-bearing land sufficient to bring the total mean flow to about 21,500 miner's inches. And still other tentative offers have been made of mountain streams, bringing the grand total to 25,000 miner's inches.

Miner's inch is a technical term forming the basis for all measurements of the flow of streams in California. It is used to designate the quantity of water which will flow through an aperture one inch square located four inches below the surface of the water behind the aperture, or, as commonly expressed by engineers, under a four-inch head. It is equivalent to one-fiftieth of a cubic foot per second, nine gallons a minute and 12,960 gallons in twenty-four hours. The mean flow of the Los Angeles River is 3000 miner's inches.

The mammoth conduit which is to bring the waters of the Sierra snowsheds into the San Fernando Valley will have a capacity of 30,000 miner's inches. At times it will be filled by the output of the streams now controlled by the city, for the maximum flow of these streams during the summer season approximates 30,000 inches. This means 390,000,000 gallons, considerably more than ten times the summer flow of the Los Angeles River.

By a peculiar coincidence the flow of the Owens Valley streams is greatest just at the time when the consumption of water here is greatest, and least during the rainy season here when the local water consumption is lowest. At the time when Los Angeles is consuming 170 gallons of water a day per capita these Owens Valley streams are flowing 390,000,000 gallons a day, sufficient to supply a population of two and a quarter millions. And at the time when the water consumption here drops to less than sixty gallons a day per capita the Sierra watersheds are feeding to the city's water source 156,000,000 gallons a day, still sufficient for a city of two and one-quarter million population.

In addition to the Owens River supply we will always have the present supply from the Los Angeles River to depend upon in cases of emergency. This supply, according to Superintendent Mulholland, will be sufficient for the city during the four months of the rainy season until our population is at least three times as great as at present. During these four months the flow of the Owens Valley streams will be conserved in reservoirs for use during the summer months when the water consumption here is greatest. But it must needs be conserved at this end of the line, for during the summer months we may confidently expect the output of the mountain streams to equal the capacity of the conduit.

Statistics of other cities show that increase in population occasions a corresponding decrease in the per capita consumption of water. A population of two and a quarter million could be comfortably housed in an area not more than one-half greater than the present corporate limits of Los Angeles. If the experience of other cities is any criterion of what may be expected here, the water now owned or controlled by the city in Owens Valley, coupled with the flow of the Los Angeles River, will furnish an adequate supply for this city when, fifty years hence, its population has increased to two and a quarter millions.

THE AMENDE HONORABLE.

During the early stages of discussion of the Owens River project, The Times took exceptions to some comments made by the San Francisco Chronicle on information of a mistaken nature from Inyo county. The Times was under the impression that the Chronicle had accepted that erroneous information as correct without due inquiry, and expressed surprise and dissatisfaction thereat. It appears that the conclusion was somewhat premature, to say the least, for the Chronicle of last Saturday thus clarifies the situation:

"The Los Angeles Times does the Chronicle injustice in representing it as opposing the diversion of Owens River. That journal has presented the facts with perfect impartiality so far as it could obtain them, but making the Inyo county people responsible for their side of the case. The only expression of opinion which this journal has made is that it is a hard case. Los Angeles unquestionably needs the water, but the loss of it is a great blow to the people of the valley, which means, not merely those with riparian or other rights, but the inhabitants of the towns who had reason to expect prosperity from the development of the valley. In our opinion Los Angeles ought to have what water it requires for municipal purposes from some source in the Sierra. A proposition to divert water for irrigation, however, is an entirely different proposition and should be discussed on its merits, in respect to which the Chronicle is not informed, and has, therefore, expressed no opinion. If we understand the statements of the Los Angeles press, it is vigorously denied that any private corporation will, or can, ever get control of any part of the water as charged by the people of Inyo county, but that it is expected that the city itself will have water to sell for irrigation and will sell it. If that is not a correct statement, we will make it correct upon being properly informed."

The statement is eminently correct, and the attitude of the Chronicle on the main question is fair, judicious and not to be quarreled with.

MEN AND THINGS OVER THE SEAS.

A Momentous Juncture.

In view of the Portsmouth treaty of peace, and the renewed and extended treaty of alliance between Great Britain and Japan, speculation is rife as to the readjusted grouping of the European powers that is likely to result. With whom is Russia going to conjoin her fortunes?—that is the question on which all others depend. Already there is the rumor of a secret alliance between Czar and Kaiser. But against this there are the strong arguments being urged in Russia itself that now is the golden hour of opportunity to come to an understanding with Great Britain. The choice between the two alternatives is a momentous one. For the first would, in all human probability, mean another great war in the not far distant future, while the second might ensure the peace of the world during fifty years to come.

In Eastern Asia.

If the Kaiser and the Czar have entered into a compact to stand shoulder to shoulder, it can only be with the ultimate intention of reopening the whole question of Asia and so once again letting loose the dogs of war. The Anglo-Japanese alliance, if undisturbed, means the maintenance of the status quo in the Far East—that is, China will be secured from dismemberment, and equal trade conditions will be guaranteed for the whole world. This would imply for Russia the final abandonment of all her plans to extend her domains in this direction. For Germany it would signify the surrender of any secret ambitions that; with the Chinese Empire falling to pieces, a solid footing might have been secured for her in the Orient and a great sphere of exclusive German influence developed from her present fortified position at Kiao-Chou. Only by fighting Great Britain and Japan can any such dreams be ever again revived. But these considerations are only part of a much vaster problem.

In Western Asia.

By the Anglo-Japanese compact Russia is also shut off from aggressive tactics against India, and the Persian Gulf is closed to her as a sphere of territorial ambition—that is, unless she is determined to put the issue to the actual test of war. For if Russia should seek to attack India, either directly on the northwestern frontier, or indirectly through Persia, the line of weakest resistance, the forces of Japan on sea and on land will be ranged alongside those of England in opposing the Muscovite advance. If Russia and Germany are prepared for such a conflict, the latter power would doubtless receive as her share of the bargain preponderating influence in Asia Minor, and the fulfillment of her cherished project of constructing a German railway to Bagdad and thence to the Persian Gulf. Such schemes would, of course, involve war a outrance with Great Britain, for their realization would amount to the breaking up of the latter's power in India, and would establish two hostile powers right on the flank of her trade route to the Far East and to Australia. If Russia is not quite sick of war, if she has agreed to peace while secretly cherishing a resolve to reopen the question of military supremacy in Asia, it is quite conceivable that the Czar and the Kaiser have come together on the basis of such an understanding.

Slav Versus Teuton.

But an alliance between Germany and Russia would involve a final severance of the ties that bind Russia and France. The conflict could not be confined to Asia, and on European soil there can never be an alliance between France and Germany so long as Alsace and Lorraine are retained by the latter power. Moreover, if France is to hold her own in the Far East, she must be on the side of England and Japan, for otherwise her possessions in Indo-China would be absolutely at the mercy of Japan. The struggle would involve Italy, striving to realize her national ambitions on the Adriatic, and also Austria and Turkey, fighting against partition between Germany and Russia, with Italy vitally affected by the result.

It is just here that the conflicting interests of Russia and Germany come to the front, and throw doubt on the possibility of the two countries ever joining hands in such a campaign. So long as there was merely a partition of spoils in Asia the Kaiser and the Czar might be found on one side. But in Europe the old traditional feud between Slav and Teuton is irreconcilable. Russia has always been the head of the Slav confederation, and German ascendancy in the Balkans will never be permitted by Russia if the latter is to remain a great European power.

A Quadruple Alliance.

By the second alternative grouping of the powers, France and Russia would preserve their present alliance, and their influence would be with England and Japan in maintaining the peace of the world. If Persia were neutralized, and the principle of the "open door" were applied to her territories in the same way as it has been applied to China, Russia would have an outlet for her legitimate commercial requirements, and this without the cost and the horrors of another war. She would accordingly have a free hand to resist the impact of Germany toward Constantinople. On the other hand, with Germany as her ally, the price Russia would have to pay, even in the event of victory, would be permanently to be shouldered out of the Bosphorus. It is on these grounds that leading Russian publicists call for an understanding with England in preference to the dangerous complications involved in an alliance with Germany.

And leaf-strewn nooks.

Of all her gentle sisterhood
One violet, wistful, palely
Still lingers softly in the
A hint at prayer.

June's rose is red, but autumn
Proclaims the largess of the
In leaves that slip their
Though winds are bland;

In goldenrod whose gleaming
Is lightly lifted toward the
Or swung upon the dusty road
To passers-by;

In burnished stems of garnered

Slightest Rumor Stampedes Eager Prospectors.

Reports of a rich strike—details of which are not to hand—have started a rush of prospectors to Forty Mile Cañon, lying between thirty and thirty-five miles north and a little west of Johnnie. It is said that there are from forty to sixty men searching for gold in a forsaken place, where but a few weeks ago there was no habitation, and only an occasional prospector or an Indian ever went. The cañon is in a small range of mountains lying almost due north of Ash Meadows, on the Ivanpah-Johnnie-Bullfrog route. The distance from Ash Meadows is fifteen miles, and water has to be hauled from there.

In the present state of affairs it requires only the barest rumors of a strike to draw scores of prospectors to the scene from all points within a radius of fifty miles or more. If nothing is found to encourage them the matter may end quickly, but should the rumors prove to have any foundation whatever in fact, or the ground develop so as to afford the least attraction, the news spreads like wildfire to greater distances, and the mad rush begins. As the mineral belt is believed by authorities to be quite large and rich many of the camps that spring up in a night may remain in after years, and produce wealth. Others will go away as many have done before.

FUNERAL RANGE BOOMS.

The northern end of the Funeral mountains is beginning to attract attention. This range lies chiefly in Inyo county, Cal., but in the north runs into Nevada. Eighteen miles from Ash Meadows is where much of the present excitement is centering. Rumor says that good ore, high in value and in large veins, has been found. The absence of water is a great handicap, all being hauled from Ash Meadows. A well is being sunk by Mirschild and West only three miles from the boom camp. It is down 100 feet, with good signs of water. If successful it will be a God-send to that arid country.

T. A. Johnson, who is just in from the Johnnie mine, reports that the summer has been unusually hot, so hot that by far the greatest part of the prospectors have returned to Death Valley and Funeral range and Death Valley it has been almost unendurable, so that few but the most hardy, or foolhardy, have ventured there. Many are expected to begin coming in this month, but, if they do, many will wish they had waited until October, as the heat is usually intense, and is likely to continue most of this month.

The Johnnie mine is down 630 feet, and ore averaging $40 a ton is reported to be coming from the 600-foot level.

NEW YORK MOUNTAINS.

J. M. Carter, a mining man well known here, is in the city from a visit to the New York and Providence mountains in San Bernardino county, and reports that there is much activity in that region. In the north end of the Providence Mountains E. C. Cole of this city has taken up a group of nine claims, which he will develop. The ore found is a smelting variety containing gold, silver and lead. Mr. Carter visited the property years ago and did some work. He says he then ran assays as high as $300 gold, with 200 ounces of silver. The average was about $65.

Among others who are operating in the New York range near Lessiak are Arthur Woods of Ivanpah, and a Mr. Freeman of Colorado. Mr. Woods has sunk down ninety feet, with ore averaging $7.50 in gold, fifteen to sixteen ounces in silver and about 5 per cent lead.

The entire region is anxiously watching the progress of rebuilding the Needles smelter. On the opening of this may be said to depend the whole future of the district. At present it costs $4.50 to ship a ton of ore worth $35 or less to the nearest smelter at Salt Lake, with a 50-cent raise for each $25 increase in value of ore. Those rates have just been announced, and are absolutely prohibitive on any ore worth $25 at the lowest, with only a very small profit then. The Needles smelter is said to have been promised a rate of $1.50 by the Santa Fé.

Mr. Carter believes that there is a great future before the entire region embraced in the New York and Providence Mountains, and adjoining districts, as well for the other country tributary to the Needles smelter and to Los Angeles.

LA BUFA SMELTER.

W. E. Richardson, who has just come from La Bufa mine in Sonora, reports that the company's smelter will resume operations next month, it having been obliged to shut down temporarily on account of the difficulty of hauling supplies during the rainy season. Freighting has been as almost a complete standstill for some time.

HOT AT SEARCHLIGHT.

Owing to the hot weather prevailing at Searchlight the Boulder Mining company of this city, is attempting no work at present. Next month it expects to undertake more extensive operations.

The Quartette mine is drifting on the eighth level, and the vein has been cut 6 feet west of the shaft, and no change is shown in the character of the ore. The station for the ninth level has been completed, and drifting commenced this week. Sinking to the 1000-foot level is in progress in the shaft. The company expects to develop a large increase of water in the foot wall of the eighth level sufficient to operate the fourth battery of the twenty-stamp mill, which will permit the milling of seventy-five tons a day.

A small sawmill for preparing mine timbers is being installed. The company complains that for some reason it has found it very difficult to get satisfactory mine timber at Los Angeles or San Pedro, and has just ordered 100,000 feet of lumber shipped from the north.

TO DEVELOP CLAIMS.

The Wallace Gold Mining Company, a company of twenty-four claims at Capitol Camp, ten miles north of Dupont and seven southeast of Nelson, announces that it will expend $10,000 in development work, commencing this week. The claims were located ten years ago by W. C. Wallace of San Francisco, and the company has done about 2000 feet of work chiefly for assessment purposes during the several years that it has held the property. It is the intention to sink shafts on the Arcturus and Aldebaron claims, and to replace an old disused Huntington mill with one modern and up-to-date. The mill is on the Colorado river, three miles from the property. The property has a number of large veins that show up very well. The ore

MINES AND MINING.

GOLD FEVER STARTS RUSH.

Funeral Range and Forty-Mile Canyon Draw.

Many Hunting Treasure in Forsaken Place.

Slightest Rumor Stampedes Eager Prospectors.

Reports of a rich strike—details of which are not to hand—have started a rush of prospectors to Forty Mile Canon, lying between thirty and thirty-five miles north and a little west of Johnnie. It is said that there are close forty to sixty men searching for gold in a forsaken place, where but a few weeks ago there was no habitation, and only an occasional prospector of an Indian ever went. The cañon is a small range of mountains lying about due north of Ash Meadows, on the Tramp-Johnnie-Bullfrog route. The distance from Ash Meadows is fifteen miles, and water has to be hauled from there.

In the present state of affairs it requires only the barest rumors of a strike to draw scores of prospectors to the scene from all points within a radius of fifty miles or more. If nothing is found to encourage them the excitement may end quickly, but should the rumors prove to have any foundation whatever in fact, or the ground seem to develop so as to afford the least attraction, the news spreads like wildfire to greater distances, and the mad rush begins. The mill is on the Colorado river, a few miles from the property. The property has a number of large veins that show up very well. The ore is free-milling as far as explored, with much red oxide of iron and carrying values of $11 to $15 a ton.

Chamber of Commerce Tenders Thanks to Members of Committee Who Investigated Owens River.

A resolution of appreciation and thanks "in recognition of their extraordinary service to the community," was adopted at yesterday's regular meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, to be transmitted to H. C. Witmer, Fred A. Hines and M. Lissner, composing the subcommittee, which visited the Owens River Valley, inspected that proposed source of supply, and reported favorably on the project to the joint committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and Municipal League.

The following persons and firms were yesterday elected to membership in the chamber: Arturo Bandini, Alvin F. Chapin, W. A. Ellis, John Hewes, Ingram & Briggs, J. E. Krepps, John M. Larronde, Madary's Supply House, National Mill and Lumber Company, Southern Syrup Company, L. Douglas Sovereign, E. J. Stanton.

The body of Willie Sohleber, the eleven-year-old son of Anton Sohleber, a prominent farmer of Sacramento county, who was drowned in the Sacramento River while driving some stock into the water to drink, has been recovered.

matter, which is the most important that has ever been transacted for this community."

On September 5 the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association gave out the report of its special committee, composed of Joseph Mesmer, C. C. Desmond, Frank Simpson and Byron Ekkenbrecher, whose conclusion was: "That the Owens River Valley project is the only safe and available sources of a permanent, adquate and pure water supply for this city at the present time and for its future." The report indorsed the project "as submitted to the Board of Water Commissioners by the experts."

ANVIL CHORUS OF "EXAMINER."

HAS CONSISTENTLY KNOCKED OWENS RIVER PROJECT.

How the Yellow Yawper Has Attempted to Block the Bond Issue and Encouraged All Sorts of Freaks, Pettifoggers, Speculators and Idiots to Attack the Proposition.

Piqued because it failed to get the first news of the Owens River project, Hearst's yellow newspaper began furtively to oppose the plans of the city as soon as they were made known. It encouraged cranks, disappointed speculators, notoriety seekers and foolish persons to write letters designed to cast discredit upon the engineers; published the letters under such headlines as "The Owens River Project a Swindle;" instigated the preposterous Howton to howl in the Council; attempted vainly to block the bond election by invoking the "referendum," and seized with avidity and published gloatingly all the ignorant, vicious, mischievous scribblings against the project it could lay hands upon.

Up to August 25, the Examiner made feeble protestations of friendliness to the project and the interests of Los Angeles, but on that date it broke loose with an open attack upon the Owens River scheme over the shoulders of citizens guilty of owning land in San Fernando Valley and of being interested in the welfare and growth of the city. Following is a résumé of the Yellow Yowler's "knocks:"

August 25—The Examiner alleges that Messrs. Huntington, Harriman, Earl, Gen. Otis and others are in corrupt combination with Fred Eaton and city officials to advocate the Owens River project in consideration of advance "tips" enabling them to speculate profitably in San Fernando lands; attempts to discredit chemical analyses of water; asserts that "no one can intelligently approximate the cost of the project with the data at hand," and says: "It is well that whatever of graft, directly or indirectly, is concealed in the project be brought to light before the city is too far committed."

August 27—From an Examiner editorial on "The Proposed Water Supply:" "Hardly a day passes but what some facts are disclosed showing the criminal folly of the haste displayed in voting money for the Owens River project in advance of any definite knowledge.

"Mr. Eaton merely used the city's money to acquire an option. He made no investment of his own, and yet is to receive property amounting in all to perhaps a quarter of a million dollars or more.

"This trip [investigation by committee of commercial bodies] will be beneficial to the gentlemen. Beyond this it will be unavailing. The journey will not demonstrate the feasibility of the project, the amount of water available under the options, the purity of the water as to nitrogenous and bacterial ingredients or the probable cost of construction."

August 30—Examiner editorial: "As a matter of fact, there has not yet been made a single survey or calculation which affords a basis for even an approximation of the cost of the project.

"In the matter of the disposal of the water, even if it be found possible to bring it here according to the hastily conceived and unconsidered plan of Mr. Mulholland, dire results will follow if his notion be carried out. . . . As there is no provision for a dam [across the San Fernando Valley] it would mean that, in about a year or so, Los Angeles, with its buildings would be gayly floating down to the sea via San Pedro or Long Beach, and taking with it all the villages on the way.

"We do not believe that any engineer of note will concede that such a project is feasible.

"Was there ever a more visionary project put forth for the consideration of sane business men?"

September 3—Examiner editorial: "In December last the Examiner began its agitation for an adequate supply of water for this city. It was then shown, what experience has since proved to be a fact, that the Water Commission was not the proper body to undertake the work of finding a new water supply and of constructing the reservoirs and aqueduct that would be necessary.

"The Water Board went ahead on its own hook, expended $200,000 of its funds without expert guidance and then attempted to rush through a bond issue of $1,500,000 without discussion and without any definite idea of what they were to obtain or what its ultimate cost would be. The effort is now conceded to have been a failure.

"The results of the investigation, hastily made by the committee of the mercantile organizations, is [sic] necessarily incomplete, and not very satisfying.

"The Water Commissioners have been made to understand that the people of this city will not back them in this matter.

"In the futile effort to railroad through this project, some very erroneous impressions have been conveyed."

September 4—Examiner on the water question:

September 5—Examiner on the water question:

September 6.—Examiner editorial (and only reference to) the water question:

"A sample ballot, of the kind to be used at the election on Thursday, has been issued and with it are so-called "instructions to voters." Most of these "instructions" are worthless, as they have no bearing on the matter of voting on a bond issue. They explain, for instance, how to vote a "split" ticket and refer to party columns on the ballot and other similar adjuncts of a general election. Surely it was someone's business to see that a proper form of instruction was prepared for public use."

[The Examiner, of course, is ignorant of the California election laws, which provide that those same "worthless instructions," and no others, shall be printed on the sample ballot at every election.]

September 8.—Examiner on the water bond election: "In response to the public demand, voiced by the Examiner alone, for an adequate supply of water, the voters of Los Angeles have declared almost unanimously in favor of the Examiner's Great Owens River project. The vote is a complete justification of the position taken by the Examiner since it began its agitation for an adequate water supply, nearly nine months ago. When the Examiner discovered Owens River, at great expense, and showed the city the possibility of the project," etc., ad nauseam.

THE WATER PRIMER.

Elementary Information for Citizens Who Have Not Posted Themselves on the Details of the Owens River Project.

What question will be decided by the vote of Los Angeles today?

It is this: "Shall the City of Los Angeles incur a bonded debt of $1,500,000 for the purpose of acquiring lands, water-rights, rights-of-way and other property, and constructing ditches, canals, tunnels, and other waterworks, necessary to provide said city with a water supply in the Owens River Valley, in the County of Inyo, California?"

How will the money obtained by sale of bonds be used?

In the purchase of land and water rights on which options are held by the city, and in surveying for final location of conduit, and in obtaining data for preparing specifications for the work.

The right to take water from Owens River below Big Pine, and the right to build reservoirs and impound surplus water of Owens River in Long Valley.

How much water will the city control under those rights?

About 20,000 inches, mean flow, below Big Pine.

How has the quantity of water available to the city been determined?

By the observations of engineers in the employ of the United States government, extending over a period of several years.

What is the quality of the water, and how determined?

The water contains, in its worst condition, 40 per cent. less mineral salts than the water now used in the city, as determined by chemical analysis.

How is it proposed to bring the water to Los Angeles?

Through a covered concrete conduit and tunnels, fully protected from evaporation or exposure to contamination throughout the entire length of 209 miles.

Who made the plans for the system and from what data?

General plans were made by Superintendent Mulholland from data obtained by government surveys and from original surveys of the route; these plans being subject to revision, modification and alteration by a board of expert engineers of unquestionable qualification.

What is the estimated cost of the project?

The maximum estimate, considered ample by competent authorities, is $21,500,000 for construction.

From what data have the estimates been made?

Surveys and minute examination of the ground, and careful consideration of all possible difficulties that may be encountered.

How long will it take to complete the work and bring the water to Los Angeles?

Four years from time of breaking ground.

How will the cost of the work be met?

By bond issues, to be passed upon by the voters of Los Angeles hereafter.

How will interest payments on the bonds be provided for?

To be determined by the City Council. Possibly by water revenues.

By a sinking fun derived from surplus water revenues.

What additional burden of taxation will the Owens River project put upon property in Los Angeles?

Increase in valuation will more than offset any increase in taxes. There should be no additional taxation after the water becomes available.

What income will the city derive from the additional water supply?

The sale of surplus water and power will produce enormous revenue, undoubtedly sufficient to meet interest charges and provide sinking fund, not considering indirect benefits which cannot be estimated.

Why does Los Angeles go so far to get water?

Because positively there is none to be had nearer the city. Water development has reached its limit in this watershed, and the supply is being depleted faster than it can be restored by normal precipitation.

What is the present water supply of the city?

About 3000 miner's inches from all sources, some of which are but temporary; or 39,000,000 gallons.

What is the necessity for an additional supply?

Los Angeles, during the recent hot spell, used all the water she had, and has been threatened with shortage several times during the last two years.

What would be the consequences to the city of rejection of the Owens River project?

An end to its progress, and retrogression instead of growth. Or much greater expense in buying water from speculators in Owens Valley rights.

What is the value of water in Owens Valley and in Los Angeles?

It is worth $25 an inch in Owens Valley and at least $2000 an inch in Los Angeles. Value to Los Angeles in the future incalculable.

What will be done with the water rights of Owens Valley if the city fails to secure them?

Private capital is already anxious to secure the rights at advanced prices, and to carry out the project as a profitable enterprise.

What is the necessity for immediate action by the voters of Los Angeles?

It was impossible to obtain extension of time for payments on property necessary to the project. Delay means increased danger of water famine.

Who and what bodies have indorsed the Owens River project?

Everybody who has examined the project; all competent engineers who know what the plans are; the Chamber of Commerce, Municipal League and Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association.

Who and what bodies, public or private, are opposed to the project?

Persons who are ignorant of the true condition of the city's water supply; those who have private interests to serve by defeat of the project; cranks; disappointed schemers; shining lights from Bengal; the Yellow Yawp, and Lowenthal the Impossible.

Does approval of the bond issue of $1,500,000 commit the city to any specific plan of construction, and to the expenditure of $21,500,000?

It does not. It secures to the city property carrying the right to get water from Owens River by any method which may be found best.

What will be the method of procedure after the approval of bonds for preliminary expenses?

Final surveys will be made, plans and specifications prepared and submitted to the highest possible engineering authorities; bids obtained, and the question of providing for the cost of bond issues submitted to the voters of Los Angeles.

What other source of supply has been offered to the city?

None. No objector or kicker has ever suggested a substitute project for obtaining an adequate supply of water.

TIMES' "LINER" ADVERTISERS—IMPORTANT.

Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1896, The Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

Inimitable "Bob" Burdette.

Again readers of The Times may enjoy the quaint humor in the writings of this famous newspaper paragrapher, lecturer and preacher. Mr. Burdette will write one of his inimitable letters for The Times each Sunday during his journey.

WHERE MUST GO TO CAST BALLOT FOR BONDS.

"Progress and Prosperity" is the Slogan Inscribed on the Banners of Those Who Present the Owens River Project for the Franchises of Loyal Angelenos.

This a day for patriots to make their votes felt.

Never has there been a bond proposition before the people fraught with so much good to the city.

Every official and every business man of the city voices the sentiment that to defeat the bonds and thus shut us out from the splendid water supply of Owens River, would be an irretrievable calamity. It is therefore important that every man who desires the continued progress and prosperity of Los Angeles should go to the polls today and cast his vote in favor of the project.

That no one shall be in doubt as to the location of his polling-place the list is here given again this morning

POKER AND PORKER.

Raid on a Place of Bad Repute in San Gabriel Last Night.

A poker game and a blind pig were raided in a store in San Gabriel last night by Constable De la Vergne, Deputy District Attorney Fleming, Deputy Constables Jack Adams and Thomas.

The place is but half a block from the old mission. When the officers went in last night, a poker game was going full blast with five players and ded liquors enough to fill two big was gathered up in the barroom in the house of one of the proprietors.

Two of the men in the house were drunk and wanted to fight. The proprietors, Claravista and Spadra, were placed under arrest. The money on the poker table was captured, but was finally returned to the players.

Put Oil on Troubled Waters Today.

A clear analysis of the case of ninety per cent. of all sickness is caused by impure water—thousands have found the cure in Herron's Eucalytpus remedies. It is worth the busy man's time to learn of this great solvent of poisons. See the exhibit today in Boswell & Noyes' windows, Third and Broadway. There is the cure for a cold or anything that originates from a cold, catarrh, rheumatism, stomach and kidney trouble, diphtheria, pneumonia and many other troubles, full directions on each bottle, 50c. The salve for chapped hands, cuts, sores, etc., but especially for eczema and piles or whenever an ointment can be used.

No more trouble washing your hair for by the use of Heron's Hair Restorer, you stop the ladies' fad—hair washing—and your scalp and hair is kept in perfect condition. All those who wish a perfect complexion should use Cream of Eucalyptus. The specific for ladies' use is a wonder. The cough drops—well, try them and see—they are O. K. Whenever a liniment can be used you will find this superior to all others. A certain cure for constipation is known as Heron's Constipation Cure and Liver Regulator. Try it once and you will say as all who have, it is perfect. The soap—the only fault you will find—is that it lasts too long. Are you troubled with tartar on the teeth? If so, try Diamond Tooth Powder and save dentist bills. All these remedies are for sale at Boswell & Noyes, Third and Broadway; but be sure to ask for Heron's.

REAL ESTATE RECORD.

CROCKERS BUY THE FLATIRON.

Four Hundred Thousand is Said to be Price.

Fronts on Spring and Main, from Eighth to Ninth.

Abbot Kinney Releases It Through R. A. Rowan.

R. A. Rowan more than a month ago put up $2500 for an option on Abbot Kinney's flatiron piece, 108 feet on Eighth street and 400 feet on Main, the same on Spring, or 908 feet of frontage in all. The price of the property was set at $400,000. This would be $1000 a foot, taking the Spring street or Main street frontage. The property is practically unimproved.

Rowan has made good. He went to San Francisco last week to try to sell the property. He undertook the big stunt single-handed. The Crocker trust people had been down to see the piece and, indeed, it was reported sold to them. But the transaction hung fire. Then some dreamer reported that Hearst's Horror had bought the property for a home for the Yaller Dog. The Times set that alarm at rest.

But that is not relevant to Bob Rowan's recent trip to the Bay City. He came home yesterday on the Coast Limited with money up on the deal. He had to see Kinney before the trade went through. It was learned yesterday evening that Kinney had put his pen to a paper which in the end will convey the flatiron to Charles E. Green, one of the trustees of the Crocker estate.

G. H. Umbsen, who acts as confidential agent for the Crocker people, had been here during Rowan's absence. He returned to San Francisco last night. The sale price is either $400,000 or close to that figure.

No one knows what the Crockers propose to do with this valuable property. Perhaps they are not sure themselves. They may hold for a rise. The way property is going up in that part of the city makes $400,000 look not too high a price. For property on Eighth, Main and Spring $1000 a foot, with two fronts, is not excessive, though the broad end of the "iron" is only 108 feet. This is the largest amount yet involved in unimproved property in the city.

YOUNG CONTRACTOR RETURNS.

Ernest C. Hillman, the youngest contractor in the city, is back from Seattle, Portland and other northern places, after an absence of three months. He is only 21 years old, and has been taking contracts for homes for four years. He built J. C. Garvey's residence on West Adams street, a business block for C. G. Kellogg on Grand avenue and Twenty-seventh street, and other structures, the total cost of which was about $250,000.

NEVADA.

AUTOMOBILE A CONQUERER.

IT MAKES TRAVEL EASY OVER NEVADA DESERT.

Telephone Wires Along Company's Private Road, and Portable Instruments Enable Chauffeur to Call for Help in Case of Break Down—Bullfrog's Growth.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.] BULLFROG (Nev.) Sept. 4.—The automobile is conquering the desert. The distance from the original Nevada gold camp of Tonopah, where one hundred millions are blocked out underground, to Goldfield, the newer settlement, is about twenty-seven miles, and from Goldfield to Bullfrog, the latest of the great mining districts that Nevada is now offering to the world, it is sixty-five miles. There is nothing but desolate desert between the points. There are old-fashioned stages of the Deadwood style, made famous by "Buffalo Bill," that traverse these desert distances, but the twentieth century way of traveling is by auto, over roads that have been especially constructed for the traffic.

From Tonopah to Goldfield the fare is $6, and it takes you only a little more than an hour to traverse the distance. Each auto carries from four to seven passengers, and the man who drives the machine over the desert gets $6, or the amount of a single fare for each trip that he makes. From Goldfield to Bullfrog the fare is $25. Most of the Goldfield-Bullfrog trips are made by night, and they take anywhere from six to a dozen hours, according to the ability of the chauffeur and the stability of his machine.

The nights in the desert are usually cold, just as the days are generally hot, and a breakdown for any length of time means discomfort. But these auto men have some marvelous expedients for obtaining relief. Bullfrog and Goldfield have been connected by a telephone line ever since the Bullfrog district was discovered, about a year ago. Sometimes the auto comes to a sudden stop, and you are told that it may be several hours before it is in working order again. The chauffeur reaches under his seat and pulls out a little box, with which he disappears across the desert waste. He is headed for the telephone line, which is near the auto road, and with his tiny field instrument he climbs a pole and in the shortest possible time he has made his wire connections, and is in communication with the home office. There is the loneliness of death all around you, but in that instant you can hear your man talking to the town-folk so many miles away.

If the damage is serious, the company will send out another auto to take you on your way, and these rescuing expeditions are always outfitted with bodily comforts, such as food and water. Each machine is not only provided with a telephone, but always with a fire extinguisher for use in an emergency.

The reward comes when you finally reach the rich and beautiful Bullfrog country, when the sun is just appearing over the eastern mountains. When all other things have been said and done about the communities that have so magically arisen in this dread and overwhelming desert, the palm for picturesque location and for useful environment must be awarded to this latest born of Bullfrog. Nestling, as it does, at the feet of those famous, gold-bearing mountains, Bonanza, Ladd, and Montgomery.

The marvels of a desert town are many, but not all of them have even been exemplified in Bullfrog. When the first prospectors went into the des-

AUTOMOBILES TAKES TRAVEL EASY OVER NEVADA DESERT.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

BULLFROG (Nev.) Sept. 4.—The automobile is conquering the desert. The distance from the original Nevada gold camp of Tonopah, where one hundred millions are blocked out underground, to Goldfield, the newer settlement, is about twenty-seven miles, and from Goldfield to Bullfrog, the latest of the great mining districts that Nevada is now offering to the world, it is sixty-five miles. There is nothing but desolation desert between the points. There are no old-fashioned stages of the Deadwood style, made famous by "Buffalo Bill," that traverse these desert distances, but the twentieth century way of traveling is by auto, over roads that have been especially constructed for the traffic.

From Tonopah to Goldfield the fare is $6, and it takes you only a little more than an hour to traverse the distance. Each auto carries from four to seven passengers, and the man who drives the machine over the desert gives $6, or the amount of a single fare for each trip that he makes. From Goldfield to Bullfrog the fare is $25.

Most of the Goldfield-Bullfrog trips are made by night, and they take anywhere from six to a dozen hours, according to the ability of the chauffeur and the stability of his machine.

The nights in the desert are usually cool, just as the days are generally hot, and a breakdown for any length of time means discomfort. But these auto men have some marvelous expedients for obtaining relief. Bullfrog and Goldfield have been connected by a telephone line ever since the Bullfrog district was discovered, about a year ago. Sometimes the auto comes to a sudden stop, and you are told that it may be several hours before it is in working order again. The chauffeur reaches under his seat and pulls out a little box, with which he disappears across the desert waste. He is headed for the telephone line, which is near the auto road, and with his tiny field instrument he climbs a pole and in the shortest possible time he has made his wire connections, and is in communication with the home office. There is the loneliness of death all around you, but in that instant you can hear your man talking to the town-folk as many miles away.

If the damage is serious, the company will send out another auto to help you on your way, and these rescue expeditions are always outfitted with bodily comforts, such as food and water. Each machine is not only provided with a telephone, but always with a fire extinguisher for use in an emergency.

The reward comes when you finally reach the rich and beautiful Bullfrog country, when the sun is just appearing over the eastern mountains. When other things have been said and done about life communities that have so magically arisen in this dread and unsettling desert, the palm for picturesque location and for useful enjoyment must be awarded to this newest town of Bullfrog, nestling, as it is, at the feet of those famous, gold-bearing mountains, Bonanza, Ladd, and Shoshone.

The beginnings of a desert town are not all of them have even been exemplified in Bullfrog. When the first prospectors went into the desert water was scarce and almost as valuable as gold itself. With the passage of one short year, however, Bullfrog now boasts of a tremendous supply, piped from mountain springs more than fifteen miles away. Where not more than twelve months ago a man inexperienced in desert ways would almost surely have lost his life from thirst; it was only a recent occurrence that a water main, bursting, so flooded the cellar of a leading business establishment that merchandise valued at thousands of dollars was almost completely destroyed.

Bullfrog is just commencing to experience its boom days. Men of fortune, who have been associated with Utah, Colorado, California, and Montana gold-mining successes, have possessed themselves of many likely properties there, and are buying town lots and otherwise showing an inclination to camp on the breastworks. An offer of $3,000,000 for a single property, that could have been purchased for $50,000 four months ago, has just been turned down, and the town is already being labeled the "millionaires' camp." Crowds are pouring into the town of Bullfrog daily, and a city is being built in a night.

RAILROAD RECORD.

WILL CLIP DOWN RUNNING TIME.

SALT LAKE SOON TO PUT ON FASTER TRAIN.

Twenty-six-hour Schedule Will be Established Between Los Angeles and Mormon Capital—Clark Road and Short Line Planning Union Depot.

November 1 is the date on which the Salt Lake expects to inaugurate its new fast through train between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City.

The schedule time will probably be twenty-six hours, subsequently to be cut to twenty-four hours. Close connections will be made with the other lines at Salt Lake, and through standard and tourist sleepers will be carried for Chicago and Denver and Kansas City.

A shipment of heavy steel is on the way for the new connection which the road is making with the tracks of the Oregon Short Line at Salt Lake City, in order to run its trains head on into the Short Line depot instead of backing in, as at present.

This new entry to the Salt Lake City terminal is being constructed to conform with the plans for the new union depot to be erected jointly by the Short Line and the Clark road. All of the grading for the piece of track, which leaves the present main line of the Salt Lake near Buena Vista to run into the Short Line yards, is complete, and the track laying will be finished in a short time.

PEACE AND TRAVEL.

That the railroads have watched the progress of peace negotiations between Japan and Russia with a keen personal interest, is evidenced by the order just placed by the Northwestern for a rush consignment of new equipment for its overland trains to the Coast. This order has been placed in the expectation that the conclusion of peace will greatly increase the volume of travel to and from the Orient. It is announced that this equipment will be the finest yet built, and the local offices are endeavoring to effect an arrangement whereby a portion of the train can be run between San Francisco and Los Angeles as a part of the regular Southern Pacific Owl.

NOTES.

J. W. Phalon, traveling passenger agent of the Great Northern, received a telegram from General Passenger Agent King at Seattle, yesterday, advising that Baron Komura and the Japanese peace envoys would sail aboard the Dakota of the Northern Pacific lines September 20.

H. E. Huntington, General Manager Schindler and Chief Engineer Pillsbury put in the day yesterday at San Pedro looking over the terminal work of the Pacific Electric Railway at that port.

The traffic department of the Pacific Electric Railway, which organized the Los Angeles department of the road, is about to turn this business over to the operating department, which will entrust the work to Miss Dean.

TRAFFIC TO DENVER.

SANTA FE BREAKS RECORD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Sept. 6.—Speaking of the passenger traffic to Denver from August 20 to September 4 on the Santa Fé line, General Passenger Agent Black today said:

"The Santa Fé handled in those six days from points east and south of Newton, 13,783, a daily average of 2297.

"There is only one other time within my memory that the road handled anywhere near as many people during the same time, and that was in 1897, when the Christian Endeavor held its convention in California. At that time, we handled some 14,700 passengers going West and brought back about nine thousand."

During the six days of the rush to Denver, 497 cars were used on forty-two trains. The figures are for trains east of Newton. From that point west, it is safe to say that twenty or twenty-five more cars were used.

GUAYMAS-GAUDALJARA LINE.

CONTRACT FOR EXTENSION SIGN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MAZATLAN (Mex.) Sept. 6.—In connection with the proposed Guaymas-Guadalajara Railroad, Gov. Canedo of Sinaloa has received the following from Vice-President Ramon Corral:

"The contract for the extension of the Sonora Railway into the State of Jalisco has been duly signed and a deposit of $240,000 has been made by the Southern Pacific interests to guarantee the construction of the line from Guaymas to Guadalajara. Work will be started out of Mazatlan north and south at the same time. Four hundred kilometers of track will be built in the first two years, and at least 150 kilometers in each succeeding year until the line is completed."

Western Pacific Increases Capital.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—A certificate has been filed here with the County Clerk by the Western Pacific Railroad Company to the effect that it has increased its capital stock from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000, to be divided into 750,000 shares, at $100 a share. The certificate states that the increase is necessary for the purposes of the corporation.

Mark Twain for Jerome.

I wish to register as a Jerome petitioner, for, although I have never seen him, I believe in him, and am grateful to him for proving that honesty in politics and office is still possible in New York, though not epidemic. Out of respect for him, his morals, and his principles, I mean to vote for him only once on election day, but if I were free from this restraint, I would make it a hundred.—[Mark Twain, in Harper's Weekly.

Shoe Prices

That Will Quickly Put Me Out Of Business

A week ago I made the announcement that I would sacrifice my $46,975.00 stock of shoes for whatever it would bring. The sale has been enormous. Much has been sold to dealers, but more to regular patrons who have traded with me for years. The low prices I made at the start were responsible for the phenomenal success of the sale, but now

CRAFT ASHORE NEAR LAGUNA.

BELIEVED TO HAVE CARRIED SAN PEDRO PARTY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A sailboat tallying very closely with the description of the craft which left San Pedro Sunday afternoon having on board two Los Angeles men and a woman was found at Nigger Cañon near Laguna Beach this afternoon.

The discovery was made by P. B. Stephenson of Riverside, one of the guests at the Laguna Hotel. Nigger Cañon is three miles north of Laguna, toward Newport beach. The discoverer was strolling along the shore when he came upon the derelict. The little craft was a complete wreck. No name could be found on it. Only a small piece of sail was left hanging to the broken mast and everything indicated that it had met with rough usage.

The boat was eighteen or twenty feet in length. Indications point to this boat being the same as the one which left San Pedro Monday with three unknown people aboard. The supposition at Laguna is that the people were drowned at sea, being unable to manage the boat. The craft had evidently blown in from the direction of San Pedro or Long Beach.

Find No Trace at Sea.

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 6.—Although the skippers on all incoming launches and sailing vessels have been questioned, none of them have seen anything of the missing two men and a girl, who left this port Sunday afternoon in a sailboat rented from William Van Trees of East San Pedro. Van Trees has been searching for the party for several days, but can find no trace of them.

There is but little doubt that the ocean has claimed the unknown strangers for its own and that in time the sea will give up the dead. Most likely in the vicinity of Newport and Oceanside or farther south depending upon the caprices of the winds and tides. No one here can give any clew as to the identity of the missing party.

William Van Trees supplements his description of the people as given in today's Times as follows: "One man, stout and heavy, was dressed in a dark blue serge suit. The other man was of light build and wore a light summer suit. The stout man seemed to be the leader of the party and was oldest. The girl, a very light blond, was dressed in light clothes; her shoes were white suede kid and she wore white silk stockings with embroidered insteps. I would judge she was not much over 20 years of age."

The missing people are not residents of San Pedro and it is believed they must have come down to this city from Los Angeles or some interior town.

FLAG GOES UP, CAMP OPENS.

MANY VETERANS QUARTERED AT HUNTINGTON BEACH.

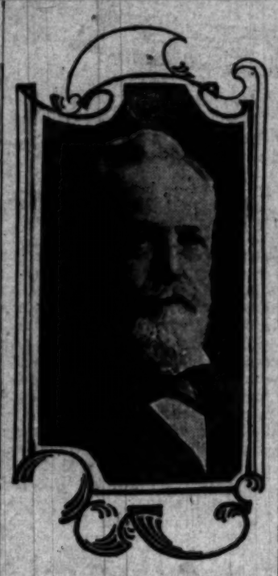
Unexpected Detail for Hon. H. C. Gooding of Los Angeles Develops a Speech That Makes a Hit With the Patriotic Assemblage — Women's Auxiliary Headquarters Active.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 6.—An unexpected detail was given to Hon. H. C. Gooding of Los Angeles this morning as the flag was raised over Camp Gen. D. E. Sickles of the Southern California Veterans' Association. He received the order from Commander A. B. Paul to step out and make a speech, and again charmed his audience with an address that was frequently applauded.

"I learned very early in my army life," said Judge Gooding, "that details come suddenly and are not always welcome. Passing through the streets of the camp this morning I saw the sign of 'Fuller's Brigade,' and it recalled to me immediately a time when I was waked from pleasant slumber to go out on picket duty and informed that the enemy was five or six miles away, and liable to make an attack at any minute. No matter how cold the soldier might be as he threw his blankets from about him, no fires were allowed, and pretty soon the excitement of the occasion made us forget we ever needed warmth.

"This was the night preceding a battle near Parker's corners in West Tennessee, when my regiment was the One Hundred and Twenty-second Illinois. Our brigade was surrounded by Forrest's command, when 'Fuller's Brigade' of Ohio swept down upon the enemy and prevented our capture or annihilation. It was the same 'Fuller's Brigade' to which the comrade in this encampment belonged, as I found upon inquiry.

"What a different details is this that brings me before you today. We little dreamed in our wildest imaginings of nearly a half-century ago that in our later days we would be out here on the far Pacific Coast. It never entered our conception that in this beautiful spot, with the embryo of a city about us, we should pitch our tent in the town of Huntington Beach. But the Lord had many good things in store for us who survived.



HON. H. C. GOODING.
Whose address at Huntington Beach yesterday made a hit with the veterans.

"Here we meet with comrades who, however recent their acquaintance, are like our friends of early days. A common experience makes us comrades, and nobody but an old soldier knows the full meaning of the word—comrade."

The Los Angeles Veteran Drum Corps and the detail of Co. A, Sons of Veterans of Long Beach, were present to take part in the ceremony, which was an impressive one. There was a salute, and a short address by Judge E. T. Langley, and Camp Gen. D. E. Sickles was declared formally opened by Commander A. B. Paul.

Headquarters of the Woman's Auxiliary was crowded in the afternoon, and in the business session the women recounted some of their business experience. Mrs. Mary E. Dunning, the president, has appointed her officers pro tem, as follows: Mrs. Mary Hatsery, Senior Vice-President; Mrs. Nellie Bray of San Diego, Junior Vice-President; Auditing Committee, Mrs. Lizzie Mills, Mrs. Anna Thompson and Mrs. Fannie Hunt. The Secretary pro tem. is Mrs. Lillian Harris.

Pig banks kept by the various relief corps for penny contributions were broken, and there was collected $51.04. The highest individual collection came from Sedgwick Relief Corps of Santa Ana, of whose Penny Club Mrs. Roselba Martin is president. This pig contained a check for $21.75. The fancy goods counter in the auxiliary headquarters also is yielding some returns to the busy women who undertake to help with expenses.

Every car to the beach today has been crowded, and nearly two hundred tents are engaged or taken. There are registered 1067 veterans and 197 members of the Relief Corps, and Commander Paul believes there are over a thousand people on the grounds.

Tomorrow will be spent by a large number of veterans at the Soldiers' Home, the excursion starting from here at 8 o'clock. A programme will be rendered tomorrow evening in the assembly tent under the auspices of Columbia Union, and Lawton Ladies G. A.R. circles.

COUNCIL SHIFTS ON FRANCHISE.

SAN BERNARDINO MAY YET HAVE RIALTO TROLLEY.

Governing Body of the County Seat Municipality Acts Again on the Matter and Decides to Readvertise for Bids for the Privilege Petitioned for by Seth Hartley.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The City Council tonight, by a vote of 3 to 1, voted to readvertise for sale the franchise for the railway between here and Rialto, as petitioned for by Seth Hartley of Colton. The only opposing vote was that of Councilman Wess, who from the first has been against granting a street railway a right to carry freight.

The franchise as passed tonight is so modified as to restrict trains operating under it to four cars each. It prohibits loading or unloading cars on public streets and stipulates that freight cars shall only run between the hours of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m., and directs that the motive power shall be electricity, gasoline or compressed air.

The only address made at the meeting was delivered by Attorney Byron Waters, acting for the hidden interests which are opposing the franchise.

Every step in the proceedings tonight was strenuously opposed by the attorney, who had an objection for each clause in the franchise. It is thought that Waters is not only retained by John A. Cole, but also represents the Santa Fé and San Bernardino Valley Traction Company.

A general belief here is that Hartley is backed by the Southern Pacific and Salt Lake, and that as soon as the franchise is sold, if Hartley secures it, work will be rushed on the road, and gasoline engines will be introduced by the railroads named, and that they will push matters so as to get a share of Rialto's next citrus crop.

PICKLED TROUT IN SOAK.

Mrs. M. Henry was arrested today by State Game Warden H. I. Pritchard of Santa Monica, charged with having in her possession on August 31, trout to the number of 215, contrary to the State law. The complaining witness is a youth named John Storker, who through Gus Knight, Jr., his guardian, he being a minor, recently sued Mrs. Henry for wages alleged to be due for work performed at the Bear Valley Hotel, owned by the woman. Gus Knight is alleged to have instigated the arrest of the woman today. The fish are pickled in salt. She claims that guests at the hotel during the summer, who had caught fish, pickled all they could not use, not desiring to waste them, and she did not know that it was an offense to do that, so long as no one person caught during one day over fifty trout.

Knight's troubles with Mrs. Henry grew out of his seeming desire to obtain title to the Bear Valley Hotel, which Mrs. Henry, his sister-in-law, bought of him several years ago. He recently secured a deed from Charles Henry, her husband, for his interest in the property, and Mrs. Henry is now suing both to quiet their alleged interest in the property.

Henry is the man who recently declared he was successor of Chief of Police Hammel of Los Angeles. The day after this strange demonstration he deeded his alleged interest to Knight.

SUPERVISORS AFTER BUG MEN.

Trouble is in store for the Board of Horticultural Commissioners of this county. The Board of Supervisors is after the bug men with a long, stout stick. While politics shades some of the fight that is coming, it is believed that the Supervisors are actuated mainly by a desire to keep the pest fighters within bounds, when paying out the tax-payers' money.

For months the Supervisors have thought that the expenses of the bug men are way beyond what would be the case, were that department of the public service conducted by a private firm. Time and again the Supervisors have clashed with the commissioners, and the former made a rule that no department of the county government should make a purchase without first having the sanction of the Board of Supervisors.

Recent expenses of the bug men have so aroused the governing body of the county that this morning the board held an executive session and discussed the phases of the trouble. The board concluded the session by passing a resolution commanding every one of the Horticultural Commissioners to present himself before the Supervisors next Monday, when straight talk is expected.

Just where the politics comes in is not quite apparent, though it is known that it involves Horticultural Commissioner Holbrook and another member of the board. For some time there has been an effort made to curtail Holbrook's authority, which in the main has been successful, and the larger part of the territory over which he formerly had jurisdiction has been gradually placed in charge of other hands. Recently an effort was made to entice Holbrook into a conference at the commission rooms, here, but he ignored all notices, and since then the powers working for his overthrow have been more busy than ever.

MYSTERY OF MISSING ONE.

Has Fred Sutton met foul play? That is a question which is just now agitating his Highland friends. He seems to have been missing since Tuesday of last week. On that evening he visited the home of a young woman to whom he is engaged, and left, ostensibly to return home. Since then there is no trace of him. It is said that a former suitor of the girl with whom Sutton has been going, had declared that he would allow no man, but himself to marry the girl, and that Sutton's visits to her home aroused this young man considerably.

TO REGULATE THE SLAUGHTER.

Assistant State Veterinarian W. E. D. Morrison, is here in consultation with the County Supervisors with regard to the framing of two ordinances, the one governing the inspection of cattle in slaughter-houses before and after butchering and the other referring to the inspection of sheep. It is admitted that the surroundings of slaughter-houses could be greatly improved so as to insure more sanitary conditions. The sheep ordinance is to provide for an inspection twice a year of all droves of sheep in the county.

NAMING OF STATISTICIAN.

W. R. Porter, an active figure in Republican politics in this city, is slated for County Statistician, and has probably received his appointment from the County Clerk, as he is busily engaged in the office of that official fabricating himself with his new duties. The position of statistician is one created by the last Legislature, and is for the purpose of collecting all manner of data for the State. The salary is fixed at $75 a month, and the first report must be made by November 1.

BARSTOW CONSTABLE RESIGNS.

T. A. Smithson has succeeded to the position of constable at Barstow, lert vacant by the resignation of John Hansen, a German, who for several years has been constable of that place. Hansen resigned because of the return to the fee system, declaring that he didn't want to rob the county in that way. Yesterday the Supervisors were stunned by receiving a claim from him of $264 for back fees. Hansen was formerly with "Buffalo Bill," when the latter was a western Indian hunter, and fought side by side with Col. Cody in some of his fiercest fights with the redskins.

ART OF EXPRESSION.

Bertha E. Hancock and the Methods She Employs to Make Readers of Her Students.

Miss Bertha Hancock, who has charge of the department of oratory in the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music and Arts, combines the best methods as taught by Anna Morgan, the aim being to develop the pupil's individual talent, rather than to teach by imitation. Before coming to this coast, Miss Hancock lectured before teachers' institutes in the Middle West on the art of expression in public schools. She will probably be heard here in the near future at some of the women's clubs. The numerous recitals in the hall at the conservatory give her pupils a chance to appear in public and put to practical use the ideas they have absorbed under Miss Hancock's instruction.

BUILD ALL-YEAR PLAYHOUSE.

SUCH IS THE PROSPECT FOR RIVERSIDE.

Negotiations, Almost Closed Last Night, Depend on Whether or Not the House Shall Remain Open Fifty-two Weeks Per Annum—Building to be of Magnesite Blocks.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As the result of an interview tonight between David Cochrane, proprietor of Hotel Holyrood, and a representative of the Orpheum vaudeville circuit, Riverside is practically assured of a modern vaudeville theater which will be open to the public every night in the year.

The new building, which Mr. Cochrane will erect opposite his hotel, fronts sixty-six feet on Eighth street and 132 feet on Market street. The location is an ideal one for the purpose for which it is intended. The negotiations for the theater tonight hinge entirely on the question of whether or not the house will remain open for fifty-two weeks each year. Mr. Cochrane is persistent in his demands that there be no lapse in entertainment after the doors are once opened, and it is believed suitable management for such a place of amusement can be secured without difficulty.

A notable feature in the construction of the New Edinborough Block is the fact that magnesite blocks will undoubtedly be used throughout. These blocks are the product of a newly-organized company which has secured the exclusive right to a mine of magnesite, located a short distance from Riverside, being one of only two such mines in the United States.

It is claimed for the magnesite block that it is especially adapted for theater buildings owing to the fact that it is absolutely fireproof. Plans for the Edinborough building will be received here this week, and, in view of the new use to which it is intended to place the building, suitable changes will be made in order to provide room for the projected playhouse. The Edinborough building will be constructed at a cost exceeding $50,000.

Mr. Cochrane said tonight: "It is my desire to give the theatergoing public of Riverside a suitable vaudeville theater, and I shall not hesitate to make certain concessions if pending negotiations can be brought to a satisfactory conclusion."

EXTRA SCHOLARSHIPS.

Lyric School of Music Will Bestow Benefits on Two Who Fail in Scholarship Points.

Miss Luella McCune, principal of the Lyric School of Music, has decided to give two scholarships to contestants who fail to go high enough to win the scholarships already advertised. These scholarships are in addition to the one already offered in the prize list.

Miss Luella McCune has the reputation of a skillful teacher and a student of tireless energy. She has had a postgraduate course in the celebrated Mathews Normal School, and makes a feature of the normal work. Students are privileged to take the full course or any special lessons desired. The branches taught include the pianoforte, organ, vocal, violin, mandolin, guitar, banjo, zither, flute and the composition of music. The "Nava" system is used in the vocal department, which gives the voice that resonant and expanded compass and rich quality that proclaim the artist and charm the audience. Four other students, after a few weeks' study in New York, entered upon successful engagements. In the pianoforte department the two courses, the teachers' classical and the pupils' popular, have proved immensely attractive. The first embraces a thorough study and mastery of Mason's exercises and Mehews' graded studies; the studies of Tausig, Clementi, Cramer, Heller, Czerny, Krause and the most important compositions of Bach, Mendelssohn, Raff, Liszt, Chopin, Weber and the Beethoven greater sonatas. The popular course is made up of the best late compositions and the accompaniments of music and sight reading. Advance entries in the school are now being made.

EARLE B. VALENTINE, VIOLINIST.

Earl Bishop Valentine, who has been in charge of the department of violin, orchestra and stringed instruments for eight years at the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music and Arts offers a scholarship to Times contestants. Mr. Valentine has played in public ever since he was three years old and inherits the gift of directorship from his ancestors on both sides. His great grandfather, Earl Bishop, was one of the original members of the Handel-Haydn Society and was a fine player on the violoncello. Mr. Valentine's first orchestra in this city was at the First Christian Church, and after three years there he received flattering offers from two prominent Sunday-school orchestras and finally accepted charge of that of the First Methodist Church, where he has made a marked success. The orchestral concerts given by Mr. Valentine have included players from all the Methodist churches in the city.

Mr. Valentine originated the Musicians' Exchange, where many prominent musicians have registered and through which they have secured positions. His teaching has been always very successful and his pupils have frequent opportunity of playing in public at his orchestral concerts, which are a feature of the musical events of the season. Mr. Valentine returns this week from an extended trip to Portland and the north, and will open his classes with renewed vigor at the beginning of the school year.

Are cured by us. Every particle of poison thoroughly eradicated from the system. Every patient coming to us consults no one but Dr. Harrison or his associate, both regular physicians. Each and every man coming to us for consultation has his case carefully and understandingly looked into. Every case we treat receives our personal attention.

STRICTURE
This trouble we treat successfully by our improved method, which never fails to bring about a cure. Electricity or electric belts cannot do this trouble any good. When you employ either you throw your money away. Call and let us explain the nature of the trouble and how you can be permanently cured.

"WEAKNESS"
Affections of men commonly described as "weakness," according to our observations are not such, but depend upon reflex disturbances and are almost invariably induced or maintained by appreciable damage to the prostate gland. As this may not be perceived by the patient, it is very frequently overlooked by the physician.

If you come to us we give you a thorough examination and consultation, absolutely free, and faithfully tell you if you can be cured.

MEN
We are Specialists for Varicocele, Hydrocele, Stricture, Piles, Pistula, Blood Diseases, Contracted Disease, Private Diseases, Loss of Vital Power, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

LAST DAY'S VOTE BEATS PREVIOUS RECORDS.

SUBSCRIPTIONS and coupons rained down upon The Times office yesterday, a cloudburst of good will toward scholarship contestants.

Vivian Bassett of Pasadena got up at 5 o'clock in the morning and went to gathering coupons and subscriptions. She raced over nearly every street in Pasadena.

Arthur Carpenter covered country and city prospects and cashed in many promises. His uncle, M. N. Newmark, took off his coat and worked like a Trojan for "the Little Compton Giant," circulating all day and up to midnight among his friends.

Lonnie Gorham kept up the chase for points until 12 o'clock at night. So did Earle Weller.

Carl Ewing kept up the quest for votes until about 10 o'clock, and did remarkably well.

The feats of the last day of the race were in many instances heroic. The young people have had an experience in business which will give them great benefit.

Announcement of the score will be made as soon as the thousands of letters containing votes can be opened and counted.

Notification of the time and place of the awards of scholarships and of the Annual Outing of the contestants will be given in these columns in a day or two.

GREEK FIGHTER, GUILTY PLEA.

DEFENDANT SPRINGS SURPRISE IN PASADENA COURT.

Candy Maker Who Figured in a Sensational Altercation With Deputy Sheriff Admits That He Shot Quail Out of Season—Preparing to Fete Tennis Champion.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 28 South Raymond Ave., Sept. 7.—Gus Legakes, the Greek candy maker who figured in a sensational arroyo altercation with Deputy Sheriff Sam Wallis last month, surprised counsel for both sides, the court and the complaining witness late yesterday afternoon by appearing before Justice Congdon and pleading guilty to shooting quail out of season.

It had been expected that the defendant would fight the case on constitutional grounds, or at least seek to postpone it until his trial on another complaint charging assault upon Wallis is settled. The latter case is now pending in the Superior Court and it is said that his action in acknowledging guilt of one offense may militate against him when the second case comes to trial.

The altercation occurred on the 5th of August last, and Deputy Sheriff Wallis sustained a fractured arm as a result of the encounter. Wallis has incidentally brought suit against the Grecian for $5,000 damages because of the injuries he received, and this case is now pending in the Superior Court also.

WILL FETE CHAMPION.

Representative of this city's appreciation is what the Board of Trade hopes to make the reception to Miss Sky Sutton, the champion of the tennis world, arrangements for which were made at a meeting of the directors yesterday.

Owing to the illness of D. M. Linnard, the original plans to hold the reception at Hotel Maryland have been altered and it will be given instead at the Casa Grande, on the 13th inst. A committee of prominent business men, who will have executive charge of the details of the affair, consists of Dr. W. Edward Hibbard, chairman; E. J. Pyle, R. L. Rogers, H. R. Hertel and John E. Jardine. It is the wish of those in charge that the affair be made as cosmopolitan as possible, and the public generally will be invited to participate and swell the ovation to the "little champion."

Incidentally, a public subscription is being arranged for the purchase of a handsome and costly trophy that will suitably show her home city's welcome.

Miss Sutton is expected to arrive home about the 12th inst., after defending her title to the State championship on the San Rafael courts.

IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

Fred Tyng, the adopted son of Dr. Anita Tyng, who has given the police no end of trouble in the past, is again in limbo. This time Fred is accused of having stolen 65 cents worth of gunny sacks, and incidentally with having enticed 14-year-old Willie Stallsmith to run away from home and play hobo. Young Stallsmith is the son of W. M. Stallsmith, proprietor of the Los Angeles House at the corner of Delacy and Colorado streets, and has been selling papers on the streets.

The case of Tyng has been a problem to the authorities for several years. It seems that while Fred is not at heart a bad boy, he just can't help getting into trouble every now and then. Each time he is duly penitent and promises to make amends, and recently he was inducted to join one of the local church organizations, but with unsatisfactory results. The last time he was in jail it was for a burglary to which he confessed having committed in East Los Angeles.

His foster mother, Dr. Tyng, is absent from the city. Judge Congdon deemed it best to send the boy back to the County Jail for fifteen days.

WOO SIERRA MADRE.

Directors of the Pasadena Merchants' Association are preparing to petition the Pacific Electric Railway for a special low fare between this city and Sierra Madre as soon as the new line to the foothill suburb is opened. It is expected the line will be completed and in operation within a short time and it will open up a valuable trade territory for both Los Angeles and Pasadena merchants. As a special inducement for shopping in Pasadena an extended time limit on through transfers will be asked so that a passenger may stop en route to or from Los Angeles without further charge. Both of these propositions will be submitted to the railway people as soon as the special committees in charge are ready to report.

SUFFERS BROKEN BACK.

Charles Cole, the Pasadena painter who broke his back by slipping on a cherry seed while walking along East Colorado street a few weeks ago, is again in the County Hospital, suffering a relapse of his old trouble as a result, it is alleged, of a drunken spree in Los Angeles. Upon one of two previous occasions physicians have had to remove a section of the man's backbone, which was broken as the result of the fall. After delicate attention, the victim was released with the warning that he had better not indulge in any great strain, but it seems the passion for strong drink again got the better of him, and his injured spine suffered in consequence. He was found on New High street in an intoxicated condition, and upon examination it was discovered that the old wounds were again in a bad way.

EXODUS TO TAHOE.

During the next month the Pasadena contingent at Lake Tahoe will be large, and made up of society folk of this place. Today Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Fugh, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Woodworth, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vedder and Mr. and Mrs. Mac D. Snowball leave for the mountain resort, and Friday they will be joined by Miss E. Y. Greer and Miss Frances Shoemaker.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Funeral services over the body of Silas Ott, who killed himself in a fit of despondency, after participating in a party given for his fourteen-year-old daughter, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the undertaking parlors of Ives & Warren on West Colorado street. The body will be shipped to Ossa, Mich., for interment.

Mrs. J. S. Mills is down from Placer county, where her husband is interested in mining properties adjoining the famous Dairy Farm mine, which was recently sold to the Guggenheim syndicate. While here Mrs. Mills will look after their various properties, and then at their home place, No. 265 West Colorado street.

Prompt capture of a fugitive from justice was made at Arcadia town yesterday, when Constable Frank S. Ward of San Bernardino arrested Harry B. Ward, namesake, but not kin, who is wanted at Redlands for having stolen a woman's purse. The prisoner is the young man who was given such a severe beating at the hands of an infuriated young woman in Redlands with a whip a few days ago. Constable Ward left for Redlands with his namesake quarry last evening.

George Hale, the coachman arrested for alleged cruelty to one of the thoroughbred horses in his care, changed his mind yesterday and decided to enter a plea of guilty as charged. Justice Klamroth assessed a fine of $10, which Hale paid.

Members of the public library board held a meeting yesterday afternoon and considered the petition for a branch library to be located in North Pasadena. Lack of funds deters the project, but the board hopes in the near future to find a way out.

As an echo of a famous Missouri legal tangle comes Attorney I. N. Watson from Kansas City to take the deposition of E. E. Gray, a former Kansas City Star reporter now a resident of Pasadena. The case involves a libel suits against that paper brought by G. K. Palmer, a wealthy horse owner, for $50,000.

Creditors are bemoaning the sudden and unexpected absence of J. W. Smith, who, until last Sunday, conducted a meat market at the corner of Congress street and South Fair Oaks avenue. It is alleged that he left town between two suns, leaving a number of debts and taking with him all of the available stock that he could cart away in a wagon.

LONG BEACH.

JOINERS TO TRY AGAIN.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 6.—Not discouraged by recent defeats at the polls in their efforts to become a part of Long Beach, a part of the Alamitos residents are again seeking admission through annexation.

Petitions are circulated today in Long Beach for signatures asking the City Trustees to call an election for the purpose of voting on the annexation of a strip running from the eastern city limits, between Appleton and Bishop streets, and running east to Junipero to its intersection with Railroad street, thence east to Paloma avenue, thence south three miles into the ocean, thence west to the southwest city limits, and north to the place of beginning. This territory comprises the thickly settled district of Alamitos, where the residents are desiring police and fire protection and lighting conveniences. A close poll taken shows a substantial majority in favor of annexation and the trustees will be asked to order the election at their next meeting.

CHRISTIANS EXTEND CALL.

Since the promotion of Rev. Frank K. Lewis to be general secretary of the Christian Board of Missions, the First Christian Church has been without a pastor, the pulpit being temporarily supplied by Rev. Kellar. The trustees have extended a call to Rev. E. W. Thornton of Waynesburg, Pa., who has accepted and will begin his labors November 1. The new pastor is a graduate of the University of Kentucky, and has been engaged in pastoral work for fifteen years in Mayfield, Ky., Kansas City, Mo., and Waynesburg, Pa.

HOTEL PRACTICALLY ASSURED.

The certainty of the proposed big tourist hotel on the beach at the foot of Magnolia avenue, became assured this morning, when Jotham Bixby doubled his subscription of $10,000, on condition that the remaining $7000 be secured within the next twenty-four hours. With this incentive the canvassing committee redoubled its efforts and this evening lack but $2250 of the required $100,000 of stock subscriptions, with assurances that the balance will be covered before the time limit expires.

The subscribing of this $100,000 in stock is required to guarantee the sale of the $200,000 bond issue and the hotel company are jubilant tonight over the result, which assures the erection of a big hostelry for which Long Beach has been striving during the past two years.

Considerable interest is being taken in the name of the new hotel, the company offering a cash prize for the best selection. In consequence, Secretary Barndollar has been deluged with suggestions, sensible, quaint, fancy and ridiculous. Among those which find most favor are Hotel Bixby, El Cenitos, Hotel Willmore, Fremont and Dew Drop Inn, the last perhaps with special reference to the proximity of the hotel to the ocean's brink, which will be almost at the front door. No selection has as yet been made.

FIRST PAYMENT—BIG TRACT.

The first installment on the purchase by Dana Burks and associates of 700 acres in Seaside Park and the Riverside tract, became due today, and was paid. For the past week the North American Dredging Company has been making soundings along the old San Gabriel slough, running through the tract, and has found that a depth of thirty feet can be easily reached by the use of hydraulic dredges. The plans of the purchasers contemplate an expenditure of half a million dollars in improvements.

SEASHORE JOTTINGS.

The tools and clothes of LeRoy Andrews, the self-confessed firebug, who burned the Casa Palma several weeks ago, have been shipped to his grandmother at Great Barrington, Mass.

The City Trustees this afternoon appointed J. C. Cooley a policeman, whose duties will be to enforce law and order at West Long Beach, formerly Terminal Island and San Pedro.

Mrs. J. N. Mason, living on East Seventh street, fell last evening and sustained a fracture of the left arm.

Henry Stovall, aged 14, armed with a light bamboo rod and reel, hooked a seventeen-pound yellowtail off the pier this morning and playing him like a veteran, finally landed his prize. Young Stovall is a grandson of Thomas Stovall, a well known sportsman and crack duck hunter.

The increase of the public library has necessitated additional assistance and Miss Laura Cadmus has been installed as day librarian.

The boy choir of St. Luke's Church, under the care of Choirmaster Crawford of Hollywood, went to Portuguese Bend in the launch Leonie today, for an outing.

Extensive alterations are being made in the Salt Lake Depot, the ladies' waiting room being cut down to enlarge the ticket office and baggage rooms.

DOWNEY.

HIGH SCHOOL PLANS ADOPTED.

DOWNEY, Sept. 6.—Plans for the new High School building, as prepared by Architect A. C. Smith of Los Angeles, have been adopted by the trustees of the Downey Union High School. The structure complete with furnishings is to cost $20,000.

The building site is located in a four-acre plot on the southwest corner of First and Church streets. It will have a frontage of 100 feet and will be 84 feet in depth. It will be two stories in height with a large basement containing a commodious gymnasium, bicycle rooms and other accessories. There will be a warm and cold air blower. It will also be wired for electricity and piped for gas.

The first floor will contain a large auditorium, 40x40 feet, with stage and dressing-rooms. False walls of recitation rooms adjoining the assembly hall make it possible to increase the seating capacity, giving sufficient space for 500.

The principal's and teachers' rooms are provided for on the first floor and three large recitation rooms. The second floor will contain the science department, consisting of a chemical laboratory, physics laboratory and a lecture room with raised floor. A commercial department is also provided for.

Bids will be received as soon as possible and the work will be rushed so the building may be ready for occupancy in the spring term.

FAST ON REEF ON SAN MIGUEL.

SCHOONER COLEMAN STRIKES A ROCKY SHORE.

After Running by Dead Reckoning Through a Thick Fog for Thirty-six Hours She Crashes on Stony Projection—Lumber Cargo, Destined for San Diego Keeps Her Afloat.

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 6—The schooner J. M. Coleman, Capt. Charles Peterson, out ten days from Everett for San Diego with 600,000 feet of lumber, lies piled up on the treacherous rocks and reefs of San Miguel Island, forty-five miles west of Santa Barbara and ninety-five miles northwest of this port.

San Miguel is the most northerly of the Santa Barbara group of channel islands. The Coleman is heavily water logged and it is doubtful if she can be again floated. News of the disaster was brought to this port this morning by Frank Patterson, first-officer of the unfortunate vessel. In company with four sailors of the crew, he left the schooner yesterday morning in one of the boats to row to Santa Barbara to notify the owners in San Francisco and to arrange for a tug to go to the assistance of the Coleman.

On the way across the channel he hailed the steamer Magdalay, Capt. Adler, bound from Crescent City to San Diego and that vessel brought him to San Pedro.

Capt. Peterson and five others of the crew are on San Miguel Island and all escaped serious injury.

Mate Patterson gives the following version of the disaster: "About 10 o'clock Sunday night while sailing before the wind, at about nine miles an hour, in one of the thickest fogs I ever experienced, we suddenly struck a rocky reef on the southwesterly shore of San Miguel Island. Before the accident we had not seen the sun for thirty-six hours, so thick was the weather, and had to sail bydead reckoning. After striking, the Coleman ground and pounded her way over the first reef, sinking down into deeper water between where she first struck and another reef, farther inshore.

"She is certainly very badly damaged and I doubt whether she can be saved. The lumber cargo can probably be taken off. She is in no immediate danger, as the prevailing west wind will not damage her and there is but little fear of the wind shifting to the southwest at this season of the year. After striking she filled rapidly. She is only kept afloat by her lumber cargo. As soon as I hear from the owners I will take a tug and go to her assistance and see what can be done."

The J. M. Coleman is owned by the Hooper brothers of San Fansico, among the largest shippers on this coast. They compose the Pacific Lumber Company and are the largest stockholders in the San Pedro Lumber Company, and Southern California Lumber Company at this port. The Coleman is valued at about $20,000 and her cargo is worth about $10,000. She was built at Fort Blakeley, Wash., in 1883. Her gross tonnage is 463 tons. She is 157 feet long, 37.1 feet beam and has a depth of hold of 11.3 feet. She carries a crew of 10 men.

Capt. Charles Peterson, master of the J. M. Coleman, is a resident of San Pedro, and is well known and popular at this port. His wife and child reside on tenth street in this city.

The tug Seawitch, Capt. Johnson, will leave for the scene of the accident tonight.

San Miguel Island has long been a menace to mariners, and the establishment of a lighthouse on its rocky shores has long been advocated by mariners, engaged in the coast-wise trade. It is farthest north of the channel group and is the point for which all vessels steer when starting out from Sound and other northern ports for Southern California. Now that San Miguel has at last claimed its first victim, it is thought that the government will take the necessary steps for the protection of the fast increasing coast-wise trade.

Chehalis on the Way.

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The steamer Chehalis is on the way from San Francisco to the rescue of the schooner J. M. Coleman, aground on San Miguel Island. The Chehalis carries officers of the J. A. Hooper Company, which owns the vessel.

Capt. Tibbetts, one of the sailing managers of the company, is coming down by train and was expected in the city tonight. He will make arrangements to take out assistance from this city, and has wired to the Santa Barbara Lumber Company to charter a boat to take him out to the wreck. Capt. Morris's Vishnu has been secured to make the trip. She will sail early tomorrow morning with the officer of the boat, who was taken south to San Pedro, Capt. Tibbetts and others.

POMONA.

HIGH SCHOOL CHANGES.

POMONA, Sept. 6.—The Board of Education has chosen Miss Lillian Lewis, a graduate of Chicago University and five years principal of a High School in Iowa, to teach in the seventh grade in place of Miss Grace Johnson, resigned. Miss Emma Kerr, late of the Watsonville schools, has been elected to fill the vacancy in the sixth grade caused by the resignation of Miss Myrtle Collins, who will teach in Kansas. On account of the increase in attendance in the commercial department of the High School, the board last night authorized the purchase of two new typewriting machines. This will make six in use by the department. The schools will reopen here on September 18, all the buildings having been thoroughly renovated.

POMONA BRIEFS.

Mrs. J. C. Brown and son of Los Angeles, are visiting J. E. E. Nichols at Floral Park.

John Brownell and wife have gone to Long Beach.

Mrs. George W. Forester left for Ocean Park today to spend a month there.

Mrs. Martha Bray and niece, Louise Merrill have returned from a vacation trip to Catalina.

WHITTIER.

WED IN EAST END.

WHITTIER, Sept. 6.—Perry Mothershead and Miss Elma Lambert were married Tuesday evening at the home of Rev. G. M. Lambert, a retired minister, in East Whittier. G. E. Sutton was best man, and Miss Lula Mothershead was bridesmaid. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. L. Parks, pastor of the First United Brethren Church of Los Angeles. A feast followed the nuptials. Mr. and Mrs. Mothershead will make their home in Whittier.

BELL.

TENNIS CLUB.

BELL, Sept. 6.—A number of the young people of Bell have been organized into a tennis club, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bell having placed their private courts at their disposal. The work of turning out future tennis champions is to begin at once, a tournament being scheduled for Admission Day.

HUNTINGTON PARK.

BAPTIST PICNIC.

HUNTINGTON PARK, Sept. 6.—The Baptist Sunday-school held a basket picnic in the eucalyptus grove yesterday, preceded by a hay ride through Fruitland and Bell. About forty children and friends were present. P. E. Offord, superintendent of the school, had charge of the arrangements.

Girl Toilers

Gain Strength for Work

In office and factory, shop, store or kitchen girls are at work all over this land, and, alas! far beyond their strength. Young women who work are especially liable to female ills. Too often the girl is the bread winner of the family and she must toil unremittingly, no matter if her back does ache, her limbs and abdomen throb with dull pain and dragging sensations, and dizzy spells make her utterly unfit for work. These are the sure signs of female irregularities which kill beauty and youth.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

builds health and strength for all women who work and are weary. It creates the vitality that makes work easy. From the thousands of grateful letters written by working girls to Mrs. Pinkham we quote the following:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell you the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier have done for me. Before I took them I was very nervous, had dull headaches, pains in back, and monthlies were irregular. I had been to several doctors and they did me no good.

Your medicine has made me well and strong, I can do most any kind of work without complaint, and my periods are all right.

I am in better health than I ever was, and I know it is all due to your remedies. I recommend your advice and medicine to all who suffer.

MISS ABBY F. BARROWS, Nelsonville, Athens Co., Ohio.

Oh, if American girls who work would only realize that they have but one life to live, and make the most of their precious health and strength!

Mrs. Pinkham extends to every working girl who is in ill health a cordial invitation to write her for advice. Such letters are always kept strictly confidential, and from her vast experience Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help you—and may save your life.

The feature on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday was the keen bidding of one broker for Newport Bay Investment Co. He began at 200, and when there was no response he bid 200, then 500, and finally 750, which he announced was his limit. But evidently none of the other brokers had any of the stock, for there was no offer and the name of the security seemed something of a surprise. The property is located near that of H. E. Huntington at Newport.

Bidding was widely distributed, but the telephone securities were given most attention, and most of them advanced in a strong market. The oil stocks were again fairly active, but trading was confined to only two of them.

A strong bear movement failed to depress the market on Associated, 3000 shares being sold at 59½, at which the stock closed. Mexican Petroleum created a good deal of interest, and 1000 shares were sold at 77, closing at 76. Union lost 1½, and Western Union dropped to 90.

The only bank security which changed its level was Home Savings, which gained a point.

Associated Oil bonds gained ½, but there was a rumor on the street that the company intended withdrawing the present issue and getting out a new issue of bonds, which, however, lacked confirmation, and in one quarter of a rumor was denied. San Diego Home Telephones were forced up ½ under active bidding, and one bond was sold at 89½. Santa Barbara Electric Railways gained 1½.

Conservative Life gained 2 points, closing at 200, without offerings, and Santa Monica Telephone gained a point, 30 shares selling at 67, while San Diego Home Telephone made a fractional decline, 10 shares selling at 31¼. United States Long Distance Telephone lost a point in the bid price but suffered 3 in the bidders' terms.

COTTON DECLINES. The condition of cotton during the month of August declined 1 points, being 72.4, against 73.4 the previous month. This condition compares with 77.4 for the corresponding period last year, 78.5 in 1902, 72 in 1902, and 70.2 in 1901. Deterioration is shown in all States except Arkansas, Tennessee, and Oklahoma Territory, where condition gained respectively 4.6 points, 2 points and 9.6 points. In the important producing States deterioration is shown as follows: Texas 3.3, Georgia 8, South Carolina 5.5, Alabama 5.8, North Carolina 4.7, Mississippi 2.4, and Louisiana 1.—[New York Journal of Commerce.

AUGUST FAILURES. Commercial failures in the United States during the month of August, according to statistics compiled by Dun's Review from reports from branch offices of R. G. Dun & Co., were only 831 in number, and $6,140,346 in amount of defaulted indebtedness. These figures compare with 909 bankruptcies involving liabilities of $10,491,498 in the same month last year, and losses were still heavier in August, 1903. Manufacturing defaults numbered 267, against 198, while liabilities were $3,361,694, compared with $3,650,570 in 1904. Trading failures were 423 in number and $2,287,546 in amount, against 632 defaults with an aggregate indebtedness of $3,778,463 last year. The largest decrease in liabilities occurred in the third division, comprising brokerage, real estate and similar concerns, where 21 failures for $321,296, compared with 39 for $1,732,440 last year. Four large disasters in real estate, stock and cotton brokerage concerns in the corresponding month of 1904 account for most of the difference in this comparison. In banking and other fiduciary undertakings there were five suspensions involving $611,581, against five for $262,000 last year.

Local Citrus Movements.

The shipments of citrus fruits Tuesday were 3 carloads of oranges and 15 carloads of lemons; grand total, 28,622 of which 2930 were lemons.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The feature in the produce market for deciduous fruits yesterday was in peaches and plums. The fruit came in mostly by express and was in good condition, but the receipts were far in excess of demands. Peaches were jobbing at 75 to 90 for strictly fancy, and grapes 70 to 80 cents for Muscats, while black varieties, including wine grapes and Concords, were selling at 50 to 75 cents. Tokays, however, were scarce and brought from 1.00 to 1.50. Plums were in fairly good demand at 75 cents for Kelseys, 1.10 to 1.25 for ex-storage Satsumas, and 35 cents for German prunes.

The first shipment of the season of strawberry guavas arrived from Burnett, and stocks were jobbing at 4 cents a box.

Crabapples met a fairly good buying interest at 75 cents, but there were practically no changes in the other vegetables.

The receipts of Tropico strawberries were 600 trays, and the market weakened under oversupply, stocks jobbing at 5 cents, while Monetas were steady at 4 to 5 cents.

Watermelons and cantaloupes were in abundance and weak, the former jobbing at 25 to 50 and the latter 75 to 1.00 for large crates.

The vegetable market was quiet and practically unchanged. Tomatoes were in heavy supply and jobbing at 15 to 25 cents, but cabbage was scarce and met a good demand at 1.50 to 2.00 cents. Lettuce was of the light receipt and jobbing at 15 to 20 cents a dozen.

Local ranch eggs were 20 cents flat, and firm. The arrivals are now of light grade, inadequate to meet an increasing demand. Eastern eggs are also in good demand and jobbing at 25 to 27 cents.

Hens and broilers are scarce in the poultry market, but no change was made in price. Following are the jobbing prices in the Los Angeles market:
